Federal Spending Will Rise Over $100 Billion With Deficit Expected

Fiscal Year Budget Sets New Record

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The federal government will spend well over $100 billion for the first time in history during the present fiscal year.

Administration officials disclosed for the first time Saturday night expenditures now are estimated at between $105 billion and $107 billion and income at more than $96.5 billion.

DEFICIT INDICATED

This would indicate a deficit of $8.5 billion to $10.5 billion, but sources close to President Johnson expect it to be smaller than that, perhaps $7 billion to $8 billion. Their explanation is that the revenue estimate is on the conservative side.

The previous spending record was set in fiscal 1945 when $98.3 billion was paid out at the climax of World War II. Receipts, however, were only $44.3 billion that year so the deficit was approximately $54 billion.

The higher estimate on receipts results from a recent spurt in tax collections which is expected to continue during the remainder of fiscal 1966, which ends June 30.

The new figures, all described as rough, were made known to newsmen following a conference on the LBJ Ranch Friday between Johnson and Budget Director Charles Schultze.

It was reported to newsmen that Johnson will take a less active role in the budget-making process than last year, shifting the principal burden to Cabinet members and agency heads.

Through Schultze, they are being told the primary responsibility for trimming their own budgets rests with them, not the president.

Schultze is telling these officials Johnson expects them to work with the budget director in eliminating every unnecessary item and to work out a priority system of essential, less essential and not essential.

The new spending estimate of $105 billion to $107 billion compares with the January estimate of $99.7 billion. The new income estimate of a $96.5 billion compares with $94.4 billion.

Suspension Of Bombing Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is holding open the possibility of a new suspension in the bombing of North Viet Nam if it is ever persuaded that such a move would help get Vietnamese peace talks under way.

But at the moment administration officials say they see none whatever in what they consider rigid North Vietnamese terms for talks and the expectation here is that the war will be intensified over the next few months.

MILITARY INCREASE

Both sides, in fact, are increasing their military commitment. The United States is building to 200,000 men as a present goal and authorities talk about an expansion beyond that to 225,000 or more. They also report that North Viet Nam's infiltration of troops to the South is increasing and that as many as four North Vietnamese divisions may be thrown into the fight by early next year.

Nevertheless, peace probes are continuing — despite Secretary of State Dean Rusk's refusal at a news conference Friday to discuss current diplomatic activity. And in these contacts between United States and Communist leaders, the talk of continuing or suspending the bombing of North Viet Nam holds an important place.

Most recently, it is understood, the issue of continuing the bombing was raised by the Soviets when Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield visited Moscow 10 days ago. With four colleagues, Mansfield is on a world tour with President Johnson's evident blessings.

On his Moscow stop Mansfield is understood to have urged Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to use their influence to bring about negotiations that would halt the fighting in Southeast Asia and lead to a permanent settlement. The United States, it was made clear, aims at a settlement which would preserve the independence of South Viet Nam.

The Soviet's main response was to protest against the air strikes on North Viet Nam. Soviet and other Communist diplomats here have repeatedly told U.S. officials that this country should stop the bombing in order to create a more favorable atmosphere for peace moves.

Administration policymakers do not believe a bombing pause now would do any good. Rusk said Friday that North Viet Nam appears to be hardening its position against peace talks.

In his view the Vietnamese Reds still believe they can win in the South, still think the United States will tire of the war, and are still therefore unwilling to consider negotiations or move acceptable to the United States and South Viet Nam.

Viet Cong Report Two Servicemen Released

SAIGON (UPI) — The Communist Viet Cong clandestine radio announced Saturday night that two American sergeants held prisoner for two years had been released. But an American spokesman said early today there was no report of the men being turned over to American or Allied forces.

The broadcast identified the two as Sgts. George E. Smith and Claude E. McClure, two of the more than 50 American servicemen in Communist hands in North and South Viet Nam.

FOURTH EXECUTED

According to American records, Smith is from Chester W. Va., and McClure from Chattanooga Tenn.

Smith and McClure were among four Special Forces men captured on Nov. 24, 1963 when the Communists overran the Hiep Hoa Special Forces camp, 27 miles northeast of Saigon.

One of the other two was Sgt. Isaac Comacho of El Paso, Tex., who in August became the first American to escape from Red captors.

The fourth man, Sgt. Kenneth Roraback, also of Chester, W.Va., was executed on Sept. 26 in revenge for the firing squad deaths of Communist agitators.

U.S. Air Force jets Saturday inflicted heavy damage with 3,000-pound bombs on a missile support base only 22 miles from Hanoi.

On the ground, several Americans were reported killed in furious fighting at a rubber plantation 40 miles from Saigon. About 2,000 Communists troops engaged about the same number of South Vietnamese and U.S. advisers in the battle at the Michelin rubber plantation north northwest of Saigon.

The fighting began Saturday when elements of a regular Vietnamese army regiment were attacked by a Viet Cong regiment. The fighting was described as intense for more than three hours.

At first, a military spokesman said that American advisers with the government troops suffered only light casualties. But later reports indicated higher casualties were expected.

Rita McClure was advised at her home in Chattanooga of the report of her husband's release. She said quietly: "Oh, my God! I hope it's true! I hope it's true."

Smith's mother, Mrs. Potts, learned at her home in Chester of her son's reported release and she said: "I just thank God and hope it's true!

Civic Singers

Even the nicest-sounding choirs need drilling exercises, and the new Monroe Civic Singers, directed by Dennis Cooke, are no exception. The choir members will meet in a special rehearsal Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Neville High School Choral Room in order to prepare for their first Christmas concert of the season.

The singing group, sponsored by the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, made their local debut in a special concert here Oct. 4, and drew praise for both their nice sounds and their civic mindedness. President of the group is Thomas Brakefield and Mrs. Frances Cooke is accompanist. Watch for the announcements of their Christmas programs—we think you'll agree that 30 of Monroe's finest trained voices make up the chorus.

Wreck Near Here Kills Texas Man

A 51-year-old Houston, Tex. man was killed Saturday when his car struck another head on on U.S. Hwy. 165 9.4 miles south of Monroe minutes after 1 p.m.

The man was identified as Ralph E. Close. He was the sole occupant of his auto.

Driver of the other auto, Joe M. Corley, 45, of Grayson, and a passenger, Jerry Quaid, 17, of Columbia, were seriously injured in the crash and admitted to St. Francis Hospital here.

According to state police, Close was heading north when he swerved off the road and then back into the path of the oncoming Corley auto.

Gale Winds Lash Out At Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gale winds on the tail of a major storm lashed the Northeast Saturday after dumping heavy snow near the north-central border and loosing tornadoes in the Midwest.

The airport at Buffalo, N.Y., was raked with gusts up to 59 m.p.h., and power failures hit South Buffalo and Lackawanna as well as other portions of the state.

Forty and 50-mile winds in the Watertown, N.Y., area tipped over a house trailer, and felled trees and limbs, snapping utility lines. The winds also helped to free the 7,000-ton British tanker Halsworthy Beacon which had been aground since Tuesday in the St. Lawrence Waterway.

ARCTIC PICTURE

The storm, 1,000 miles in diameter, was centered in eastern Canada, moving northeast.

It left an Arctic picture in northern Minnesota and upper Michigan where heavy snow drifted, and snuffed out lights and power in a number of communities as ice-coated utility lines parted. One-day snowfall ranged up to one and one half feet.

There were 27 inches of snow on the ground at Hibbing, Minn., and more than two feet covered much of northeastern Minnesota. The storm brought 16.2 inches of snow to Superior, Wis.

Icy wind, that dropped the mercury to 17 below at Havre, Mont., plunged south into the Midwest and lower Mississippi valley, dropping temperatures as much as 50 degrees and chruning tornadoes in Illinois, Indiana, Arkansas and Missouri Friday night.

The racing air streams pushed freezing temperatures into the South and raked much of the Midwest with damaging winds. One woman was killed in Kentucky when her trailer was overturned.

In Chicago, the winds tore a scaffold loose 35 stories above Lake Shore Drive, and police rerouted traffic while workmen labored to pin the structure back in place on a new apartment building.

The tornadoes Friday missed population concentrations. They occurred along a squall line which developed as wintry winds chased 60 and 70-degree weather and ushered in much colder climate. Temperature extremes for 24 hours at Oklahoma City and Fort Worth were 47 degrees.

As the cold front moved southeast, there was rain in the Appalachians and in some East and Northeast sections.

Guerrillas Hit Outpost: Kill Captives

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas reinforced by North Vietnamese regulars slashed into a government regiment in vicious fighting northwest of Saigon Saturday and machine gunned South Vietnamese soldiers who surrendered, a U.S. adviser reported.

Four Viet Cong battalions — 1,200 to 2,000 men — mauled the South Vietnamese regiment that had entered an abandoned rubber plantation in a thunderous upsurge of the ground war after a two-day lull. U.S. planes blasted the Red position in the action 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Viet Cong broke contact late Saturday and there were reports they had withdrawn from the plantation.

A U.S. adviser said that during the battle the Viet Cong called on South Vietnamese units being overrun to surrender. Many soldiers did, he said, and the Communists herded them together and then mowed them down with machine guns.

Two of four government battalions of the 7th Regiment were believed to have suffered heavy casualties, along with American advisers. C123 transport planes evacuated those most severely wounded Saturday night.

A Vietnamese military source said 400 Communists had been killed. A U.S. source said confusion was too great to make an accurate estimate.

The bloody battle on a 54-square mile plantation of the Michelin Rubber Co. was fought as thousands of Americans marched in Washington for "Peace in Viet Nam."

Cool, Blue Skies Expected In Area

Generally fair skies today and Monday with little temperature change will make up the Twin Cities weather picture, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The high Saturday was only 65 degrees, some 20 degrees lower than Friday's mixmum reading. Overnight lows should be 36 to 42, with frost. Low Saturday was a chilly 43.

No rainfall was measured by FAA Saturday, but the agency reported that .16 inches of rain fell in Friday night's thunderstorm, bringing the month's precipitation mark up to 1.93 inches.

New Head Type Used By World

You'll find something new about your Monroe Morning World today.

And we believe you will like it.

The something new is the head type you'll find throughout the newspaper. Head type, of course, is the basic ingredient used to "dress up" a newspaper. It has a great deal to do with how the overall look appeals to you.

The new head type is called News Bodoni. We believe you will find it easier to read, more appealing and that it will make the paper more attractive to you.

The Bodoni family of type is considered to be one of the best if not the top head types available to newspapers.

We hope you will like the change and we believe you will.

This is just another step in our continuing effort to bring you the best newspaper we can.

Goodfellows Campaign Begins In Twin Cities

The 31st annual pre-Christmas drive of the Goodfellows begins in the Twin Cities this week as citizens of the area begin working to aid those less fortunate during the Yuletide season.

Jack Hesketh, heading up the drive again this year, said Saturday no goal had been set "just yet," but added workers will make a preliminary survey to get an idea of the needs before making definite recommendations. "We know the job this year will be even greater than last year," he pointed out, "but we do not know the extent."

Cash donations and contributions of clothing, foods and toys will be accepted by the Goodfellows until shortly before Christmas. These will be distributed to needy families in the Twin Cities and Ouachita parish the day before Christmas.

The Goodfellows drive was established in 1934 by the late Wilson Ewing, publisher of the News-Star—World, and B. B. Martin, Monroe businessman. Through the years it has become a tradition of the Twin Cities in the pre-Christmas season. Over the period, the activities of the Goodfellows have increased and the number of needy families aided grown tremendously.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS

During the past several years, Hesketh, director of the Monroe Recreation Department, has headed the drive and coordinated the checking of requests and distribution of the foodstuffs. Until failing health forced his retirement, Martin handled the job, working in later years with Hesketh.

"We have received the generous support of persons in Monroe, West Monroe and Ouachita parish during the past years, and are looking forward, even expecting the continued support this year and in the future," Hesketh said. "Without the aid and donations from those of us who consider the welfare of the less fortunate, the Goodfellows would not be able to continue. However, the people of the Twin Cities and Ouachita Parish have always opened their hearts to others. This year will be no exception, we are sure."

All services of the organization are donated by volunteer workers, Hesketh pointed out. The Junior Chamber of Commerce in recent years has worked closely with Hesketh in making the investigations to determine the needy homes and in the distribution of the foods immediately before Christmas.

Both the requests for aid and the donations to the fund will be handled through the mails by the News-Star—World.

As in the past, the News-Star and Morning World will carry a list of the donations received. The donations should be sent to "Goodfellows", care of the News-Star — World Publishing Corp., 411 N. 4th St., Monroe.

After tabulations and listing of the donations, the papers will carry the names in both issues.

All requests for aid must be sent to the Goodfellows through the mail. No requests will be taken over the telephone or in person. This is a prerequisite set a number of years ago, and insures the proper address, or other information needed in the checks made by Goodfellow workers.

In the past several years, some people, particularly younger persons, have called by telephone to put in a request. While we would like to accept the requests this way, we have found that it causes confusion and often results in not getting all the information needed," Hesketh said. "These are the reasons persons asking for assistance must write in," he added.

Loss $8,000 As Burglars Strike Here

Burglars operating just two blocks away from the West Monroe police station hit Simmons Jewelry Store early Saturday and carried off $8,000 worth of rings and watches.

According to Police Chief Johnny B. Mitchell, the thieves entered a neighboring store through a second story window and then knocked their way through the back wall of the jewelry store, located at 233 Trenton St., and raked 54 watches and 319 rings out of show cases.

Store owner Sid Simmons said that the $8,000 may go up. "I've been finding price tags scattered over the store and we may have lost more than we thought."

Simmons' store occupies the same building as Hatchell's Men's Wear, 305 Natchitoches. Entrance was gained to Hatchell's by forcing open a window on the unoccupied second story. Pausing only to rifle the men's wear store cash register of $35, burglars went to a small dressing room in the front of the store and knocked a small hole in it, giving them access to the jewelry store's workroom.

Police declined comment when asked if there were any suspects in the case or how many were involved.

Both stores were open for business — if not business as usual — Saturday. Looking at a stack of empty ring trays in a corner just before closing Saturday, Simmons said, "He really must have worked it over."

McNamara Tells Of Nuclear Force

PARIS (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert C. McNamara told a meeting of Nato defense headquarters Saturday the United States has more than 10,000 nuclear warheads assigned to its strategic forces or stockpiled in Europe.

He said this number would be increased by 20 per cent within the next six months.

"This will represent a doubling of nuclear weapons strength in Europe over the past five years," McNamara said.

He addressed a defense ministers meeting called to work out plans for sharing nuclear strategy with West Germany. France, which opposes any type of nuclear armament for West Germany, boycotted the meeting.

African Terrorists Hurl Firebombs In Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — African terrorists Saturday night hurled bottles of flaming gasoline at a bus in a Salisbury suburb. Arsonists also set fire to a tobacco warehouse.

The only reported victim of the attacks was an African child on the half-filled bus, who was badly burned on one arm. Thirty other passengers escaped injury. The firebombs were thrown at the bus in the suburb of Highfield.

Elsewhere, in the suburbs, three buses were showered with stones by African youths in another protest against the rebel white-ruled government of Premier Ian Smith.

The evening attacks followed the explosion of a fiery Molotov Cocktail in an exclusive department store crowded with shoppers. There were reports that African leaders have adopted a plan for guerrilla warfare against the Smith regime.

The fire bombing at Barbours downtown store, Salisbury's most fashionable, was the second act of terrorism in less than 24 hours. Police said a bomb was tossed Friday night into a cocktail bar in the African township of Highfield outside Salisbury.

There were no casualties in either incident, but damage was extensive.

McKeithen Approaches Crossroads Of Career

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. John McKeithen glanced toward 1966 and said Saturday while he has been urged to run for the U.S. Senate, "there are things left to be done in Louisiana."

Tireless, ambitious, sometimes unpredictable, McKeithen approaches the political crossroads of his life when he enters the second half of his four-year term in the new year.

A year away is a public decision at the polls whether a governor should be allowed to succeed himself in a second straight term.

The U.S. Senate idea isn't new with McKeithen. But, that it hasn't been entirely abandoned is.

While the 47-year-old governor remains confident of his public popularity, there are rough problems ahead — finding more revenues for the second half of a teachers pay raise and a boost for state civil service employes, a mid-term legislature which always gives any governor a head-shaking ride, the smoldering rivalry of those who await the moment to spring into opposition.

Almost anything and everything could shape the public decision on a second term, in a state where such ideas for years were quickly tossed into the trash heap in fear of another political machine such as Huey P. Long had.

McKeithen so far has built a coalition for progress and growth that towers above any political accomplishments of modern years.

And that coalition includes Huey's son, the newly powerful U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long, who becomes the Senate finance chairman in January.

A year ago, McKeithen said he would concentrate on becoming a traveling salesman for Louisiana and from New York to California, from Buenos Aires to Chicago — he traveled.

In 1966, McKeithen's goal obviously is to keep his political unity and government stability without a hitch.

There is always the possibility the people might not approve that second term. Strong, organized opposition from those on the outside, such as former Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and Gillis Long, the senator's distant cousin who ran third in the 1964 race for governor, might materialize — or it might not.

McKeithen said in his news conference last week he's not losing any sleep over it. But he's not likely to be caught napping either, and he didn't say that.

Repeatedly he has insisted he has no plans to run for the U.S. Senate. U.S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender's term is at stake in 1966, and Ellender seeks another got at it.

At the end of McKeithen's current term in 1968, Russell Long's term will approach another election time.

"It would wreck my family for me to go to Washington," McKeithen commented in an interview. "I don't know what service I could render up there."

Salvation Army Works For Poor

The Ouachita Parish chapter of the Salvation Army, under commander Capt. Ronald C. Greene, has launched its annual Christmas program during which it hopes to collect some $5,500 for distribution to needy local families.

Capt. Greene issued a call for more volunteer workers to help take gifts to the sick and aged in homes and hospital, man the Salvation Army Christmas kettles on street corners, wrap gifts, distribute toys to mothers for their children's Christmas gifts and to fix baskets to be given out on Christmas Eve.

During the Christmas season of 1964, 502 baskets of food, 3,890 toys and 2,251 gifts were distributed by workers in the program.

A toy repair shop has been set up at 105 Hart Street in which used toys are repaired.

Groups wishing to sponsor toy drives are asked to call the Salvation Army for details. Donations will be accepted from individuals and groups at the Salvation Army Cheer Fund, P. O. Box 624, Monroe. The telephone number to call for the Salvation Army truck which picks up new and used toys is 325-1755, Capt. Greene said.

Special Yule Programs Set By Northeast

Two Northeast Louisiana State College choral groups will present special programs of Christmas music here in early December.

The 44-voice Northeast State Concert Choir, directed by Davis Bingham, will sing several selections appropriate to the Christmas season in a service at Grace Episcopal Church on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 5, at 3:30.

Soloists will be Barbara Addison, Shreveport, and Patricia Brothers, Monroe, sopranos; Ann Adams and Donna Barber, both of Monroe, altos; Jerry Roberts, West Monroe, tenor; David Smith, Monroe, and David Worthington, Shreveport, baritones.

Lynda Callender, Monroe, is the choir accompanist. Frank Speller of the NLSC music faculty will be guest organist.

Conducting the service will be the Rev. Bradley Trimble, rector of Grace Episcopal Church of Monroe.

The college's 90-voice Choral Union, conducted by John Burgin, will present "The Messiah," by Handel, the following Sunday afternoon, Dec. 12, at 3 in Brown Auditorium on campus. The public is invited.

Soloists will be Myra McComb Porter, Monroe, and Mrs. Doris Pollard, Columbia, sopranos; Miss Adams and Rita Sullivan, Rayville, altos; William E. Porter, Bastrop, and Roberts, tenors; Darrell Washam, Transylvania, Smith and Worthington, basses.

Accompanists will be Frank Speller, organist, and Miss Mary Jane Minniear, Shreveport, harpsichordist.

Rehearsal For Gemini 7 Meets Slight Problem

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Keeping close tabs on the progress of the Army-Navy football game, Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. ran through a slightly troubled rehearsal Saturday for their 14-day endurance flight scheduled to start next Saturday.

Two problems cropped up, causing a three-hour delay and rearrangement of the day's plan. But space agency officials termed them minor and said they would not affect the launch date.

Borman, a lieutenant colonel graduated from West Point and Lovell, a commander, from the U.S. Naval Academy and they carry on a friendly running feud on the relative merits of the football teams of the two schools.

13 Killed When Chartered Airplane Crashes Into Hill

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A charter airliner enroute to a football game slammed into a snow-covered hillside and burst into flames Saturday, killing all 13 persons aboard.

It was the second airline tragedy in the Salt Lake area in the past 16 days.

A United Air Lines 727 jetliner crashed while landing at Salt Lake Municipal Airport on Veterans Day. Forty three persons died, but 48 survived.

The charter plane, a DC3 with a passenger capacity of 28, smashed into the sparsley populated area 20 miles south of here a few minutes after takeoff from Salt Lake Airport.

The passengers included five prominent physicians, an attorney and two businessmen, all of Salt Lake City. The plane had a crew of three, plus two employees of the airlines.

"It poked a pretty good hole in that ridge," said Utah Highway Patrolman Don C. Jensen. The plane hit about 30 feet from the top of a Bald Knoll, then flipped 1,000 feet across the ravine with the left wing and engine dropping into the gully and the tail section breaking off.

One of the first to reach the crash was Howard Neuman of Riverton. He said he heard the plane swoop low over the area but "nothing sounded wrong with the engines."

The death toll was confirmed by Dr. Don Bailey, a physician for the Utah Aeronautics Commission. He said "most of the bodies were fairly intact."

The airliner, operated by Edde Airlines of Salt Lake City, was scheduled to pick up 20 Provo residents, including Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, president of Brigham Young University. The plane was chartered for a flight to Albuquerque for the BYU-New Mexico University football game.

Precipitation	4.17

LOUISIANA DELTA — Fair through Monday with highs of 65 to 70 and lows 36 to 42, with scattered frost. Drying conditions excellent daytime and locally poor at night with dewpoints in the 30s. Frost to dry off around 10 a.m. today. 80 per cent or more sunshine today. No rain indicated through Monday. Variable winds at 5 to 10 mph.

MIDSOUTH HIGHLIGHTS — The cold front which swept through the midsouth Friday night rapidly moved eastward and southward Friday, reaching the Gulf and the East Coast. High pressure dominated the area Friday night and was centered in south west Arkansas. The cold air flowing southward behind the cold front lowered temperatures and changes amounted to about 40 degrees colder in central Mississippi and Louisiana, and to as much as 55 degrees colder in parts of north Arkansas. Rainfall amounts from the Friday night thunderstorms which accompanied the cold front were not large. The heavies reported was .78 at Blytheville, Ark. Monroe had .16 of an inch. Saturday night was expected to be cold, but somewhat warmer readings for today and tonight were predicted.

LOUISIANA — Clear to partly cloudy today and Monday with not much change in temperatures. Highs 66 to 73.

MISSISSIPPI — Clear to partly cloudy today and Monday. Warmer today and tonight. Little change in temperatures on Monday. Highs 62 to 70 and overnight lows in the 40s.

ARKANSAS — Partly cloudy today and clear to partly cloudy tonight and Monday. Highs in the 60s and overnight lows in 30s. Little temperature change in temperatures Monday.

Opposition Declared

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's Christian Council, representing most churches in the country, has declared opposition to the secessionist government of Prime Minister Ian Smith and loyalty to British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs, who represents Queen Elizabeth II as chief of state. The council in a statement called Smith's declaration of independence an unlawful act.

Indian Soldiers Die

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Five Indian soldiers were killed as a result of "retaliatory action" by Pakistani troops in clashes in the Wagah, Hussain-Iwala and Badiana sectors, 200 miles east of Rawalpindi, a government spokesman announced Saturday. Pakistan troops suffered one casualty, he added.

Communists Strike Without Warning At Five Outposts

TUY HOA, Viet Nam (UPI) — They came out of the night, without warning.

One minute there was silence, blackness. The next minute was hell. A mortar round hit the outpost blockhouse, erupting in a splash of flame. Rifle bullets sang and machineguns chattered.

The regional force unit had no chance. It was over in minutes. The Communists swarmed over the outpost from every direction. Then it was silent again.

The Communists, part of a regiment moved back into the night.

That's the way it started. The outpost was one of five hit in almost exactly the same way—quickly, efficiently, giving the regional force troopers no chance to warn the district headquarters at Tuy An that the outpost was supposed to protect.

Part of the regiment moved into position around the headquarters, about half a mile from the main part of the Central Highlands coastal city. No attempt was made to wipe the headquarters out—yet.

Other elements of the regiment wheeled south toward Tuy Hoa, 15 miles away, the provincial capital where 100,000 Soutt Vietnamese live.

It was a move right from the Communist guerrilla war text. The idea, strike the town and hold, set up an ambush for a relief force and wipe it out. Then wipe out the town and withdraw.

But it didn't work.

To the friendly forces at Tuy An, where regular South Vietnamese troops are stationed with their American advisors, and at Tuy Hoa, where more of them are garrisoned, the first indication of trouble was the radio silence. The outposts failed to check in.

Shortly after dawn, harassing fire peppered Tuy An. A relief force at Uy Hoa saddled up, and moved out racing down highway 1. A light observation plane went with the column.

"About five miles from Tuy An our pilot spotters told us there were a couple of hundred Viet Cong up there and we moved the APC's (armored personnel carriers) up front," said 1st Lt. Richard Gallagher of New York City.

"We rammed right into them at about 15 to 20 miles an hour. At first, we came under mortar fire. One round scored a direct hit in the hatch of one of the APC's. The whole crew was killed. Our artillery started pounding them. We were sitting up on a little hill and stretched out in a column and we were getting good air and artillery support.

"Then we saw 30 or 40 VC cross the road behind us. They apparently came out of a regional force blockhouse that had been overrun. We called in napalm and wiped them out. It set the whole hill on fire.

"But they kept coming, even through the air strikes.

"We sent four APC's down the road and they started getting hit along a narrow stretch of the road with mortars and 57MM recoilless rifle fire and Chinese anti-tank rocket launchers. They had a lot of rockets.

"At that point, the heaviest fire was coming from the east side of the road . . . unfortunately the side that our gas tanks were on. One direct hit sent an APC up in a sheet of flame. Those poor devils inside didn't have a chance."

The column pulled back down the road about two miles and set up a defensive perimeter.

"I've seen sometimes in the papers talk about the Vietnamese not being such good soldiers," Gallagher said. "But out there they were real aggressive. They did not walk into a trap. They clashed head-on with the VC before they had a chance to set up an ambush. But there was just too many of them.

"One sergeant was riding up in the hatch chucking grenades out right and left as his APC raced down the road in a hail of fire. He tossed one in the lap of what appeared to be a North Vietnamese officer."

While the siege was underway at Tuy An and the column was fighting off communists along the highway, other elements of the Viet Cong moved on further south to Tuy Hoa. During the night they put mortars into position and fired 21 rounds into the city.

Youth Stabbed In Brawl Involving Job Corpsmen

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A series of street brawls broke out Friday night between Job Corps trainees and local youths and in one of them, David Earl Smith, an 18-year-old trainee from Chicgo, was stabbed to death.

Police Sgt. A. L. Morgan said investigators are looking for an Austin (civilian) youth and when they catch him will charge him with murdering Smith.

Two other trainees and one Austin youth were slightly hurt in the fights. Police said they will start juvenile court proceedings against two 16-year-old trainees accused of attacking a policeman.

Health In State Is Compared To Rest Of Nation

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The health of Louisiana's white population compares favorably with the health of the white population across the nation, according to the September October PAR Analysis released Saturday by the Public Affairs Research Council (PAR).

The health of nonwhites in Louisiana, while generally better than that of nonwhites in the rest of the South, did not compare so favorably with nonwhites in the other states of the nation, the report showed.

Louisiana's white population had a far better health record than nonwhites in the state, PAR said. In the nation, too, whites had a better health record than nonwhites.

In the Analysis, PAR notes that the total health status of an area is an important indication of social and economic conditions in that area; consequently, the publication considers certain statistics which in some ways reflect the health of the people of Louisiana. The information presented covers such measurements as infant and maternal death rates, fetal deaths, percentages of births attended by physicians, total death rates, causes of death, and birth and fertility rates.

The Analysis is part of a major study of state health services in Louisiana on which PAR is currently working.

Ark-La-Miss Briefs

28 Charges

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police Saturday arrested a 16-year-old boy on 28 charges, including attempted murder of a patrolman, after a high-speed chase through the uptown area of New Orleans.

Officers said the boy, who was not identified, tried to run down one policeman at a roadblock as he sped through in a stolen car Friday night.

The boy was first stopped by a patrolman for a traffic violation. While the officer was calling headquarters,the youth sped away, and the chase began. The end of the chase came when police shot the front tire of the car.

The youth was booked with attempted murder, auto theft and 26 traffic violations including running red lights, and stop signs, reckless driving and driving without a license.

Gym Dedication

RUSTON (Special) — Dedication of the new $225,000 gymnasium at Simsboro High School will be held at 3 p.m. today.

Principal Charles Cook will give the welcome, Simsboro School Board member L. M. Napper will cut the ribbon, and Lincoln Parish School Supt. Morelle Emmons will give the dedicatory address.

Quarterback Club

They are Tom Brackett, president; Wallace Norsworthy, vice president; Charles Parker, treasurer; J. C. Fryer, secretary; Ivy R. Robinson, publicity chairman; and A. R. McKee and Chester Malone, directors.

Murder Charge

OLIVIER, La. (AP) — Authorities have charged an Olivier bar owner with murder in the shooting of a man in his bar.

Officers said Harry Shaw was charged after 25-year-old Clarence Taylor died in a hospital Friday night, several hours after he was shot in the stomach at Shaw's bar.

Dies In Explosion

SULPHUR, La. (AP) — The Plaquemines Parish sheriff's office said an explosion at an oil rig near here Saturday killed one man and seriously injured five.

The dead man was identified as W. H. Terry, a tool-pusher on the Wheelus Co. rig.

The other five were in undetermined condition at a Port Sulphur hospital.

15,000 March In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) —More than 15,000 demonstrators, some of them beatniks, many of them well-dressed adults, picketed the White House and marched in the nation's capital Saturday to protest the U.S. role in the Viet Nam war.

"No more war . . . no more war," they chanted as they swarmed from the White House to rally in the shadow of the sunwashed Washington Monument.

Present in the crowd were the bearded youths wearing dungarees and accompanied by lank-haired girls. But the large majority of the demonstrators were neatly attired adults who kept the demonstration an orderly one.

There was only one threatening moment of serious violence. Police and demonstrators quickly broke up a scuffle between a handful of counter-demonstrators and a group of marchers carrying flags of the Communist Viet Cong. There were a few individual arrests as blows were struck on other occasions but on the whole both sides confined themselves to taunting each other.

Quick approval of the massive protest came from Communist North Viet Nam and Red China. Radio Hanoi announced it was releasing two U.S. Army prisoners in honor of the demonstration. And in Peking, the Communist Party newspaper Peoples Daily said protests would sweep America and "reduce the U.S. imperialist system to ashes."

The main aim of the demonstrators was a demand that U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam be halted.

A delegation of marchers headed by 81-year-old Socialist Norman Thomas met with Chester Cooper, a White House aide to presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy. They came away dissatisfied.

"The administration really wanted to negotiate in Viet Nam," Thomas quoted Cooper as saying. "But he said in the meantime, the war has to go on —bombings as well."

A gray drizzle gave way to sunshine and 64-degree temperatures as the first of the protestors began picketing the White House this morning. Eventually, the picket line was so long that many marchers were unable to pass in front of the executive mansion before the march began. It stretched nearly six blocks long.

A heavy guard of city and U.S. Park Police kept an eye on the anti-war picketers and also on George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi Party and other counter-demonstrators who carried signs reading "Free Gasoline and Matches for Peace Creeps."

Organizers of the "March on Washington for Peace in Viet Nam", were fairly successful in keeping the demonstration within their plans. They had opposed the red, yellow and blue banners of the Viet Cong.

But Chairman Walter Teague, 29, of the Committee to Aid the Viet Cong Front in South Viet Nam, led a handful of supporters carrying five large Viet Cong flags in the line of march.

In the scuffle which took place on historic Pennsylvania Avenue near the Treasury Building, Teague's group had three of the flags wrested from their grasp but succeeded in recovering them without incident later.

Independent Of Aid

SEOUL (UPI) —South Korea will become virtually independent of foreign aid by 1971 at the end of its second five-year economic development plan, Deputy Premier Chan Key-Young said Saturday.

Too Effective

LONDON (UPI) —A film which shows what a nuclear attack could do to suburban Kent will not be shown on the BBC as scheduled because it is "too horrifying."

Peter Watkins, the film's producer, said it was designed to illustrate the reality of violence.

Plans Completed For Christmas Program In Area

BASTROP (Special) — Bill Del Rio, chairman of the Trade Development Association of the Bastrop Chamber of Commerce, announced Saturday that plans for the city's annual Christmas program have been completed.

The event will be held Tuesday at 5 p.m. on the south side of the Morehouse Parish Courthouse.

Planning committee for this year's event included Mrs. Nell Foreman, Bill Santo and Gardner Vaughn. Participating in the 45 minute religious program will be the Central Junior High School Chorus, Concord Chorus of the First Baptist Church of Bastrop and the Bastrop High School Band.

The Rev. Bob White of Cherry Ridge Baptist Church and the Rev. Robert L. Peyton of the First Methodist Church here will deliver the Christmas message.

At the conclusion of the program, Mayor John Tully will pull the switch to turn on the Christmas lights in the downtown area. The lighting program which costs some $4,000 is entering the second year here. The lighting is sponsored by the Trade Development Association, the City of Bastrop and the Morehouse Parish Police Jury. Added to the decorations this year are six additional skyline lighting units plus the decorating of the courthouse dome.

2 Soviet Craft Will Pass Either Side Of Planet

MOSCOW (AP)—The two Soviet unmanned spaceships launched toward Venus this month will pass close to the mysteriously clouded planet on different sides, Izvestia reported Saturday.

"The two probes, sent one after another, will increase chances of obtaining authentic information about the planet," the government newspaper said. "Each has its own scientific program and simultaneously they will explore different regions of the planet."

Venus-2 and Venus-3 were launched Nov. 12 and Nov. 16, respectively. The one-ton spaceships are expected to take about 3½ months to get near Venus.

"It was a reasonable thing to send out two automatic stations flying one after another at a small distance and time interval," said the article. "The current experiment will not provide the answers to all questions about Venus. To do this will require sending stations regularly over a period of many years."

The only other announced Soviet probe of Venus took place in 1961. It failed when its radio went silent and the craft passed too far from the planet.

The fourth photo (Botton right) shows the Ouachita Parish Courthouse as the lunch lines form. Workers who came in from numerous surrounding towns to work on the levee and they were given their meals in the basement of the courthouse. Local women cooked for the men. These photos belong to Mrs. Dick Dean of 116 Pope St., who said she was a Campfire Girl at the time of the flood and remembers helping serve the meals to the levee workers. Boy Scouts and other volunteers in the area, she said, were kept busy filling bags with sand to be used by levee workers.

Soviets Charge Red China With Helping U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Red China on Saturday of hurting the cause of the Vietnamese Communusts and helping the United States by Peking's refusal to form a united front with the Kremlin.

Pravda, Soviet Communist party newspaper, carried in its Sunday edition the hardest-hitting attack on the Red Chinese since the new Soviet leadership took over in October 1964.

"The developments of the last few months have shown convincingly that imperialism is trying to capitalize on the weakened unity of Communist ranks," Pravda said.

BEN PARNELL and A. C. Adams display some of their many styles of Motorola TV carried by Ben Parnell Appliances, 610 N. 6th St., Monroe. The firm also features Kelvinator home appliances, Coleman Heating and air conditioning and furniture. Ben Parnell has been in the appliance business in the Twin Cities for over 35 years and operates a complete service department that repairs all makes of appliances and electronics.

MRS. E. M. BABER, of Geo. Baber, Inc., in the Twin City Shopping center demonstrates one of the RCA Victor New Vista Solid State Stereos. Baber's is headquarters in this area for stereo and custom stereo components, color and black and white TV and tape recorders. You'll like Baber's gift department, too, when shopping for Christmas gifts.

MONROE'S OLDEST full line RCA Victor dealer is Henry's Furniture and Appliance, 607 N. 18th St. Henry H. Gerson, right, owner, points out features of the new transistorized portable TV to Audie R. Edwards, salesman for the firm. Henry's carries RCA Victor TVs in color or black and white, stereos, table and transistor radios.

Many Organizations Endorsing Home Lighting Contest

Now that the annual Christmas Home Lighting Contest is officially open, many organizations are endorsing the aim of the contest to make Monroe the best "Christmas Lighted City in Louisiana."

The City Beautification Board, Mrs. John B. Mullens director, offers its encouragement to the individuals who plan to enter the contest this Christmastime.

"The Christmas Home Lighting Contest is an excellent way to encourage civic pride in a community-wide project," Mrs. Mullens said. "The idea behind the contest is to make persons aware of a community spirit," she said.

The contest, sponsored jointly by the City of Monroe and News-Star—World Publishing Corp., is open to home owners in the city through Monday, Dec. 13.

Winners will be announced in the Morning World and News-Star on Wednesday, Dec. 22.

A simple procedure may be followed. All entires must be postmarked no later than 5 p.m. on Dec. 13 and homes will be judged during the evening of Friday, Dec. 17. Decorating of the homes should be completed by 5 p.m. on this date.

There are more than 24 garden clubs in the city, each stressing the role of clubs in encouraging civic pride. Many have already joined with the News-Star and World to get behind the Christmas Home Decoration drive in order to make the city a place of beauty this Christmas season.

Those entering the contest are eligible for the prize. There will be a top money winner in each of 12 districts and a city-wide winner. District winners receive $100 and the single over-all winner receives an additional $150.

Adding their encouragement this week to the Christmas Home Lighting Contest and its concept of civic pride were the following clubs:

The West Oak Garden Club draws its membership chiefly from the Oak Park area of Monroe. Mrs. Dale Cronk of 2103 Sherwood is president. "At such a busy season," she said, "we often postpone the things we really plan to do, but the Christmas Home Lighting Contest should absorb out interest for it is an effort to make our city appealing both to residents and visitors."

Town & Country Garden Club has always pressed for a more beautiful Monroe. Mrs. Branton Kellogg of 1802 Lexington Ave. the club's president, said, "and feel the Christmas season is the time to show that enthusiasm."

"We are very enthusiastic about the Christmas Home Lighting Contest and its concept of civic pride," she said.

The Lakeshore Garden Club's president, Mrs. J. L. (Lorraine) Hemphill of 713 Camelia Drive has entered the Christmas Home Lighting Contest as an individual and has encouraged other members of the club to join her in "making our city more attractive." The Lakeshore will have its annual gift exchange and Christmas supper on the first Thursday in December.

As Christmas approaches the zeal to make the city more attractive for the Yule season will increase. As other organizations add their support the city can expect to see the lights go on all over the city, so the News-Star and World wished you all a merry — and well lighted — Christmas.

Now! New Chevelle SS 396 by Chevrolet

New '66 Chevelle SS 396 Convertible and Sport Coupe—with distinctive black grille and all-new Body by Fisher styling.

Equipped with a Turbo-Jet 396 V8, flat-cornering suspension and red stripe tires

As you probably gathered from the items ticked off above, these cars weren't meant for the driver who is willing to settle for frills and gadgetry.

Standard output of the new Turbo-Jet 396 V8—which powers both the convertible and sport coupe SS 396 models—is 325 hp. This remarkably efficient power plant, with aircraft-type valves, deep-breathing ports and other design advances, is also available in a 360-hp version.

So much for what happens on the straightaways. How about the curves? You ride on a specially designed SS 396 chassis — with flat-cornering front and rear suspension, special red-stripe tires and wide-base wheels.

A fully synchronized 3-speed transmission with floor-mounted stick shift is standard. Or you can order a 4-speed or Powerglide—also Strato-bucket front seats, center console and full instrumentation, including tachometer.

Sound like a car you could get serious over? That, as you'll see when you drop down to your dealer's and try one of these SS 396's or any of the other new Chevelles, is precisely how Chevrolet engineers planned it. Seriously.

New Standard Safety and Convenience Features

- Seat belts, front and rear.
- Padded instrument panel and sun visors
- Outside rearview mirror (always use it before passing)
- Shatter-resistant inside rearview mirror
- Windshield washers
- Two-speed electric wipers for better visibility in heavy rain or snow
- Back-up lights

Plus all these you can add

- Traffic Hazard Warning System (flashes both front and rear turn signals as a warning in emergencies)
- Automatic Speed and Cruise Control (helps you stay within speed limits)
- Rear-window defroster
- Positraction rear axle (for better traction in snow, mud, sand)

FOUR PIPE Majors of the Scots Guards, famed Scottish regiment, will be featured in The Royal Marines Tattoo, which will be presented in Memorial Gymnasium at Louisiana Tech on Monday, at 8 p.m. as part of the college concert series. There will be 150 performers in the Tattoo, including the Royal Marines' Bands and the British Columbia Highland Lassies Dancers. They will appear at Tech following appearances at the Edinburgh Festival.

Highland Dance Will Be Featured At Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Forms of dancing constantly become more abundant and varies, but folk dancing and traditional dances hold their own in the hearts of everyone and certainly nowhere in the world is there a dance form as exciting, and beloved, as the highland dance, which will be so much a part of the Royal Marines Tattoo, which is being presented by the Louisiana Tech Concert Association, Monday night.

Included in this huge military spectacle, in addition to two marching-military Royal Marines bands will be the massed pipes, drums and dancers of The Scots Guards and The Royal Scots Greys Regiments, and, as an extra dancing attraction, The British Columbia Highland Lassies Dancers, from Vancouver, Canada.

These three celebrated groups of highland dancers represent this dancing form at its most authentic and inspired.

Highland dancing had its origin among the rocky crags of Scotland when grizzled clansmen leaped about bonfires to celebrate victory over an opposing clan. It first happened impulsively when he felt the need for some physical demonstration to relieve his almost too exuberant spirits.

The patterns, or choreography, grew and were caught in the mesh of tradition, handed down from father to son and today the highland dance is a dance of intricate steps and fascinating floor patterns, precise, and singularly graceful and exciting.

Highland dancing is certainly among the most specialized forms of group dancing, martial and competitive in spirit, a dance in which the movement of the group is more important than the gyrations of the individual and, as the group moves through it, there is the most peculiar and unique progression of intensity.

Adding the British Columbia Highland Lassies to the ranks of The Scots Guards and The Royal Greys Dancers is a contemporary elaboration that poignantly accents the elegance and nobility of the highland dance. Of all the regulated dances in the world, dances in which there is not allowed any improvisation by the dancer, the highland dance is perhaps the most fastidious.

In Britain the word "Tattoo" does not mean just something on a sailor's arm; instead it more usually means a huge military spectale. And that describes the Royal Marines Tattoo which is the second attraction of the Louisiana Tech Concert Association in this 1965-1966 season. A short exhibition of The Royal Marines Motorcycle Display Team is scheduled at 7 p.m. at Tech Stadium with the main performance scheduled at 8 p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium.

Because the LTCA series is sold out on a season basis, no box office tickets can be sold for this event.

3 Jailbreakers Caught After Week's Search

HILLSBORO, Mo. (AP) — Three jailbreakers were captured Saturday after a week-long search. They had held one family hostage, caused a dozen more to move from their homes and scores to barricade themselves in their houses.

One man was reported shot in the foot during the capture.

The highway patrol said Sheriff Walter Buerger and others captured the fugitives in an abandoned cabin just off a country road near the Jefferson County community of Morse Mill — 25 miles west of St. Louis.

More than 600 persons — most of them heavily armed volunteers — two airplanes and police dogs and bloodhounds trudged the hilly, wooded area for a week before the men were flushed out.

Buerger had said the men were "desperate" and he expected them to shoot it out if they were cornered.

Since the fugitives fled after severely beating a night guard, about a dozen families have moved from their homes. But most have remained, barricaded in their homes with weapons within immediate reach.

The temperature dropped into the 20s Friday night and Buerger thought the cold might bring the fugitives into the open.

"But at the same time," he added, "it might cause them to go into some house to get warm and hold the residents hostage as they did last Monday at the (Oscar) Ogle home."

The fugitives — James DeSherlia, 25, and Charles Heard, 29, both of St. Louis, and Richard Chandler, 23, of Potosi, Mo. — held the Ogle family hostage for several hours while they fed themselves and dressed cuts and bruises suffered in their flight.

Several abandoned homes and clubhouses have been burglarized, apparently by the fugitives who were last seen Wednesday. A deputy sheriff fired a shot at a fleeting subject Thursday night, but lost him in the darkness.

Volunteer searchers include Greene County Sheriff Mickey Owen of Springfield, Mo., a former catcher for the old Brooklyn Dodgers, and several of his deputies, police dogs and bloodhounds.

The fugitives fled with five other prisoners after severely beating Deputy Sheriff Conrad Pillen and taking his pistol. The other five were recaptured without offering resistance.

Heard and Chandler were awaiting trial on charges of armed robbery. DeSherlia had been charged with burglary.

City Of Monroe Makes Broad-Scale Bid For Industry

Monroe, La., November 28, 1965 — 1-B

The first response to a major advertising appeal to eastern industrialists to consider locating branches in the City of Monroe's Industrial Park at Selman Field, came quickly. There were many replies to an ad run in the Wall Street Journal, and one prospect has already sent a representative here to tour the site.

By RICHARD TYLER
Staff Writer

Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard has a simple goal for the city's 775 - acre industrial park at Selman Field — "to get as big as possible with as much industry as possible as soon as possible."

To this end, Monroe recently burst into the competitive arena of national advertising with a full - page ad in the eastern edition of the influential Wall Street Journal.

The response has been "overwhelming," and the city, in cooperation with the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, already is laying plans for a second, third and fourth spot in the newspaper.

The ad, aimed at top industrialists in 15 seaboard and near-coastal states, "created a great deal more interest than was ever hoped for," Howard says.

STACK OF REPLIES

Published little more than a week ago, it brought replies which made up to a stack "this high," the mayor enthused, gesturing nearly a foot above his city hall desk. He, Chamber officials and others last week, in fact, hosted the first personal - visit prospect.

"If we get the firm we talked to, right after the ad appeared, the sale of electricity alone will pay for the ad in the first 90 days," Howard said.

The Chamber, it is expected, will nearly equal city expenses in the campaign, handling all "leg work," correspondence, mailings, preparation of promotional brochures and entertainment of prospects.

And, according to Chamber President Howard Griffin, the organization is equally enthusiastic about the advertising program and industry-inducement efforts.

"One of the long range plans of the Chamber has been to work in areas that would make Monroe more acceptable to industry," he explains.

"Monroe has grown in recent years and has fortunately made exceptional progress in providing facilities for the public. We are particularly proud of our cultural progress, the Little Theatre, the Masur Art Museum, the new recreational facilities available in our area, the available labor market, with proved ability and willingness to work," Griffin says.

"All of our major industries in the parish have undergone major expansion programs, which is a good indication that Monroe has served them well.

"We feel that with this image of progress as a background, the natural advantages offered at the industrial park are more attractive than ever before.

"Our present advertising program is designed to point out these advantages to those who are planning to expand," the Chamber president adds.

A Howard campaign pledge in 1956, the industrial park presently has one tenant — a Morgan and Lindsey warehouse of the G. C. Murphy Company — and another virtually assured — the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, for which the city is building for lease a suitable plant.

It's expected to be only the beginning.

"We think the average industrial site will be about 10 acres, so we're shooting for from 50 to 70 firms to locate in the park," the mayor reports.

AIMED AT NEEDS

Chamber volunteers, as these prospects develop, will prepare what are virtually "tailor-made" brochures on various properties, attuned to the prospect's specific needs and interests.

The park is described as the special pride of everyone engaged in the industrial campaign. No other city in the state has an industrial park per se, municipally-owned, with rail, roadway and air connections, and all utilities readily available.

It is expected to make Monroe, in fact as well as in location, the trade hub of north Lousiana and south Arkansas.

With so much to offer, why wasn't the park concept exploited sooner?

"Simply, because there wasn't so much to offer before now," Howard explains. "Trying to attract industry is one of the most competitive things that can be imagined, and, frankly, Monroe just couldn't be competitive with centers like Jackson or Shreveport.

"But, now we can be, and we are," he adds.

REASONS MORE OBVIOUS

The reasons are becoming more obvious almost by the day — the near completion of I-20's passage through the Twin Cities, the impending rush of river transport as Ouachita channel plans progress, a ballooning population, increases in city electrical capacity, addition of a sewage plant, new civic and government centers now under construction, expansion of the local school systems, major work coming at the courthouse, etc.

"Add to these, our traditional ready supply of labor and raw materials, and stable government structures, and it's apparent why we're ready to move," Howard says. "Monroe and its area has a great deal more to offer than it did just four or five years ago."

And, he stresses, that, while Monroe and the industrial park are foremost in the drive to industrialize, Ouachita Parish and north Louisiana may realize benefits.

"The industrial park is here and available, of course, but we'll show prospects anything they want to see," said Howard. "Our first obligation is to Monroe, without a doubt, but we'll be holding Ouachita Parish and north Louisiana in mind also."

The crisply-worded promotion describes Monroe as "a trade center of 415,000 population in the heart of the rich Arkansas - Louisiana - Mississippi triangle," transformed by "an aggressive businessman city administration" into "one of the outstanding municipalities of the South."

It mentions all business boons touched by the mayor, and adds a couple — "the natural climate is enticing with mild, even temperatures," it notes, pointing also to "good community relations and community attitudes among all of our people." Covered in addition are the city's "brand new air terminal with jet capabilities," all utilities, paved streets at the park and Selman's own fire station.

The next step? Another ad, emphasizing the ITT connection in Monroe, when it is finalized, will be published "probably early next year."

"This is the 30th largest corporation in the world, and we want these business executives back east to know that it thought enough of Monroe to come here," the mayor said. "We're proud of the fact, and it's a fact that's going to make any firm thinking about coming South give Monroe a hard, thoughtful look.

"That's all we need."

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — With awesome ease they can pull the plug on a white supremacist orator and virtually drain the 117-nation General Assembly hall before he opens his mouth.

By closing ranks they can decide the fate of a colonial or human rights question even before it reaches the floor for debate.

United, the 10-year-old brotherhood of Asian and African nations is a mighty chorus with the lung power of one billion people from 62 nations.

Torn by ideological differences, national jealousies and outright wars, the Asian-African group is more figment than fact, an alliance that works in unison only when matters of race, welfare or colonialism are involved.

Ten years go, the leaders of 29 developing nations gathered in the Indonesian city of Bandung and vowed to destroy colonialism throughout the world. Fired by this goal, they gave birth to an idea called Afro-Asian unity.

At United Nations headquarters, representatives of these aspiring nations went a step further. Proclaiming independence of any big power blocs, they envisioned themselves as a third force; an instrument for world peace serving as a buffer between East and West. But few members of the group were consistently neutral on political issues, particularly those affecting East-West relations.

The ideological dispute between Moscow and Peking and the emergence of Red China as a nuclear power shattered any solidarity that existed in the A-A's pro-Communist wing. Many members openly espoused the cause of Peking and dragged the issue into U.N. debates to the discomfort of the Soviet Union which paradoxically is on the threshold of becoming a member of the Asian-African club.

The Africans in the United Nations, now 35 nations strong, dominate the A-A group. They are dedicated to the premise that the black man must never again feel the yoke of bondage, but unity stops there.

Old tribal hatreds and the thirst for power of their young leaders divided the newborn nations of Africa from the start and the Communist-backed revolt which nearly bisected the chaotic Congo last year succeeded in splitting the community wide open.

The Asian nations are, if anything, more deeply divided.

"The Africans have had their share of discord, now it seems to be our turn," was the comment of Ambassador Salvador Lopez, Philippine chief envoy to the United Nations and expert in Asian affairs.

When the fourth Afro-Asian solidarity conference met in Ghana last May, wrangling among the Asian representatives drowned out any attempts at close harmony.

The blowup between India and Pakistan last summer, the war in Viet Nam, internal conflict in Laos and perpetual border squabbles between Thailand and Cambodia have all helped keep Asia in a state of ferment.

Until recently, the most closely knit force in the A-A's appeared to be the Arab states who are represented in both Asian and African ranks. Bound together by ties of culture and race, they form the 12-nation Arab League whose common aim is to obliterate Israel.

But some members of the league have become restless over Egyptian president Gamal Abdel Nasser's claim to leadership in the Arab world, and Tunisia has revolted openly.

Now the Asian-Africans appear threatened by a deeper cleavage that could dissolve what cohesion they still possess.

The Asians, finding themselves outnumbered and out-talked by the newcomers from Africa have been moving quietly to restore their own identity.

In the early days when 16 of the 50-odd U.N. members were Asian or Arab, the Eastern nations formed a loosely knit group that played an important role in helping the United Nations mediate such questions as Indonesia's independence from the Netherlands.

At that time there were only three African states in the United Nations. Egypt as an Arab country already belonged to the club. Liberia and Ethiopia were included in Asian huddles mostly as a matter of courtesy.

When the Bandung Conference conceived the Asian-African group in 1955 many diplomats saw profound significance in the union of Asia's nations with the newborn states of Africa to fight the dying remnants of colonialism.

By 1958 Africa's growing family in the United Nations had decided to deal with many questions — especially dealing with their own continent — independently. Asian support was taken for granted, but Asian advice was rarely sought.

As Asia's role diminished, there was a gradual submergence of the star Eastern diplomats whose purple oratory had echoed through the U.N. chambers. No Asian has replaced Zafrullah Khan, the patrician statesman from Pakistan, Carlos Romulo of the Philippines or V. K. Krishna Menon, whose wrathful outbursts and malevolent glare earned him a host of foes but kept his native India in the spotlight.

A new breed of leader now speaks for the vast world of the underprivileged nations, and Africa is supplying the talent.

More given to action than oratory, the new leaders have one thing in common. Most of them are under 40.

The African nations formalized their identity two years ago by forming the Organization of African Unity. This year, at the behest of the African members, the General Assembly agreed to set up formal relations with the OAU.

The Asians finally decided it was time to act. Several months ago they began holding meetings of their own on such questions as committee chairmanships involving their geographical area. Now some of the group want to map their own strategy on political questions and other issues.

"It is a healthy development really," said one veteran Asian diplomat. "The joint A-A group has become far too big and tends to rely on sheer numbers to get what it wants."

"Actually," said one Western diplomat, "Afro-Asian has become more a point of view than a geographical grouping."

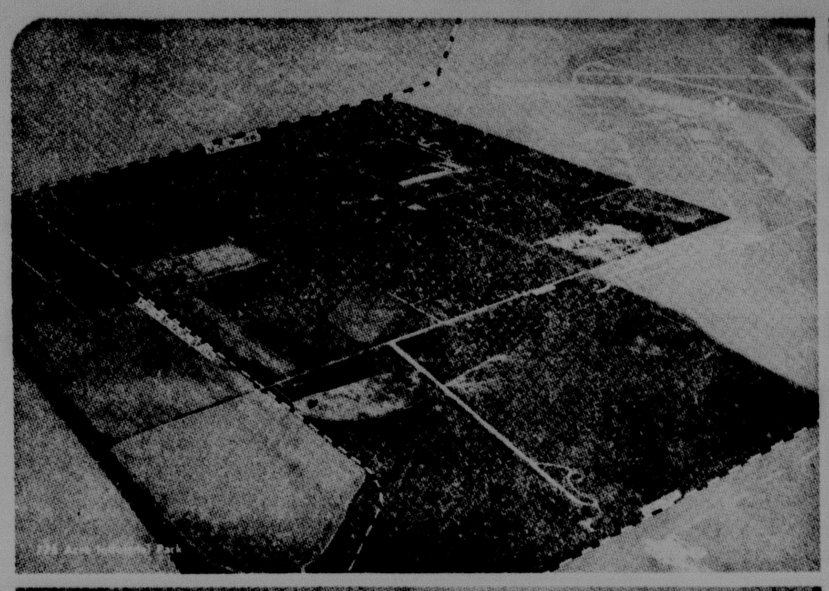
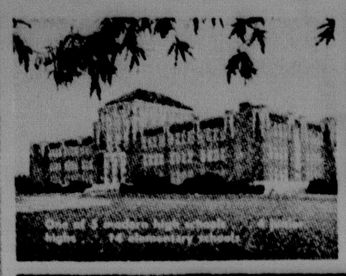
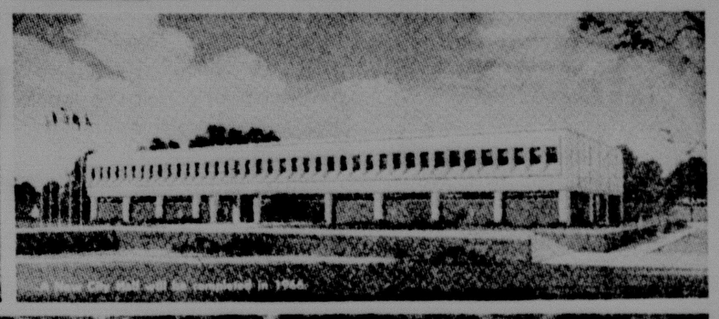
LOCATING A NEW PLANT? WHAT DO YOU WANT TO BE CLOSE TO?

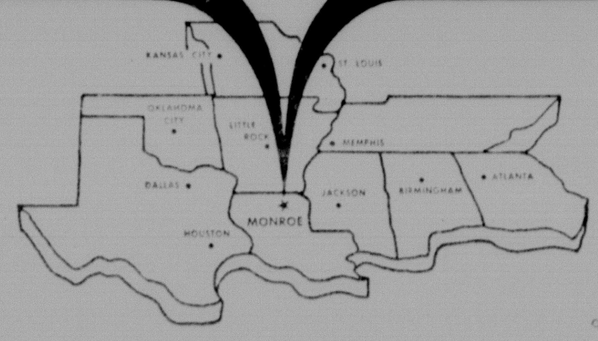






MONROE, LOUISIANA WELCOMES YOU!

May we invite you to join some outstanding businesses in our fully developed 775 acre industrial park which features all utilities, paved streets, complete fire protection (has own fire station). It's bounded by two major railroads and a brand new air terminal with jet capabilities. Major highways (including the east-west I-20) are a few hundred feet away. Our location in a trade center of 415,000 population in the heart of the rich Arkansas-Louisiana-Mississippi triangle puts you in easy reach of major cities of the south, southwest and midwest. Raw materials are varied and abundant — fuel-power-water is plentiful, accessible and reasonable. The natural climate is enticing with mild, even temperatures. Elementary, high school and higher education facilities are second to none.



An aggressive business-man city administration has within the last decade transformed Monroe into one of the outstanding municipalities of the South. Improvements cover every aspect of community life. This leadership, cited by many national publications and news media, has set an example for good community relations and community attitudes among all of our people. From this atmosphere you can choose a labor force eager, conscientious and willing to produce. You'll appreciate the wonderful tax advantage offered in Monroe, Louisiana, municipally owned 775 acre industrial park. May we give you further information? Contact Committee of 100, P. O. Box 1302, Monroe, Louisiana, 71203.

Many members openly espoused the cause of Peking and dragged the issue into U.N. debates to the discomfort of the Soviet Union which paradoxically is on the threshold of becoming a member of the Asian-African club.

The Africans in the United Nations, now 35 nations strong, dominate the A-A group. They are dedicated to the premise that the black man must never again feel the yoke of bondage, but unity stops there.

Old tribal hatreds and the thirst for power of their young leaders divided the newborn nations of Africa from the start and the Communist-backed revolt which nearly bisected the chaotic Congo last year succeeded in splitting the community wide open.

The Asian nations are, if anything, more deeply divided.

"The Africans have had their share of discord, now it seems to be our turn," was the comment of Ambassador Salvador Lopez, Philippine chief envoy to the United Nations and expert in Asian affairs.

When the fourth Afro-Asian solidarity conference met in Ghana last May, wrangling among the Asian representatives drowned out any attempts at close harmony.

The blowup between India and Pakistan last summer, the war in Viet Nam, internal conflict in Laos and perpetual border squabbles between Thailand and Cambodia have all helped keep Asia in a state of ferment.

Until recently, the most closely knit force in the A-A's appeared to be the Arab states who are represented in both Asian and African ranks. Bound together by ties of culture and race, they form the 12-nation Arab League whose common aim is to obliterate Israel.

But some members of the league have become restless over Egyptian president Gamal Abdel Nasser's claim to leadership in the Arab world, and Tunisia has revolted openly.

Now the Asian-Africans appear threatened by a deeper cleavage that could dissolve what cohesion they still possess.

The Asians, finding themselves outnumbered and out-talked by the newcomers from Africa have been moving quietly to restore their own identity.

In the early days when 16 of the 50-odd U.N. members were Asian or Arab, the Eastern nations formed a loosely knit group that played an important role in helping the United Nations mediate such questions as Indonesia's independence from the Netherlands.

At that time there were only three African states in the United Nations. Egypt as an Arab country already belonged to the club. Liberia and Ethiopia were included in Asian huddles mostly as a matter of courtesy.

When the Bandung Conference conceived the Asian-African group in 1955 many diplomats saw profound significance in the union of Asia's nations with the newborn states of Africa to fight the dying remnants of colonialism.

By 1958 Africa's growing family in the United Nations had decided to deal with many questions — especially dealing with their own continent — independently. Asian support was taken for granted, but Asian advice was rarely sought.

As Asia's role diminished, there was a gradual submergence of the star Eastern diplomats whose purple oratory had echoed through the U.N. chambers. No Asian has replaced Zafrullah Khan, the patrician statesman from Pakistan, Carlos Romulo of the Philippines or V. K. Krishna Menon, whose wrathful outbursts and malevolent glare earned him a host of foes but kept his native India in the spotlight.

A new breed of leader now speaks for the vast world of the underprivileged nations, and Africa is supplying the talent.

More given to action than oratory, the new leaders have one thing in common. Most of them are under 40.

The African nations formalized their identity two years ago by forming the Organization of African Unity. This year, at the behest of the African members, the General Assembly agreed to set up formal relations with the OAU.

The Asians finally decided it was time to act. Several months ago they began holding meetings of their own on such questions as committee chairmanships involving their geographical area. Now some of the group want to map their own strategy on political questions and other issues.

"It is a healthy development really," said one veteran Asian diplomat. "The joint A-A group has become far too big and tends to rely on sheer numbers to get what it wants."

"Actually," said one Western diplomat, "Afro-Asian has become more a point of view than a geographical grouping."

Poverty Program Scandals

The organization directing "The Great Society's" anti-poverty program in the Harlem area of New York City casually has informed Sargent Shriver—the national director—that somehow or other it cannot account for $600,000 of the millions given it for spending in that fundamentally Negro area in recent months. The Harlem directors say that bookkeeping was bad and some of the administrators and their employes neglected to keep proper records and — well, the money just "ain't there" and there just "ain't no record of what was done with it." The records are clear that it was received from the federal government.

So, Mr. Shriver seems inclined to brush aside the whole situation —perhaps with the suggestion that the Harlem anti-poverty organization employ more people — especially bookkeepers who can read and write and add and subtract. After all, the $600,000 is just taxpayers' money.

The Harlem anti-poverty program was the cause of the "big fight" a few months ago between Mr. Shriver and Negro Democratic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, whose Congressional District includes Harlem. Rep. Powell suddenly began publicizing high salaries being paid Shriver's anti-poverty office forces—some 70 persons in the Shriver top office drawing more than $15,000 a year; others out around the country, carefully selected by local Democratic Party political committees and often high party offices, being paid anywhere from $20,000 to $28,000 a year. Rep. Powell thought this was scandalous. He threatened congressional investigation—which he could have initiated easily through the House Education and Labor Committee, of which he is Chairman (with his wife, who lives in Puerto Rico, drawing a $12,000 a year federal salary as one of his office workers).

Powell's Real Shock

Finally it came out that the real trouble was not Rep. Powell's shock at the size of the salaries but the fact that they were going to men selected by Shriver and Democratic machine politicians, whereas, the Harlem Representative insisted that his political pals should be the ones to direct the program in Harlem and he should be the power behind the throne in that area.

In the end, everything was settled happily. The high salaries remained high, but it was Adam Clayton Powell who decided who should draw them in Harlem. It is under these Powell administrators that $600,000 seems to have slipped out of the till unnoticed until it was all gone.

The Peace Corps is not part of the poverty or job corps programs but from the start, until recently, Sargent Shriver directed it. What has happened in it thus sheds light on Sargent Shriver and may help to explain why the job corps and such programs have become such a mess under him.

Some weeks ago a high official of the Peace Corps told the press in Washington he was going to the University of California, Berkeley, to contact students who had taken part in the riotous demonstrations there and also in the "FSM." This is supposedly the "Free Speech Movement" but came known as the "Filthy Speech Movement" after members — men and women — paraded with signs bearing four letter filthy sex words. The Berkeley riots also have been marked with efforts to stop trains carrying military personnel and supplies to ports for Viet Nam. The Peace Corps official said he wanted to recruit Peace Corps members from the "FSM" and also to contact its leaders to get pointers on how to recruit for the Peace Corps.

A few days ago it was announced that more than 450 of the Berkeley gang had been recruited for the Peace Corps. Further, Bettina Aptheker, daughter of a communist and top woman student leader in the "FSM," announced publicly that she herself is and always has been a communist. A few days later she received the high vote in a field of five undergraduates seeking two posts on a campus committee that is to help the administrative authorities "reorganize" student liberties and activities — presumably in a more "liberal" direction.

There have been various other financial scandals in the Poverty Program, particularly in administration of the Job Corps for teenagers, where the government paid $225,000 for an 18 months lease on an old hotel in Florida, that amount being more than its estimated total value. Girls in a Florida Job Corps center were charged by neighbors with soliciting for prostitution. Also, there is the case in Mississippi where officials of the Headstart Poverty program conceded that $20,000 had been, in effect, "squandered," and a New York accounting firm overpaid by $12,500.

Then there was the revelation by Rep. Roudebush of Indiana that a $10,000,000 Job Corps anti-poverty settlement there is costing the taxpayers $22,000 per year per Corpsman; this, Mr. Roudebush points out, is enough to send a boy through an expensive college and give him an around-the-world trip as a graduation present. Also, in many instances teenage Job Corpsmen are paid more than a private in the Army receives in Viet Nam for offering his life and frequently losing it — the total American dead in the Viet Nam war now rapidly is approaching the 1,500 mark with 6,000 or more other casualties.

Real Scandal Told

But the real scandal in the Job Corps programs of "the Great Society's" anti-poverty activities lies in the teenage rapes, the stabbings in both interracial and non-racial gang fights, the destruction of property and attack on civilians by Job Corps, teenagers in nearby towns; and the large number of sons and daughters of well off and even very wealthy parents who have been put on the Job Corps payroll as poverty stricken trainees.

The complete inefficiency and incompetency of administration (under Sargent Shriver) of this whole project—or else the utter lack of need for such a project—is shown in the fact that less than 30 per cent of the teenagers sent into the programs finish up their "course" — they quickly become dropouts.

As a memory refresher, The World pulled out its file of news clippings of the past summer on scandalous activities in such anti-poverty programs as the Job Corps. Here are a few of the things that happened during the past summer:

—Four top officials in the anti-poverty program in the District of Columbia resigned, chiefly over the question of whether $3,000 a year income is to be considered "poverty stricken" or whether the ceiling should be $4,000 a year.

Many Ineligible

—A high official in the Washington program said that at least half of the teenagers taken into Job Corps camps around the country were not eligible on any basis of need.

—In Kansas City, Kansas, the Job Corps Regional Director for an 11-state area said that 41 out of 100 or so Job Corpsmen there were ineligible from the standpoint of need. One returned to the University of Kansas at the end of the summer, taking with him his 1965 Thunderbird automobile. A Job Corps University of Kansas girl student's father owned both a service station and a liquor store; numerous other cases of this kind were found, including children of well to do friends or relatives of Democratic politicians being on "poverty" payrolls.

—In Carlinville, Illinois, one Job Corps teenager showed up daily in a new red convertible for his daily task of pulling grass out of cracks in sidewalks. Another was the son of a $748 a month State House employe under Democratic Governor Otto Kerner. Questioned about the case, the boy's father laughingly said: "To the victor go the spoils." Republicans in Carlinville found, when the local Job Corps program was announced, that the capacity of the program had been filled by the Democratic County Committee without the GOP even knowing there was to be such a program.

—In another Illinois County, a Jop Corps teenager drew a federal salary to announce scores of Little League baseball games, while another was paid a federal salary as assistant to the unpaid manager of the Little League team.

—In Michigan recently, about 100 teenagers from a Job Corps center which Sargent Shriver at the moment was dedicating drove into Kalamazoo and staged a wild riot — damaging a score of buildings, stabbing some youths and generally tearing up the town as best they could. The rioting started when Negro Job Corps teenagers insisted on dancing with white girls at a town dance to which the Job Corpsmen had not been invited.

Don't Want Labor

— When floods struck the Northwest and the Middle West Job Corpsmen declined to help pile sandbags as levees, saying they "didn't come here to do labor." Local high school boys gladly did the job free.

—In Arizona, four Negro Job Corps teenagers now are serving sentences for raping an Indian girl.

—In Kentucky, about 150 teenagers, mostly Negroes (including three from Louisiana), rioted and stabbed white boys and created so much disorder that the rest of the Job Corpsmen fled to nearby homes and towns for safety. Leaders of these rioters demanded "more women" — meaning white teenage "free prostitutes." Job Corps gangs in this camp operated a "protection service" under which the Job Corpsmen had to give the gang half their monthly Job Corps pay or be beaten up, including stabbing. A federal judge, finding a group of the Job Corpsmen guilty in these cases, merely sent them home where they had the privilege of reapplying for admission and gaining it.

—In New Hampsire, a Poverty Program director quit because he was compelled to include sons of the wealthy politicians in his program.

—In Rhode Island, a director was quoted in the press as saying there was no effort to hire youths on the basis of need and that youngsters of wealthy families were given poverty jobs to give sailing lessons to youngsters of equally wealthy families.

—The administrative staff of one anti-poverty program was found to include four civil rights workers who had been arrested in Washington in demonstrations against President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

—Then, of course, there were the well known innumerable cases of sons and daughters and relatives of members of Congress and Democratic Party officials who were given Post Office Department jobs last summer on the grounds of "need" and "poverty."

Perhaps the real "need' in all of this phase of "the Great Society" poverty program is, first to abolish about two-thirds of it, and then to get a national administrator of ability for the remaining one-third in place of Sargent Shriver.

Subcommittee Probes Italian Visit

Conference Is Held With American Reds

THE HOUSE Immigration Subcommittee is investigating the mysterious illegal admittance into the U.S. of a group of top Italian Communists for clandestine conferences with Red leaders in this country.

Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., subcommittee chairman, has information that in a series of meetings in New York the U.S. and Italian Communists discussed plans and strategy to expand and intensify agitation against the war in Viet Nam, and to infiltrate and take over peace and civil rights elements and organizations.

The Italian group was headed by Giulrand Pajetta, No. 2 Communist in his country and chief of the party's foreign section, and Luigi Conte, member of the party's ruling Central Committee. The six others in the group also are influential Reds.

AMONG THOSE they conferred with in New York were Gus Hall, secretary of the U.S. Communist Party, and Henry Winston, Robert Thompson and James Jackson, members of the CP executive committee.

The FBI, which got wind of the Italian group's illegal entry several days after its arrival, attaches the utmost importance to the talks with the U.S. Red leaders. It is known these discussions were similar to others held by the Italian group in Havana and Hanoi.

Still unfathomed is how and why the Italian Reds were admitted to the U.S.

The immigration laws bar entry of Communist Party members unless they have diplomatic status.

Representative Feighan has definitely established that the Italian group carried diplomatic passports and were granted admittance visas by the U.S. embassy in Ottawa.

In applying for the visas, the Italians claimed they were on "official business."

SLICK HOAX — Evidence in Representative Feighan's hands proves conclusively the "diplomatic" passports — which our embassy in Ottawa accepted on face value — were spurious.

Not only has the Italian government flatly denied issuing the passports, but asked the State Department for an explanation of the admittance of the Communists.

The Italian government is sharply irked by the astonishing incident because it recently refused entry to a delegation of North Viet Nam Communists. Rome is protesting that it is highly embarrassing to have the U.S. admit Italian Communists, while the Italian government is barring North Vietnamese Communists — at the behest of the U.S.

In view of all this, the Italian government has asked whether there has been a change of policy by the Johnson administration on the admittance of foreign Communists.

Representative Feighan plans to summon State Department officials for a full account of this astonishing affair, and an unequivocal statement of policy.

Intelligence authorities have informed Feighan that Pajetta recently attended conferences of high - ranking Communists in Moscow and Prague, and was given a major role in creating unrest and upheavals in Latin America.

He is reported to have taken over some of the activities of "Che" Guevara, former close lieutenant of Fidel Castro, who mysteriously dropped out of sight last spring. Pajetta was in Havana in April, and attended one of the last meetings at which Guevara was seen.

Shortly thereafter, Guevara disappeared and hasn't been seen or heard from since.

KENNEDY IN LATIN AMERICA — Senator Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., is utilizing his widely-publicized tour of Latin America to add a new bloc to his vote-wooing rolls.

In addition to the various other elements, groups, factions and interests that he courts, Kennedy has added farmers. In his talks, he is acclaiming tillers of the soil as vital and essential factors in the attainment and preservation of freedom and justice.

This appeal to farmers is repeated over and over as part of a "basic speech" Kennedy is using in the Latin American tour.

The talk varies in details in each country, but the underlying theme is the same, as follows:

"Justice is land for those who live by farming, and all the world has seen that free farmers on their own land are the surest means of an abundant agriculture. You will develop justice and freedom because you believe in them no less than the rest of us.

Nuclear Group Lashes U.S. Viet Nam Policy

THE COMMITTEE for a Sane Nuclear Policy has been stepping up a quasi-legal offensive against the United States' position in South Viet Nam, which has a superficial appeal for the unwary who do not know the history of the thing.

It is the contention of the neutralists and the collaborators that the United States and South Viet Nam defaulted in some way or other on a series of obligations that issued from the Geneva Conference of 1954, and that therefore the North Vietnamese have a considerable legal case to press against us. That is highly to compress the vague objections, so militantly stated, to our presence in South Viet Nam, which usually drool off into dreamy talk about negotiations and what Ho Chi Minh told Quaison - Sackey to tell U Thant to tell Adlai Stevenson to tell Eric Severeid to tell Look Magazine — as though it really matters, inasmuch as Lyndon Johnson is clearly ready to negotiate on terms other than those requiring slavery for all of Viet Nam.

Here are a few data not mentioned by the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE) in their prominently displayed analyses of the origins of the South Viet Nam war.

THE PARTICIPANTS at the Geneva Conference were France, Britain, the United States, Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia, the Soviet Union, Communist China, and the Vietminh regime. The armistice, signed on July 21, 1955, was rejected by a) Viet Nam, and b) the United States. That fact alone renders utterly irrelevant any discussion of treaty or armistice obligations involving Viet Nam and the United States.

The signatory powers created an Armistice Control Commission, composed of representatives of Canada, Poland and India, and charged with the responsibility of enforcing the armistice provisions. It soon became clear that nobody, but nobody, was going to pay any attention whatsoever to the Armistice Control Commission.

For instance, on April 17, 1955, the South Vietnamese appealed to the UN — of all futile things to do — on the grounds that North Viet Nam, in violation of the armistice agreement it had signed, was nevertheless preventing its citizens from migrating south to freedom. Two weeks later, the British Government issued a white paper confirming that the armistice had been violated. So what, was the general reaction.

ON JULY 20, the Government of South Viet Nam announced that it would not cooperate with the North Vietnamese to hold an election a year later, as had been called for by the armistic (which, repeat, the Vietnamese Government did not sign) — because continuing North Vietnamese intimidation of its people guaranteed that they would not be able to vote freely; that therefore the South Vietnamese might well be swamped by rigged Northern votes, bringing an end to any hope of freedom.

The Armistice Agreement also called for neutralizing Laos and Cambodia and, of course, it was only a matter of time before the Communist Pathet Lao, in violation of the armistice, took over effective control of Laos. The agreements also called for demilitarizing the northern and southern sections of Viet Nam.

On April 10, 1956 the British Government replied to a protest from the Soviet Union that in South Viet Nam "foreign military bases are being set up and attempts being made to include South Viet Nam in a military bloc." The British pointed out that whereas French troops had been withdrawn from Viet Nam and the South Vietnamese army had been reduced by 200,000 men, in North Viet Nam the army's strength had been increased from 7 divisions (on July 1954) to 20 divisions.

THE BRITISH note also reminded Ho that South Viet Nam is legally unbound by the armistice agreements, which in fact she had protested against at the Geneva Conference.

Those who have eyes to see never doubted that the original armistice agreement was altogether mischievous and unenforceable. The Geneva Conference, wrote Ambassador Edwin F. Stanton in Foreign Affairs (October 1954) "was indeed a major triumph for the Communists . . . The Geneva agreements have increased the danger. Laos and Cambodia . . . lie defenseless and easy prey to further penetration and subversion by the Communists."

"The Communists," wrote Hanson Baldwin in the New York Times (July 21, 1954), "have scored another major victory in the struggle for the world." The editors of the Times, writing a year later, appeared to agree. "The Geneva agreement terms have not been carried out in good faith and, indeed, only the blindly optimistic would have supposed that they would be. A three-party group of Indians, Poles, and Canadians could not be expected to enforce compliance against the entire Communist world. The whole body has been futile from the beginning."

Now, the same kind of people who hoped vainly that a Geneva protocol would baptize the Communist movement in Asia, are asking for another protocol, whose effect would be to certify the harm done by the first.

RALPH de TOLEDANO

Kremlin Subversion Is Matter Of Record

"PEACEFUL coexistence" is a term which in the Communist world translates as "subversive warfare." No matter how much and how often the Kremlin protests that it is seeking peaceful competition with the free world, it cannot deny that one of the most important functions of its KGB — successor to the MKVD secret police — is the Pakistan Directorate.

This may sound innocuous enough, but it represents the Soviet Union's major effort against the West. Every guerrilla unit under Communist discipline gets its direction from the Partisan Directorate. Every Communist Party member may be tapped by this arm of the KGB for subsersive work or sabotage. The Kremlin spends untold millions of dollars on the training of effectives for its insurgency program. Schools are run in the Soviet Union to teach the fine points of this kind of underground warfare.

What has this got to do with you and me? We don't expect an American version of the Viet Cong or the Castro 26th of July movement to begin operating in the Black Hills or Okeefenokee swamp. And in another area, we could brush aside the possibility of having Partisan Directorate units at work in the United States.

BUT SOMETHING new has been added — nuclear weaponry. And that makes all the difference. Years ago, Medford Evans, recently out of the Atomic Energy Commission, warned that portable components of a nuclear bomb could be smuggled into the United States and assembled here. This would make ICBM bombing of our cities by the Soviet unnecessary. Instead, these bombs could be planted exactly where they would do the most damage and then detonated at the will of the Kremlin.

Mr. Evans received the sneers and contumely of the liberals for his efforts to alert the American government and people. But his predictions were not fantastic at all. From a variety of reliable intelligence sources comes the report that portable atomic demolition bombs have been under production in the Soviet Union for some time.

These reports are highly detailed. The Soviets have one atomic demolition bomb that weighs about 75 pounds, is less than 20 inches in length, and packs a wallop equivalent to 100 tons of TNT. A far more powerful bomb, with a yield of 0.5 kilotons (or 500 tons of TNT), is a two-part infernal machine. Each part weighs about 75 pounds and can be put together in less than half an hour.

According to one intelligence source, these Partisan Directorate atomic weapons have been stored in Cuba, for easy entry into the United States. Soviet embassies in several Latin American countries — including Mexico — have also become arsenals of these hand-carried nuclear weapons. They are equipped with timing devices to protect those who plant them.

Editor's LAGNIAPPE With Jack Gates

SUNDAY POEM

Our poem for today was sent to us by Mrs. Ida Finlay of Olla and was written by Mrs. T. J. Reynolds. It is called:

AUTUMN TIME

Autumn is here in all its glory;
Reminding us of the old, old story.
Of God's creation of man and beast;
And a beautiful world of joy and peace.
But sin entered into this world of ours,
A world of color and beautiful flowers,
And destroyed the peace, content, and pride,
Leaving it torn with sorrow and strife.
Still we have autumn once a year,
Bringing the colors we cherish so dear.
Over hill and valley the autumn dressed trees
Sway back and forth in the gentle breeze.
With all the color our eyes can behold;
Red, yellow, green, orange and gold.
Once again autumn is here,

FROM VIET NAM

It seems we hit the jackpot this week in poems — another one from a serviceman in South Viet Nam.

This one was written by Cpl. Ronald D. Mahute of the Third Marine Division stationed at DaNang Air Base in South Viet Nam. man in South Viet Nam. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williams, 407 Herman Street, West Monroe and has been in South Viet Nam about two months and in the service six years.

It is called:

JUST LONELY

I am so far away,
In a strange and lonely land,
Doing what I must do
Giving but what I can.
The sky is my shelter,
The ground is my bed.
Thoughts of my home
Keep running through my head.
I guess I am just lonely—just lonely.
Does anyone really care?
Can't they realize why we're over here,
Or are all their eyes just blind
To the many, many hours
That I spend alone?
There are so many flowers.
For the "Soldier Unknown."
But I guess I am just lonely.
What happens to those men
Whose lives have come to the bitter end?
Forever they're gone
Forever they're lost
No more to smile
They've paid the cost.
Could there be good,
Where men must die?
Through all the pain
Could happiness derive?
For those who are,
Just lonely.

AN APPLE A DAY

Health hint of the day—Recently scientists tested the familiar proverb, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away" on 400 students at Michigan State University. They found the students who ate the daily apple during two academic quarters made "significantly fewer" calls at the health service clinic. The apple - eaters were notably freer of respiratory and nervous troubles.

AIN'T IT SO — From a local secretary:
A rich man, in his hours of toil,
Burnt barrels and barrels of midnight oil;
His son now keeps his memory green
By burning midnight gasoline.

FROM THE Memphis Commercial Appeal: "The American Bar Association has given its annual prize this year for an essay by an attorney who objected to 'excessive and prejudicial' publicity about the background of Lee Harvey Oswald after he had assassinated President Kennedy.

"Had the attorney lived a hundred years earlier, he might have objected, too, to the press referring to John Wilkes Booth as an actor."

Oh, well, we know some people like that, too.

TO THE CRITICS

Critics of the South are forever poking fun at our language, at least the way we pronounce our words or the way we accent them.

Of course, in our book this is a sign of ignorance of pure and Royal English.

Across the desk came a column from Weldon Owens who writes a column for a Texas paper. He has accumulated some interesting pronounciations common to Texas and I'm sure fit pretty well in some parts of Louisiana as well as other southern states.

MERE — Not to be confused with horses, as flucey etymological circles, may believe. It means the high mogul of the town. (Like Mere Allen C. Thompson of Jackson).

MEER — Something that reflects; to be looked into or used for giving signals during bright sunshine (used extensively in TV westerns).

WURREL — The entire universe, including Texas.

CHURIN — Plural for chile. Like, "We'll let the adults eat now and the churin can wait."

PIREFUL — Means extremely influential or strong. Used in discussing horsepire or automobile engines or in hymns like "There's Pire in the Blood" and Texas Pire & Light Co.

DERRY — This is a place where cows are usually kept for milking, and sew fourth.

AG — Called henfruit also; usually sold by dozen or crates.

MAKE MARY — To become ebullient with job or have a gay time.

WHIRL — Contraction for "where will." Like, Whirl I be at sundown?"

JEVVER — Another contraction. Means "did you ever." Like "Jevver watch a trapper tan lather?"

UERP — This is a foreign country where for favation, rich Texans are going.

HARD — Often confused with something brittle and not too malleable. Actually means to place on payroll. Like "I hard him to plow th' whole works."

FORRID — An anatomical term, meaning the area just above the eyes.

PASTOR — Easterners may confuse this with the clergy. It means some green area in Texas. Usually lush grass where cattle graze.

MEDDER — Similar to pastor, but usually holding finer hay.

ROP — To completely surround or cover, like "It's cole outside, so rop yourself up good."

LESSON IN DROP-OUT

If you're having trouble keeping your young offspring in school, perhaps you ought to pay attention to what Cartoonist Al Capp did for his son a while back.

Last Christmas, Capp said his son came up to him and gave his intentions of dropping out of school. Capp offered no objections. In fact, he drove him right over to the school and helped him check out. But once they got home, Capp insisted his son, Kim, that he go out and get a job. Kim replied that he would — after a vacation.

The cartoonist applied the pressure, however. "Nope, you are to go out tomorrow and start looking for a job," said Capp. "But, dad, I couldn't possibly get anything but a lousy job right away," came the retort. Capp replied that, without training, the youngster would never get anything but a lousy job.

But Kim did get a job. He became a crate carrier at a weekly salary equivalent to the weekly bill for repairing and tuning his sports car. Meanwhile, he woke up to the fact that his schoolboy allowance had been discontinued. Also, credit was stopped at the gas station, clothing store and theatrical and sports ticket agencies.

It wasn't long until young Capp was back in school—this time at night, making up courses to enable him to re - enter college in the fall. These autumn days find Kim back at his studies, learning his lessons one by one. Probably the biggest lesson he'll ever learn, though, is the one dealing with the fact - of - life concerning education. Without it, you just don't have a chance.

Twin Cities Week In Review

Thanks Returned In Mild Weather

By RICHARD TYLER
World Staff Writer

Uncertainty, thy name is Twin City weather. Season watchers got an eye full last week as spring, summer, fall and winter marched in miniature.

The fickle display had spring-blooming flowers and fruit trees peeping out to watch locals munch Thanksgiving turkey. The Christmas lighting display in Monroe was turned on to burn amid temperatures soaring to the high 80s.

TYLER

March's lion might well have been entering as winds gusted Thursday and Friday, capped by a brief, but heavy blow Friday night. The thunderstorm, heralding an about-face in recent mercury readings, played havoc with Christmas decorations, as well as electric service to parts of the city.

Definitely unaffected by any of the above, however, was the usual cheerful reverence with which latter day Pilgrims greeted Thanksgiving. Individual and union services at local churches were well attended and full larders in most pantries brought forth the wherewithal for feasts such as might have shamed Miles Standish, despite all his Indians.

The day, by any accounting, was a grand success, and shouts of, "Hurrah for the pumpkin pie," were heard in the land. The weather, in a good mood, offered thanks with brilliant sunshine and zesty breezes to match the spirit of the occasion, producing a day perfect for family outings and worth thanking Providence for, in itself.

HOLIDAY SEASON

The Twin Cities, simply, were thankful for Thanksgiving and for the welcome holiday season it ushered, bringing that month in the year which makes all the rest seem worthwhile, whatever has gone before.

Gay Christmas lighting displays were activated Wednesday in the Monroe downtown and at several shopping centers, looking ahead to a "bigger than ever" Yule parade upcoming on Dec. 11. Persons who looked closely through store windows likely saw the familiar nattilly-suited figure of the North Pole's most popular export. Santa himself arrived to start taking orders.

He'll be assigned the hero's role, of course, for the Monroe parade, as well as for West Monroe's on Dec. 3. The West Monroe lights will be turned on the same day.

Apart from the public lighting, the drive to make Monroe the best lighted city in Louisiana was gaining steam, as more than 50 residents entered the home decoration contest, co-sponsored by the city and the News-Star—World. Entrants are prizes. Deadline for joining the shooting for a total of $1,350 in competition is set at 5 p.m., Dec. 13. Judging will take place Dec. 17 and winners' names — in 12 geographical divisions and in overall category — will be released Dec. 22.

NOT UNIQUE

The holidays were making headlines last week, but they were in no way unique in that respect.

Education again was a big item, and none was bigger in the local and area news picture than a nationally - watched kidnapping case in Bastrop.

Fortunately, the abduction of eight-year-old Nancy Keller had a happy ending — a reunion with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Keller Jr. — but not before there had passed some anxious hours for the Kellers, for law enforcement officers, other searchers and reader - friends who shared the concern vicariously.

Nancy was missing just under 24 hours Sunday and Monday, before she slipped from a vacant house where she was held and phoned her parents. Taken into custody in connection with the incident was Douglas Charles Emerich, an 18-year-old Morehouse youth, being held in the Ouachita jail. The Morehouse Grand Jury will consider the case in a special session Dec. 15, asked by Dist. Atty. Albin Lassiter.

THREE ITEMS

Three main items made education peculiarly appealing — the Louisiana Teachers' Association convention in New Orleans, a public forum on Ouachita school operations, and the appointment of a new state education board president.

The board elected officers for 1966 naming Enoch T. Nix of Bossier to succeed Monroe's W. E. Whetstone, starting in January. Nix was unopposed for the post.

Meanwhile, the L.T.A. convention assembled Monday-Wednesday. Action was postponed for one year, as the teachers essentially divided north and south, on formation of a political pressure wing for the organization, with the north generally opposed to such a tactic. Twelve local educators were elected to offices at the convention — the 71st.

The West Monroe Chamber of Commerce's public forum Monday night on alleged inequities from the dual operation of both a City of Monroe and a Ouachita Parish school system ended with an appeal — that residents contact their legislators. Sen. Jamar Adcock of Monroe, due to speak, could not appear, but pledged to lead the fight for legislation to mark firm boundaries between the systems. He said in a letter a Constitutional amendment will be required.

Taking a last look at education for the week, stories noted the appointment at Northeast College of Dr. Benjamin F. Cooper Jr. as dean of the School of Pharmacy, and the setting of mid-year commencement at the school for Jan. 25, with 162 degree candidates.

MORE ON ODOR

City workmen in Monroe were busy late in the week installing a second chlorinator on the southside as the extended battle with unpleasant odors in that area entered a new phase. The smells, which came on the scene, residents maintain, about the time the city's sewage treatment plant went into operation, are thought to originate with the formation of gases as effluents back up in heavily-loaded lines near the plant. Chlorine is being used to attack the gases already at one location — on Texas Avenue — while the second chlorinator — at the Standifer and South Grand pump station — should be operational by next Tuesday. Commissioner H. W. McSherry expects chlorine will be the key to the problem.

BUSY CORNER

Bringing this Sunday's chatter to a close, our quick-look busy corner rundown of other personalities and events in last week's news pages is an active one. To wit:

Monroe Little Theatre kicked off Friday a seven-performance run of its production of the John Parick comedy, "Everybody Loves Opal," at Strauss Playhouse on Lamy Lane. Shows were given Friday and Saturday, another is on tap for 8:15 tonight. Three 8:15 stagings are set the same days this week, plus a 2:30 p.m. matinee next Sunday. Marillyn Taylor is Opal.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Rep. Lawrence Gibbs of Monroe as the 1966 state campaign chairman of the March of Dimes. Gibbs, a local radio executive, will lead thousands of volunteers throughout the state in the January campaign to raise funds to support the health organization's efforts against birth defects. His appointment was announced in New York by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation. A three-term representative, Gibbs is chairman of the House Education Committee.

The annual Mothers' March for Muscular Dystrophy was conducted Monday night, with Capt. R. L. Frantom, Monroe fireman, heading the effort. Firemen participated in the drive, along with several civic clubs and the usual host of individual women dedicated to the attack on the great child crippler.

Meanwhile, the annual United Givers' Fund effort to support 13 parish-based agencies failed in its rush to reach its $284,934 goal by Thanksgiving Day, and was extended for an indefinite period. Up near 75 per cent, with close to $211,000 collected, the fund volunteers will continue until the goal is attained, J. C. Loftin, general campaign chairman, indicated.

The Twin Cities Council on Alcoholism was preparing to embark on Alcoholism Information Week, which begins today. The fact that uncontrolled drinking is the nation's fourth - ranking health problem will be stressed in an increased public education effort, together with the fact that the disease is treatable.

The Salvation Army chose its advisory board for the coming year and re-elected the board officers for another term. Returning to the chairmanship is Fred Brownlee. Herbert Walker was made secretary and two new names appeared on the board list — W. F. Bragg and William Husted Jr.

West Monroe's Toni Ketchell, 26 - year - old airline stewardess and one of four survivors of the Nov. 8 jet crash in Kentucky, was listed during the week as improved. Her name was removed from the critical list at a Covington, Ky. hospital. Toni suffered compound leg fractures and internal injuries in the catastrophe that claimed 58 lives.

Recently named by Gov. John McKeithen to the Mississippi River Bridge Authority, James W. Moore of Monroe was chosen at an authority meeting for the committee studying proposed New Orleans bridge sites. The group will recommend a site. Moore also is earning laurels as vice chairman of the state highway board.

Northeast Louisiana State College facultyman L. L. Price received the Layman's Award for community contributions from the Monroe Kiwanis Club.

Plans were announced for the showing of a special film, "The Restless Ones," turned toward sociological problems facing today's American, particularly the young American. Backed by local civic, church and education groups, the engagement is scheduled for Dec. 13-18 at the Eastgate Cinema.

The World's Week In Focus

War Shadows Bountiful Harvest

By Oland Silk

AMERICANS OBSERVED the second anniversary of the assassination of President Kennedy, the beginning of President Johnson's third year in the White House, and a bountiful Thanksgiving last week. The saddest note of the holiday season was that sounded from the Saigon front where escalation and casualties intensified.

"I will do my best; that is all I can do; I ask your help."

Those were the words of Lyndon Johnson in Washington, Nov. 22, 1963 when he took over following the murder of President Kennedy. Since that time he has received a lot of help, including a whopping landslide victory over Sen. Barry Goldwater.

IN HIS TWO YEARS, the President has shown himself to be a masterful wielder of power. There has been an ever-increasing enlargement of the presidency, a steady decrease in legislative and state power. Congress passed one of the biggest bundles of domestic legislation in history. The longest continuous economic expansion in peacetime history continues. Johnson's famous "consensus" — a word signifying broad agreement between the public, minorities, labor and business — remains intact, but only by a thread after his row with the aluminum and copper industries. Johnson has retained old Kennedy men in five posts: State (Rusk), Defense (McNamara), Interior (Udall), Agriculture (Freeman), and Labor (Wirtz). The remaining cabinet posts are filled by his own men. A man to run the new department of Housing and Urban Development hasn't been chosen.

JOHNSON

Opinion polls give Johnson a high rating after two years. At least 63 per cent think he is doing a good job. Despite the high marks, pollsters find few people who like him. A London Economist writer reported last month. "The businessmen your correspondent met rarely expressed any personal liking for the President — not did anyone else for that matter!"

THE BIGGEST ALBATROSS around his neck is the Viet Nam war. He was said to "grieve" over the latest reports of mounting U. S. casualties — 240 in one week — the third consecutive week of increases. The largest and bloodiest engagement of the war centered in Ia Drang Valley where North Vietnamese Regulars replaced the "pajama boys" (guerrillas) in head-on fighting with the American First Cavalry Division. Over 1,000 enemy dead were counted. On paper it looked good, but everyone wonders what will happen if Hanoi decides to go all-out to win — and pour its 300,000 yet-uncommitted Army into the fray.

A SMALL TRICKLE from this giant force began moving into the central highlands where a death struggle seems to be developing. Reinforcements arrive daily for an estimated 22,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars already in the area. They drift down in small groups, then re-group or join existing units. Total Communist strength in the highlands is believed to exceed the combined Allied strength. And it seems clear Hanoi continued to build up faster than the U.S.

Increased bombing operations against infiltration routes was promised by Secretary of Defense McNamara as he embarked on another trip to Saigon via Europe. This, plus allied efforts to keep VC from the 3,400 - ton rice harvest in the VO Dat Valley, was the latest strategic development.

Letter From Ho Chi Minh

PEACE TALK CONTINUED. Communist Romania is allegedly acting as a mediary between the Viet protagonists. This was the direct result of Senator Mansfield's mystery mission to Moscow and Viet Nam.

However, a letter from Hanoi's Ho Chi Minh to Dr. Linus Pauling, famous pacifist and Nobel Prize winner, indicated the Reds were not interested in peace. Pauling and other Nobel winners had written world leaders pleading for negotiations.

Ho's letter expressed satisfaction that "many progressive sections of the American people, including tens of thousands of American youths and students, thousands of professors, scientists, writers, artists, and many religious authorities have courageously come out against the Johnson administration, staging protest demonstrations and rallies or expressing their resolute refusal to join the Army and take part in the massacre of the Vietnamese people."

The letter thus supported the impression that the Communist camp regards the American "get out of Viet Nam" movement as a vast one which could eventually force a U.S. retreat in South Viet Nam. So far, the demonstrations have been held ly vocal minorities. But the Reds picture them applying great pressure on Washington.

One late development: British Premier Harold Wilson, who will visit the White House soon, announced he will sound out Moscow to avert "a major land war in Asia, or worse."

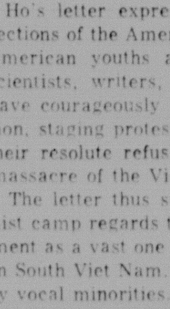
The Snowdens Say Goodbye

PRINCESS MARGARET and Lord Snowden left the U.S., laden with gifts and warm memories of a 20-day whirlwind tour. The Snowdens visited Hollywood, water skied in Arizona, dined at the White House and danced in Manhattan.

The royal visitors appeared deeply moved by their experience. Before enplaning at Kennedy airport, the British princess turned to friends and said: "This is a very sad moment. We have seldom if ever experienced such a wonderful three weeks. We hope we can come back again soon."

For much of the tour the couple was wrapped in tight formalities, and a fast-moving schedule. One highlight of their trip was a "fun party" at the Katzenbach's in Washington. Mrs. Katzenbach, wife of the attorney general, got the nod from the British embassy over other party givers who were clawing to host royalty.

Most women were ecstatic over the little (5 foot, 1 inch) princess, but the Women's Wear Daily, largest fashion newspaper in America, struck a discord in reviewing her styles. Carped WWD: her wardrobe was "too old and too matronly, skirts a bit too long. The hats, scaled way too large and are so old-fashioned, so fussy. The accessories — too big, too bulky, too outdated."



MARGARET

THE FAULT - FINDING recital continued. "That fur coat, motheaten, ratty—it just has to go." Other reprimands included too high heels, wearing cotton print sundresses in the country with pearls and a town handbag. (Why such satchels for handbags when you've got ladies in wait-

The paper raved about her natural beauty — skin, eyes, and hair. It liked her coats, and sports clothes. Even so, it concluded that "even at her best, there was always one thing wrong."

It seemed the princess couldn't have done worse if she had smoked and chewed gum in public.

Darien Again, Tourist Jailed

THE TOWN OF DARIEN, Connecticut was embarrassed last year by a teen-age drinking scandal. Darien is an elite commuter suburb. Thirteen months ago four socially prominent couples and several other adults were arrested on charges of serving liquor to minors at private parties. The charges resulted from reported drinking at coming-out affairs for debutantes. A young girl was killed in an auto crash after the parties. A youth named Michael Smith was found guilty of negligent homicide in the girl's death. He has an appeal pending.

Last week, Darien was stunned again. Eight youths, including the key figure in the drinking furor, Smith, were arrested for possession of narcotics. Police found marijuana in Smith's garage apartment. Arrested with the 8 boys were 2 teen-age girls. They were charged with violating the Connecticut narcotic act, and freed on bond. The youngsters could each be fined $500 to $3,000 or sentenced to 5 to 10 years in prison, or both.

THERE WAS trouble from another youthful minority — high school cheaters. School officials reported cheating on examinations was common — and in some areas, it was getting worse. It definitely was in New York City, and much of it came from those near the top of their classes who are competing for the limited number of openings in the Ivy League colleges. Some students cheat because of parental pressure to get better grades, others to impress college entrance boards, still others just to avoid flunking. Whether cheating was increasing nationwide was a moot question. It's "one of those constants" said one educator. One Columbus, Ohio, student sadly moaned his plight. He was assured by a teacher that a "C" was an acceptable grade. The boy said, "you tell that to my folks. They think there are only three grades — A, B, and grounded."

A 27-YEAR-OLD American tourist learned the way of Soviet Justice last week. In September, Newcomb Mott, a textbook salesman, decided to climb through a Norway reindeer fence into Russia. All he wanted was some vodka, souvenirs, and a Russian stamp on his passport. Guards arrested him for illegal border crossing.

MOTT

Put on trial in Murmansk and defended by a Russian lawyer who asked leniency and a suspended sentence for him, Mott was found guilty and sentenced to 18 months in a labor camp. He said the sentence was unjust. The U. S. said it was harsh and extreme. Mott held a tearful reunion with his parents of Sheffield, Mass. before being carted off to prison. The whereabouts of the labor camp to which he was assigned was unknown. His lawyer planned to appeal.

Dominican Plot Crushed, Rio Talks

THE PROVISIONAL government of President Hector Garcia-Godoy of the Dominican Republic has always been on shaky ground. Godoy was on target last week. Dominican troops and national police crushed a subversive plot by extreme rightists. Sources said 30 plotters sought to overthrow the Godoy regime, which is propped up by American and OAS forces.

U. S. proposals for beefing up the inter-American system received favorable response from most foreign ministers of the 19-nation Organization of American states meeting in Rio. Key proposals were a call on the American republics to consider earmarking forces which could move quickly in emergencies, and a pledge to continue aid in hemispheric development beyond the 10-year span of the Alliance for Progress, due to end in 1971. President Johnson added, however, that U. S. assistance will be determined in connection with the amount of self-help and mutual help shown by the recipient countries.

SECRETARY OF STATE Rusk told the delegates point-blank that the U. S. will continue to intervene, alone if necessary, to defend the Western Hemisphere from Communism. But he stressed the U. S. would much prefer to have collective, fast-moving support from the OAS. Reforms of the OAS charter are being written and will be implemented next year. The changes are expected to improve hemisphere security machinery.

Smoked out by the New York Times, Secretary McNamara admitted European allies had nuclear warheads, but the U. S. retained authority over their use. All A-weapons are battlefield types incapable of reaching targets within the Soviet Union.

Tidelands Windfall -- At Last

THE LONG, ARDUOUS Louisiana tidelands controversy coughed and rattled to a surprising piece-meal settlement, with the lion's share still a bitter bone of contention. The federal government filed a motion with the U.S. Supreme Court for an interim adjustment freeing certain areas from the boundary dispute. The state warmly welcomed the windfall-to-be.

The action will mean $35 million for Louisiana in impounded tideland funds, approximately $1,600,000 in back taxes from the oil firms operating in the areas — a total cash payment to the state of $36,600,000. There would be another $4.8 million in annual revenues from the new areas under state control.

The area to be permanently released comprises approximately 150,000 acres and contains about 190 producing wells.

GOV. MCKEITHEN declared the state isn't "giving up a single thing. We're going to do everything we can to go after what's left." Indeed, the pleading was filed in order to pave the way for the final legal battle over the ownership of the disputed tidelands area. It will free the attorney general, Dean Hebert, and other lawyers handling Louisiana's case, to push the fight to have the court recognize the approved inland water line as the coast line of Louisiana. The state claims a 3-league (10.5 miles) seaward boundary. The federal government recognizes only three miles. No one has ever agreed where the shoreline should be from where the seaward boundary would be marked.

Lest anyone get their hopes up, state laws spell out that most of the tidelands oil money will be used toward retirement of state bond debt. About $4 million of it will go to coastal parishes where the oil was produced. Back severance taxes will go to public school support.

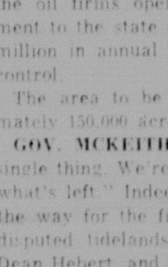
"Elsie" Killed Temporarily

LOUISIANA teachers adopted a compromise resolution putting off action for one year on forming a political wing — the Louisiana Council for the Improvement of Education (LCIE) or "Elsie."

Proponents of Elsie want the body to work and elect candidates sympathetic to teachers' demands. Opponents from North Louisiana, led by the Caddo delegation, were instrumental in killing the proposal for this year.

North Louisiana teachers called the proposed formation of the 400,000-member pressure group "unprofessional." Joseph Martina, president the Louisiana Teachers Association (LTA) meeting in convention in New Orleans, led the move to organize teachers into a "single voice."

DELEGATES RECEIVED mixed reactions from state legislators. Generally speaking, the legislators were divided geographically, as were the teachers. South Louisiana for Elsie, North against.



WRIGHT

The membership heard State Superintendent of Education Bill Dodd call for more money to attract and retain qualified teachers in its public school system.

A resolution asking for annual cost-of-living increases following full implementation of teachers' salary requests was approved.

M. E. Wright of Port Sulphur was elected president of LTA, succeeding Martina.

DISCOVERY OF THE WEEK: tooth decay is contagious. Scientists claim that it can be caught by kissing. If you have a good set of choppers and wed somebody with a mouthful of cavities, you've had it. For years dentists thought decay was hereditary.

Dynamic Programs To Aid Poor In The United States

By BEM PRICE
Associated Press Writer

The war to end poverty in the richest nation on earth is best described, perhaps, at this point as a light skirmish.

Whatever the claims made at federal anti-poverty headquarters, the Office of Economic Opportunity, the evidence from five major cities — New York, Washington, Cleveland, Chicago and Los Angeles — indicates the war is only now beginning to emerge from the planning stage.

While there are troops in the trenches, they are not sufficiently organized and equipped yet for an all-out assault.

Indeed, there are places where the widely heralded war on poverty is still a matter of vague rumor.

For instance, the Rev. Paul Younger, $7,000-a-year Baptist director of the Protestant Ministry to the Poor in Cleveland's central district, says: "There is very little awareness among the people I encounter that a poverty program even exists."

Although the antipoverty program is barely a year old, there is already a developing dispute over whether it is an exercise in futile wheel-spinning.

All boiled down the antipoverty program, to succeed, means:

Jobs will have to be found for the unemployed; better jobs will have to be found for the underpaid and underemployed.

It means the poor must acquire a social and economic mobility they do not now possess, by and large.

It means improved schooling, housing and medical care.

Joe Kershaw, OEO's director of planning and evaluation, said in an interview these assumptions appeared valid to him.

There are 11 distinct programs under OEO jurisdiction and, through its first nine months of operation, OEO claims to have aided 1,735,000 of the poor directly and 2,080,000 indirectly.

OEO's current announced goal is direct aid to the 3,009,000 of the poor in 1966 and indirect aid to 2,893,000.

The Senate Committee on Labor and Welfare has called the community action programs the central core of the antipoverty war and said all other programs "will contribute to and reinforce the efforts of the community to strike at poverty at its source."

These agencies are supposed to sweep all the old programs, plus some new ones, into the same tent and see that they are coordinated for an attack on the causes of poverty.

The services offered through the community programs include preschool training for poor children, aged 4 to 6, jobs for youths 16 to 21, consumer counseling, recreation, remedial education, exposure of the poor to cultural activities to broaden their horizons and goals, homemaking advice, adult education, job training, legal aid and advice on health and hygiene.

Some cities have brought the program across the board, others have selected portions.

One of the basic premises is that the poor must be trained to help the others help themselves, and to make the numerous services available to those in need.

Another premise is that all the services, including welfare, must be available at one-stop neighborhood centers within easy walking distance for those in the neighborhood served.

At these centers, in theory, will also be found people who can offer aid in employment, small business loans, legal and medical aid.

As matters now stand, these community programs are only now being implemented in cities from coast to coast and some cities are, of course, far more advanced than others.

One of the trail blazers for what is now the nation's poverty program is Dr. Kenneth Clark, a psychologist at City College of New York.

Clark was one of those who drew the blueprints for the Harlem antipoverty youth programs which, in turn, provided some of the guidelines for the national program.

Earlier this year Clark resigned from the Harlem poverty operation, saying it was becoming a political vehicle. He didn't specify how.

In an interview, Clark classed the federal program as a study in motion without real accomplishment, holding that "it is a program of form without substance."

Clark also said, "The only standard by which to measure the success of the program is the measure of social change it brings about and I see none, here or anywhere else."

Can the program be made to work?

"Yes," said Clark, "but what is lacking is tough-minded and independent men with a no d——— foolishness approach. The idea up to now seems to be: Be gracious and don't rock the boat. It is, essentially, a public-relations approach."

Criticism of the program was probably inevitable, considering the haste with which it was put together.

There is an obvious impatience among spokesmen for the poor — chiefly the Negro poor — from New York to Los Angeles for immediate results.

After weighing the problem of eliminating poverty from the nation, OEO is thinking in terms of a full generation before victory.

In any event, President Johnson announced the war in January 1964 and outlined his battle plans to Congress March 16. Portions of the plan were authorized in April and the whole package in August.

It was not until Aug. 8, 1964, that Congress appropriated funds for the program and established OEO.

Johnson gave the job of directing OEO to Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law to the late President John F. Kennedy. Shriver is also director of the Peace Corps.

Congress' initial appropriation was $793 million to carry the program to the end of the 1965 fiscal year last June 30. The current appropriation is $1.5 billion.

OEO pays 90 per cent of the costs; the community, 10 per cent. If the community is too poor to pay even 10 per cent then OEO can foot the entire bill. By 1967 OEO and the communities are supposed to split the poverty war costs 50-50.

By Shriver's estimate there are 35 million poor in the nation, including 12 to 15 million children.

The basic yardstick for being classed as poor is a family income of $3,000 a year or less; $4,000 if the family lives in a large urban area.

Leon Keyserling, Washington economist chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under Harry S. Truman, told a House committee he doubted if the poverty program as now constituted and funded could do more than a fraction of the job — maybe 7 per cent.

Kershaw, OEO's long-range planner, agreed to a certain extent.

"I have," said Kershaw, "projected the long range costs of doing the whole job and the cost is astronomical. The only reason we are considering the job in the first place is that we are now rich enough to do it."

The clear assumption behind the poverty law is that the old social welfare approach has been generally a failure; that new approaches must be tried which will offer hope and dignity through a program of self-help.

The basic message of the poverty program: if you are willing and able, there is no need to be poor.

In seeking this new approach the law specifies that all programs shall be "developed, conducted and administered with the maximum participation of the residents of the area and the members of the groups to be served."

This has been interpreted to mean that the poor must be involved at all stages of the program from the slum block up. It means organization of the poor to select their representatives.

Further, there are those who hold that the federal law establishes the poor as a distinct and favored political group.

One result of the involvement-of-the-poor concept has been an interminable wrangle inside communities and between communities and OEO over whether the poor are truly represented.

The debate has centered around what is "maximum," what is "feasible," who organizes the poor anyhow and whether those hard core poor are really capable of articulating their needs, planning and administering.

OEO is the sole judge of whether the poor are adequately represented in community planning and, whether OEO likes to admit it, OEO is involved in local politics.

This has raised for local politicians the question of whether the poor can be organized to fight City Hall.

The question of representation held up federal funds to Los Angeles — until last summer's Watt riots.

It is still an abiding question in Cleveland and Chicago.

The Rev. Mr. Younger said Cleveland had designated five poverty areas from which representatives would be elected for planning purposes.

These, he said, are too few; there are really about 12 such poverty areas.

By keeping the poverty area designations down to five, Younger said, traditionally hostile groups have to be united to vote on a representative, and then the question arises of whether the representative really represents all the poor in his area. Younger said it was a disruptive, divide-and-rule tactic.

One of the more vocal groups in Chicago is The Woodlawn Organization, headed by the Rev. Lynward Stevenson, a Baptist minister.

"Basically," said Stevenson, "there are two things wrong with the program: it does not involve the poor. It still gives a handout. The antipoverty program is being used just to further the cause of Mayor Richard Daley."

Stevenson's quarrel seemed basically, that his group had only 21 of the 75 memberships on the Poverty Operations Board. He said he felt it should be higher, especially since the other board members were drawn from city officials and the upper middle classes.

Deton J. Brooks, director of the Chicago Opportunity Committee, insists the poor are involved, adding "there is also the practical problem of getting the programs off the ground and I can see no reason for not selecting some of the middle class and the wealthy for the simple reason that the ones at the top are usually the ones who have to pass on the money."

"Involvement," Brooks added, "is a two-way street."

There is in all this discussion the danger that the quarrel over who is going to represent the poor will end by obscuring the problems of the poor.

A program of OEO's magnitude is impossible to assess. At bottom the poverty war is a welter of local programs, each of which has to be viewed separately.

THE WAR ON Poverty is starting its second year, but a number of the poor don't even know it's been declared. The Rev. Paul Younger, director of the Protestant Ministry to the Poor in the Central District of Cleveland, Ohio, finds "very little awareness" of the program "among the people I encounter." He stands amid trash cans in Cleveland's Hough District. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

A Library: How Small Town Move Starts

By JANICE CLARK
Correspondent

Once upon a time there was a little sawmill town surrounded on all sides by tall trees which stretched for miles in all directions. There was no library in this town, and no bookstore. The only way to get a book was to borrow one or to join a mail order book club. Or one could set out over dirt roads for one of the big cities which lay from 50 to 150 miles beyond the surrounding forest and buy a book.

This sounds like a story from the dim, distant past; but it was the way things were just 30 years ago in Crossett, Ark.!

Some of the women in the town were restless over the dearth of books and organized a "reading circle" in which they planned to share their literary resources. And so the Crossett Book Club was formed in November, 1935, in the home of Mrs. D. C. Hastings, with 17 women dedicated to "stimulate reading among its individual members, to elevate the literary tastes of each member, and to encourage better reading in the community."

The women met again in December of that year to adopt a constitution and by-laws, and the December meeting has been their date for celebrating their birthday ever since. There were 24 women at this meeting and the ladies decided to close membership at that number. By holding their numbers down they could continue to meet in the homes which they have done to this day. However, it became a very popular club, and pressure of women wanting "in" finally resulted in their raising their membership to 30. There it stands, although the club has always had a waiting list.

The oldest club in Crossett, the Crossett Book Club has met regularly, with members reviewing popular books, books on art, music and any subject in which members showed interest, including the classics. They have brought guest speakers to the community and set one meeting a year as "guest day," when they've invited friends to join in hearing some distinguished speaker. Many times the minutes of the meetings include the statement, "Delicious refreshments were served." And that has, indeed, been true.

CHARTER MEMBER Mrs. W. W. Hines reviews the works of A. J. Cronin at the November meeting of the Crossett Book Club. There are only three charter members still in the club.

"EXCEPT FOR . . ."

So for 30 years the Crossett Book Club has met and discussed books and enjoyed "delicious refreshments" very much as thousands of book clubs have done over the country — except for one particular achievement. And that achievement involved their deviating from their firmly announced policy that they would not be a money-raising group. Every group in town, it seemed to them when they organized, was always busy raising money for something; and these ladies wanted to relax and simply enjoy their books and "elevate" the taste of each member. But there was the last phrase in that by-law — that they were to "encourage better reading in the community."

How can you encourage better reading in a community that has no books? This remained a completely unsolved problem until about 1937 when the Works Progress Administration funds became available for helping communities such as Crossett to establish libraries. The Book Club voted to pitch in and try to arouse community effort to fill out the available WPA funds for a library. Mrs. W. W. Hines and Mrs. L. J. Arnold, both charter members of the Club, headed a drive to secure books, and the club voted $10 toward the effort — and the Crossett Library was born. From there on out for ten years the Crossett Book Club scarcely had a meeting at which ways of making money for the Library were not discussed.

The women scoured the town for donations of books and money; they gave huge benefit bridge parties, rummage sales, and lured the men's civic clubs into contributing to the fund. The minutes of the club through all those years always included the persistent quest for books and funds from whoever was chairman of the library committee.

And the people of Crossett began to discover books! Children who had lived their whole lives in Crossett were invited to a Saturday morning story hour at the library, and average Saturday check-outs jumped from 10 to 110—and kept soaring.

It became apparent that the library was here to stay, and that it must have more than donations to keep it going. Mrs. P. F. Watzek, who had been chairman of the library committee of the club during part of the fund-raising ordeal, and was then chairman of the library board, brought petitions to the club for the ladies to circulate about town asking that a one-mill tax be placed on the ballot in November 1948 for support of the Library. The question was put on the ballot and was defeated by the voters. However, the persistent women, with renewed zeal, circulated petitions again for the tax to be placed on the 1949 ballot. This time, as they knocked on doors about town they stopped to give a real sales pitch over the need for a real library in Crossett. The tax was approved by the people in 1949, and the stage was set for one of the finest libraries for a city of the size of Crossett in the state.

WOULDN'T FORGET

While other people and organizations about town helped in building the library, it was the women of the Crossett Book Club who refused to forget that little item in their by-laws which they took as a real mandate to "encourage better reading in the community;" it was these women who made the difference between the first-class library the community has today and the average collection of average books in most small-town libraries.

In 1950, when the one-mill tax first went to the library there were a total of 19,999 books circulated. In 1964 there were 50,960 books circulated. Last year more than 50 per cent of the library budget went into research books, which brings the high school children to the library in droves, as well as adults interested in the sciences, archeology, art, biography, religion, history or geography. (As America becomes increasingly involved all over the world, the librarian reports that interest in the latter two categories has shown marked increase.)

And now when the Crossett Book Club observes its 30th birthday at its December meeting, the women can sit back and enjoy their program and their "refreshments," with no urgent fund-raising projects to worry over. Furthermore, they no longer need to borrow each other's books to have something to read, but just try to keep abreast of the rich diet of reading matter which is flowing steadily into the Crossett library on Main Street largely due to the determined efforts of a small group of women to "encourage better reading in the community."

Send Messages

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana Radio said Saturday that 18 organizations in Communist Cuba sent messages of support to the Washington demonstrators against the war in Viet Nam.

2 Arrested After Bomb Blast Here

The two were arrested after police received a complaint from E. A. Coon of 106 Tupelo St. that a bomb had gone off in his carport at 7:45 p.m. Investigation revealed that it was made with .22 caliber rifle shells. The bomb did no damage. Officer quoted the youths as saying "it was just a prank." Juvenile authorities will handle the case.

In other action, West Monroe police booked Thomas R. Block, 35, of Rt. 5, Box 112, West Monroe, with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. He was apprehended on North Seventh at 11:20 p.m.

Booked in Monroe for DWI was Wilson W. Bridges, 42, of 1115 Olive St., Monroe, apprehended on Adams Street at 9:45 p.m.

Booked for burglary Friday was Huey P. Long, 27, of 605 Adams St., Monroe.

Mother Of Local Pathologist Dies

Mrs. Elian Klam of Brooklyn, N. Y., mother of a local pathologist, Dr. Najeeb Klam of the Monroe Medical Diagnostic Laboratories, died Saturday afternoon in a New York hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Klam was 82 years old and had lived in New York for the past 65 years. She was born in Damascus, Syria, and was a member of the Greek Orthodox Church.

She is survived by six other children, 19 grandchildren and three great - grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday in Brooklyn. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery there.

The family requests that any memorials be made in the form of a donation to any charity organization.

Richard Enwright

Paradise Valley

"There are one hundred eighty - nine thousand dollars in this room," Judy McHale said casually. "We keep about a million up front where the action is," she added. Clever and energetic machines crank through nickels, dimes, quarters, and silver dollars. They separate, count, and sort the never ending silver stream, and finally stack the piles in neat, wrapped rolls. It is another day at the famous Mint Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas.

Up front, there really is action. A thousand slot machines and scores of crap and blackjack tables work frantically to stay with the crowds, and a roulette wheel joyfully careens around as the little white ball scuttles into a convenient number. "Great heavens, I won!" a lady screams and leaps into the air.

Suddenly, from the center of the great casino comes the vibrant throb of an ancient oriental gong. "It's Barrel O' Nickels Grabfest!" the emcee shouts. "Do we have a winner yet?" A hostess reaches into the wire squirrel cage and clutches a number. "Position 711!" she cries. "A natural, a real natural! By gosh, a really natural!" the emcee, now beside himself, exclaims.

In a few short seconds, a great lady approaches the stage on which rests a huge barrel of nickels, a tremendous white clock, and another coin counter similar to those in the currency room. "I'm from Iowa," she says and crashes onto the already overburdened stage.

You've got twelve seconds. Use one hand and throw all the nickels you can into the red bag," the emcee states. Another gong, and the twelve seconds is over. There has been a furious handling of coinage, and the tireless machine cranks out forty - seven dollars even! "Don't forget, free beer, champagne, and buffalo barbeque! There's a great ice show at four in the Merri-Mint Theater, and the Watusi Dancers start at ten!" he shouts.

In the night outside, there's more than enough illumination to supply the needs of an ordinary camera. Traffic races up and down the street, and the glass elevator at the Mint jumps into the sky. The sound of cranking slot handles is a steady throb, and more than often, silver jingles onto the floors in front of the big machines. "Jackpot on the first darn quarter!", a heavy laden man roars excitedly.

Out on the strip, supper shows are over, and the midnighters are yet to come. At the Fabulous Flamingo, business tears on as usual. Boasting the world's largest hotel casino, the Flamingo, like the Sahara, Thunderbird, Dunes, and other beautiful and remarkable strip "houses," is a city within itself. "There's nobody unhappy here," Joe, the ex-boxer says. "Even the losers love the place!"

Out near the lake - like swimming pool which gleams emerald in the crisp, western night, there is soft music and the palms sway. A couple enjoys refreshment at a candlelit table near the water. In the distance, the Black Mountains stand out in the sparkling night sky. Wayne Newton croons "Red Roses for a Blue Lady," and steaks are plentiful in the Candlelight Lounge." In Las Vegas, steaks cost less than the average chef's salad at home. "We're not selling food here; we're selling fun," Joe continues and asks, "Where else can you see the biggest names in show biz, swim in the biggest man-made lake, ski in the mountains, and Watusi at midnight all in the same day?"

In truth, "Vegas" is probably one of the world's best tourist bargains. Hotels, food, entertainment, and spectacular surroundings go for a song. "Lunch is a good time," John Goodwill says, standng in front of the amazing eighty - five hundred seat palace-like Convention and Tourist Center. "You can get the best smorgasbord — all you can eat — for a buck and a half almost anywhere on the strip, and the Chuckwagons have them for ninety-nine cents. This is the best convention town in the world— twenty-five thousand hotel rooms and more on the way. The biggest names in show business fight to get a spot on the strip. We had twenty - two thousand dentists here last week, and major golf courses boast three PGA tournaments this year," he adds.

At the midnight hour, there is more traffic on the strip and uptown than on the Brooklyn Bridge during the five o'clock rush. But it wasn't always this happy booming way. Time was when the valley was an Indian home. Because of the many artesian wells and the underground rivers, the original Americans roamed and camped in the valley and the nearby Charleston Mountains. Settlers heard of Las Vegas and stopped on their way to southern California. Later, the Santa Fe pushed through the valley, and Las Vegas was on the way.

After the war, it was touch and go as the strip went up and the rackets tried to move in. Now, it's all different and wonderfully legit.

MRS. MAURICE HESTOR, of DeBastrop Drive, visits Gibson's Discount on Louisville to see a new stereo. Alfred Frost, of the store's appliance department points out some of the desireable features of the set in a furniture-built cabinet. Westinghouse, Admiral, RCA and other famous makes are featured in their stereo set, radios, record players, etc. in the appliance section.

JASPER HADDAD, of Haddad Hardware and Sporting Goods, Pine at 5th Street, displays a Zenith color TV set in the firm's appliance department, one of their smartest furniture styled sets. They also feature a complete line of Zenith color and black and white sets in a choice of styles and sizes. The store also offers a wide selection of all home appliance.

VINCENT ZAGONE, of the Appliance Center, 1020 No. 4th, recommends a dishwasher for a wife's Christmas gift. Here he shows a General Electric which is exceedingly popular with women. The firm carries a full line of GE Household Appliances, radio, TV and record players, as well as the full line of GE small appliances that are big hits as gifts.

State Restaurant President Slates Talk Monday

Owen Brennan, president of the Louisiana Restaurant Association, will speak at the Monday, 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Northeast Chapter of the association to be held at the Holiday Inn.

Brennan is the managing partner of Brennan's Restaurant in New Orleans and has worked in every capacity with the firm since he was 13 years old. He officially entered the restaurant business in 1956, then in 1960 he spent 14 weeks in Bordeaux, France, working in vineyards and restaurants in that area.

He is the youngest member of the Chevaliers du Tastevin, a renouned international fourmet society.

The Louisiana Restaurant Association now has some 748 members in seven chapters throughout the state. E. G. Davis is president of the local chapter.

In his talk on "Action, Program and Progess of the LRA," Brennan will review the accomplishments of the organization during the past years and will point out plans and programs for the coming year. He said he plans to stress, particularly, the areas of legislation and education affecting the food service industry.

Will File Losses

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An official of the Internal Revenue Service said Saturday an estimated 30,000 persons in Louisiana will file losses on their income tax returns because of Hurricane Betsy.

Chester A. Usry, district director of the IRS in New Orleans, who made the estimate, said because of the large number of losess expected his office will participate in a special Hurricane Betsy Tax Institute for storm victims. The institute, sponsored by the Times-Picayune and New Orleans States-Item, will be held Dec. 15 at the Municipal Auditorium.

Notre Dame Is Tied By Miami, 0-0

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A fierce Miami defense made two magnificent last-half stands Saturday night and the Hurricanes battled sixth-ranked Notre Dame to a scoreless deadlock before a roaring crowd of 68,077 in the Orange Bowl.

Miami stopped Notre Dame's big three running backs — Bill Wolski, Nick Eddy and Larry Conjar — in two desperate thrusts at the Hurricane goal, forcing Ken Ivan to go for field goals. He missed them both from short distance.

A scrapping defensive team led by Miami's fine end, Ed Weiscacosky, held the first Irish thrust at the six, and Ivan's field goal try from the 12 was wide.

In the last period, Bill Zloch took Notre Dame to the air in a final big effort. As he hit Eddy with passes of 18 and 13 yards, the Irish moved quickly into scoring position.

Then the runners took over and Notre Dame rammed to a first down at the three. But Conjar was held to one yard and an illegal procedure penalty pushed the Irish back five yards to the seven.

The drive was over when Eddy and Wolski were dumped for losses, and Ivan missed a field goal from the 17.

Miami's season, which started miserably, ended with three straight victories and finally the great tie with Notre Dame's two-touchdown favorites. Last week, Miami beat Florida's Sugar Bowl team.

The defensive struggle developed early and the only threats of the opening half were made by Miami. Notre Dame got no closer than 38 yards to the Miami goal before halftime.

On the game's first offensive play, Weisacosky and John Tucek belted Conjar loose from the ball and Larry Bodie recovered for Miami at the Irish 22. But Bill Miller was wild with three straight passes, and Don Curtwright missed a 43-yard field goal attempt.

Miller settled down on Miami's next drive, hitting Jim Cox with two 15-yard passes, and the Hurricanes moved to the Irish 26 before being stopped again. Curtwright tried a 47-yard field goal this time and narrowly missed as the ball bounced off an upright.

So tough were the defenses, the only first down of the second period was made by Notre Dame on a penalty.

Unprecedented Delays Seen In Both Leagues

NEW YORK (AP)—Mobile linebacker Tommy Nobis and power-running Illinois fullback Jim Grabowski were the top selections as the National and American Football Leagues staged their player drafts Saturday with unprecedented delays on some first-round picks.

While Nobis was the top selection of the NFL's new Atlanta team and Grabowski was tapped first by the AFL's new Miami entry, there were these related developments:

1. Five players, all first round selections, signed with NFL clubs—Purdue tackle Jerry Shay with Minnesota, Indiana defensive end Randy Beisler with Philadelphia, Michigan tackle Tom Mack with Los Angeles, Kentucky tackle Sam Ball with Baltimore and Minnesota tackle Gale Gillingham with Green Bay.

2. Three players, all first-round selections, signed with AFL clubs—Minnesota end Aaron Brown with Kansas City, Michigan tackle Bill Yearby with New York and Kentucky halfback Rodger Bird with Oakland.

3. Three teams were unable to make their first round picks in the allotted time of one hour. New York of the AFL finally made its choice almost six hours after coming up on the draft list, Pittsburgh of the NFL took 6½ hours and Oakland set an alltime record by taking more than 10.

The Raiders made Bird their No. 1 selection but took a strange route by announcing their second, third, fifth and seventh round picks before naming the Kentucky back. The Raiders did not say why they chose to do this.

4. Sonny Werblin, owner of the AFL's New York club, implied that the Jets were having difficulty reaching players they wanted to draft.

5. Early AFL picks coincided closely with published reports earlier this month that said the league already had had some sort of draft. Of the players picked through four rounds who appeared on the published list, 19 were picked by clubs assigned in the story. Two were incorrect.

6. There were three players selected on the first round of each draft — Nobis, Grabowski and Shay. Nobis was taken by Houston and Shay by Denver in the AFL and Grabowski by Green Bay in the NFL.

Picked after Nobis in the NFL's first round were:

Mack; Beisler; Iowa guard John Niland by Dallas; Princeton place kicker Charlie Gogolak by Washington; Shay; Oklahoma linebacker Carl McAdams by St. Louis; Grabowski; Missouri tackle Francis Peay by New York; LSU tackle George Rice by Chicago, West Virginia fullback Dick Leftridge by Pittsburgh; Minnesota tackle Gale Gillingham by Green Bay, Massachusetts end Milt Morin by Cleveland; Ball, and quarterback Randy Johnson of Texas A&I by Atlanta.

Pittsburgh was supposed to have drafted in the No. 3 spot but passed until later. Detroit did not have a first round pick, having traded it to Green Bay. Atlanta had the first and last pick in each of the first rounds.

Miami, which named Grabowski as its bonus pick on the first round, took Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton as its regular first-round pick.

Purdue tackle Karl Singer was taken by Boston, Denver picked Shay, Houston selected Nobis, Kansas City named Brown, San Diego tapped Los Angeles State tackle Don Davis and Buffalo settled on Mississippi halfback Mike Dennis.

None of the clubs which passed on the first round actually lost their No. 1 choices. The others teams just went ahead while the passers made up their minds.

At the same time there were reports out of Buffalo, N.Y., that Beisler was committed to the eagles — before the draft — and therefore had been avoided by AFL teams who had been interested in him. He later signed with Philadelphia.

Werblin, asked why the Jets were unable to come up with a first-round pick — they hadn't made one when their turn again came up for a second-round selection — would only say:

"We're living up to the statement we made yesterday."

His Friday statement was:

"Despite the fact that the New York Jet paid more money for rookies than any other team in 1964, including a record price for Joe Namath, we will not sign any player who has completed his eligibility unless the Jets have the opportunity to speak with him on Saturday."

Implied was that the Jets were having difficulties contacting the players they would like to draft.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Gators' Sugar Bowl Credentials Saved

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Steve Spurrier saved Florida's Sugar-bowl credentials from tarnish Saturday when he drove the Gators 71 yards in less than a minute and hit Charles Casey with a touchdown pass that led to a 30-17 victory over Florida State.

There were three touchdowns in the last 2 minutes, 10 seconds of the game, seen by a second Florida field crowd of 49,513.

Ed Pritchett appeared to have pulled the big upset for FSU when he drove the Seminoles 85 yards to a score and 17-16 lead with 2:10 left.

But Spurrier needed only 58 second to take Florida 71 yards in six plays, climaxed by his 25-yard toss to Casey in the far right corner of the end zone.

Florida will take a record of seven victories and three losses into their Sugar Bowl game Jan. 1 against Missouri.

Spurrier threw two long touchdown passes to Jack Harper in the first half and Florida appeared in command with a 13-3 lead at intermission.

The Gators stretched it to 16-3 on a 34-yard field goal by Wayne Barfield midway in the third quarter.

Then FSU came to life under the whip hand of Pritchett and drove 73 and 85 yards for touchdowns against a sagging Florida defense.

On what appeared to be the winner, he pulled one of his typical scrambling maneuvers, running to his left and finally firing to Jerry Jones in the end zone after Florida's deep defenders came up to stop the run.

Calvin Wins Slim

BUCKEYE (Special) —Three players hit in double figures here Saturday night as Calvin took a slim, 51 - 50 victory over Buckeye.

Darrell Hicks chipped in 30 points for the hosts to lead all scorers. Lanis Carpetner hit 22 for Calvin followed by Wayne Carpetner with 11 and Marvin Durbin with 10.

Calvin is now 24 - 1 for the season.

Army, Navy Grapple To Deadlock At 7-7

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army and Navy grappled to a 7-7 tie Saturday — the sixth standoff of their colorful 75-year old series — that nullified the iron man play of the Cadets Sam Champi and the occasional passing brilliance of the Middies' sophomore John Cartwright.

The Cadets struck first after 4 minutes, 16 seconds of the game when Charley Stowers, a converted guard from Chesapeake, Ohio, rambled 25 yards to a touchdown after a fumble recovery by Champi.

The Midshipmen, a seven-point favorite, levelled the score in the second period, when Cartwright threw an eight-yard pass to Terry Murray in the Army end zone.

Each touchdown was followed by successful conversions — Andy Dull of Tallahassee, Fla., kicking for Army and Felix Bassi for Navy.

A crowd of 102,000, including Chief Justice Earl Warren, several Cabinet members and high Army and Navy officials, saw the two teams knock heads the rest of the time like a group of angry bulls.

The last deadlock between the two teams was 7-7 in 1956. Army has a slight edge in the series with 31 victories, 29 defeats and 6 ties.

Champi, a 6-foot-4, 224-pound end from East Orange, N.J., who played both offense and defense, was the standout individual performer.

He recovered the fumble that set up Army's first score, killed a Navy threat in the second quarter when he smeared the Navy's Felix Bassi for a 21-yard loss and caught two long passes in one of Army's futile drives.

Joining him in a terrific defensive performance by the Army team were middle guard Vincent Casillo, linebacker Townsend Clarke, end Tom Schwartz and defense back Don Dietz.

Linebacker Don Downing, a 227-pound behemoth from Lorain, Ohio, and Chris Hoch, a 6-foot, 200-pounder from Denver, were the stalwarts for Navy. They were all over the field, smearing black-shirted Army men before they could get up steam.

The game, 66th in the series, was played in almost balmy weather under bright skies after overnight rain.

Confidence Of Rookie Important

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy stuck with its erratic Rookie quarterback to save his confidence, while Army was reluctant to open up and the result Saturday was a 7-7 tie in their 75th football game.

Navy Coach Bill Elias said he was tempted to replace 19-year-old sophomore quarterback John Cartwright, particularly in the first quarter.

"He was falling down, fumbling and throwing the ball into the ground and merited being taken out," Elias said.

"But I kept thinking, here's a young man who has two more years and his confidence as a man is the most important thing."

Admittedly second guessing himself, Elias said "Who knows but that Bruce Bickel or Felix Bassi might have won the game for us at quarterback."

Elias had switched between Bickel, a senior, and Cartwright for the first part of the season.

"I learned you have to stick with one quarterback," he said, "and decided it would be Cartwright."

Cartwright completed only 13 of his 36 passes, but Elias said all the misses weren't his fault.

"We had men wide open, and while he overthrew some, I believe 8 or 10 were dropped."

In the Army dressing room, Coach Paul Dietzel explained Army's reluctance to gamble thusly:

"We wanted to open up, but didn't want to throw the game away — the team had worked too hard to take a chance on giving it away.

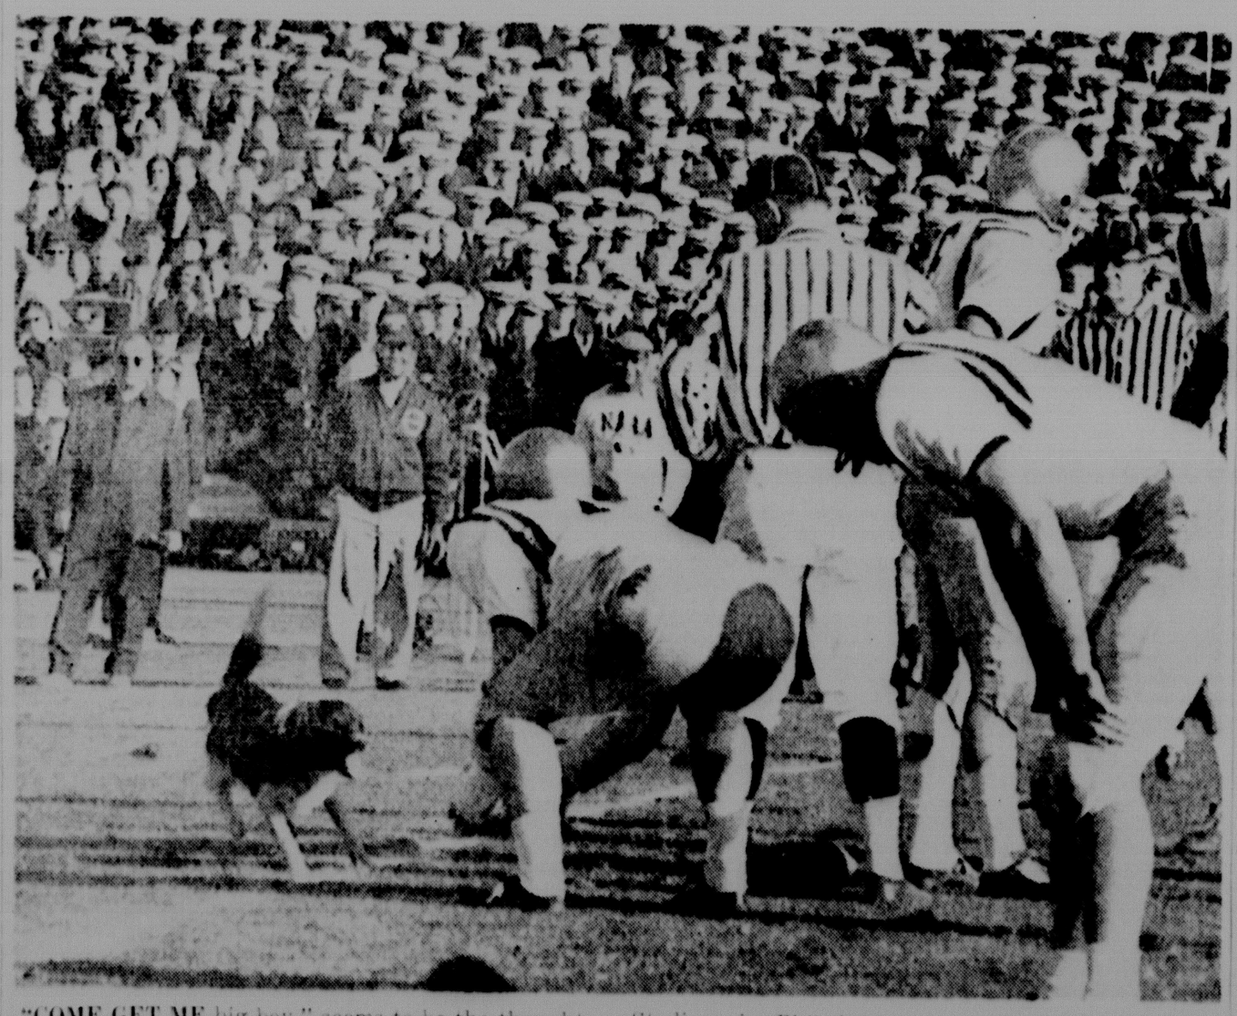
"We had bad field position most of the time, and passing never has been one of our strong points."

Cadet quarterback Curt Cook got off only four passes in the second half, three in the closing seconds.

"There were some bad breaks for us — the worst of all that missed field goal. I thought that was a lead pipe cinch," Dietzel said.

Andy Dull's attempt in the first quarter from the 18-yard line went wide, keeping Army from going ahead 10-0.

"And, of course, Fred Barosky, being out of there most of the time hurt us badly," Dietzel added. "We had plans for a lot of things with him playing."



"COME GET ME big boy," seems to be the thoughts of this little dog that for a few minutes Saturday held the attention of millions of football TV fans viewing the Army-Navy game at John F. Kennedy Stadium in Philadelphia. And there can be little doubt but what this action provided as much offense as either team came up with the entire game, which ended 7-7. (AP Wirephoto)

St. Louis Romps Past Baltimore

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks, getting season-high scoring from four players, coasted to a 136-110 victory over the Baltimore Bullets in a National Basketball Association game Saturday night.

The Hawks overcame a personnel shortage to open a 24-point halftime lead, 79-55. Player-Coach Richie Guerin was banished from the game late in the second quarter for a fist-swinging incident with the Bullets' Ben Warley.

Zelmo Beaty scored 30 points, Cliff Hagan had 27 and Chico Vaughn and John Barnhill added 16 each, all personal highs for the season, to pace the Hawks.

Rebels Take Covincing Win From State's Bulldogs, 21-0

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — The Mississippi Rebels marched 94 yards for one touchdown and scored two more on a pass interception and a fumble Saturday to blank arch-rival Mississippi State, 21-0, and accept a Liberty Bowl bid.

Ole Miss, sparked by an alert defense, took command early in the game when defensive halfback Billy Clay intercepted a pass and raced 50 yards for a touchdown.

Moments later, the Rebels marched 94 yards in 17 plays with senior quarterback Jimmy Heidel plunging over from the one. The final touchdown came in the closing minutes after State halfback Marcus Rhoden fumbled a punt and Ole Miss guard Tommy Lucas recovered on the six yard line. Senior tailback Mike Dennis rammed over from the one.

Immediately after the game ended, Mississippi Athletic Director C. M. (Tad) Smith announced the Rebels had accepted an invitation to meet Auburn in the Liberty Bowl game at Memphis Dec. 18. This makes nine straight years that Ole Miss has played in a post season bowl game.

Coach John Vaught used two quarterbacks—Heidel and Jody Graves, a talented sophomore—in guiding the Rebels to their sixth victory against four defeats. The Bulldogs wound up with a 4-6 record after losing their last six games.

Clay, a 192-pound senior, got the Rebel scoring machine rolling in the first period when he grabbed a pass from State quarterback Ashby Cook at midfield and sped down the sideline for the score.

Graves, who rode the bench most of the season, alternated with Heidel in the long touchdown drive in the second period, hitting Dennis with a 15-yard pass and sophomore wingback Bill Matthews with a 19-yard toss. Two weeks ago Graves helped lead Ole Miss to a 14-13 victory over Tennessee.

The clincher came late in the fourth period when Rhoden dropped back to field a high Ole Miss punt and lost the ball on a fumble. Dennis charged over three plays later and it was all over.

The Bulldogs, unable to launch a major threat, made their deepest penetration shortly before the end of the first half when they drove from their 29 to the Rebels' 15 yard line. Then quarterback Tommy Garrison, taking over from Cook, was caught by a 16-yard loss and specialist James Neill missed a 47-yard field goal attempt.

Cook was injured on the drive and did not return to the game until the final minutes.

The victory gave Ole Miss a 32-25 lead in the long series with five games ending in ties. The Bulldogs posted a 20-17 victory last year for their first win over Ole Miss in 17 years.

PAUL THOMPSON, former Calhoun star, will be in the lineup for Northeast State this week when the Indians travel to Mississippi for games against Delta State and Missisippi State. Paul leads Northeast in rebounds, averaging 11 per game, and was second in the GSC last year.

Northeast State Faces 2 Mississippi Cage Teams

Two opening victories this week should make the Thanksgiving holidays happy ones for members of Northeast State's basketball team but the Indians face two tough games in Mississippi next week.

Northeast, which dropped a pair of Arkansas teams — Arkansas A&M and Southern State —this week, will not play again until Wednesday, Dec. 1, when it meets Delta State at Cleveland, Miss., in the first of two consecutive games in the Magnolia State. The following night the Indians move on to Starkville for a meeting with Southeastern Conference member Mississippi State.

Delta and Mississippi State were two of the four teams to defeat Northeast last year. Mississippi State beat the Indians by one point in early season and Delta won another one-point decision in 1964 - 65's final game, both on their home courts.

Northeast felled Arkansas A&M, 102 - 83, here in Brown Gym Monday night and then won a narrow decision over Southern State, 58 - 56, in Magnolia, Ark., Tuesday evening on Tommy Enloe's last - minute basket.

Enloe led Northeast in scoring against Southern State with 18 points while Glynn Saulters sparked the victory over A&M with 27 markers.

Sophomore Saulters, a second team all - conference choice last year when Northeast swept to the Gulf States Conference title, leads the Indians in scoring after the two games with 38 points, an average of 19 a game. Enloe, first team all-GSC, is second with a 17.5 average while Paul Thompson is also in the double figures with an 11.0 average.

Billy Brooks and Chris Rhodes, the other two Northeast starters, are each averaging 9.5 points.

Garrett Closes USC Career, Sets Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Halfback Mike Garrett closed out his football career at the University of Southern California Saturday — setting a national collegiate rushing record to go along with his Heisman Trophy — as the Trojans smothered Wyoming 56-6.

The first ovation came on the first play of the second quarter when Garrett slammed out a four-yard gain.

It gave him a three-year total rushing mark of 3,168 and broke the record of 3,166 set by Ollie Matson of the University of San Francisco in 1949-50-51.

He carried the ball 24 times and gained 112 yards for a record 3,221 yards.

The Trojans scored 35 points in the second quarter to erase any doubt of their superiority over the outmatched Cowboys.

Junior quarterback Troy Winslow threw four touchdown passes, two of them to Dave Moton for 68 and 50 yards, one for 47 yards to Rod Sherman and a 15-yarder to John Thomas.

Garrett scored three touchdowns on bursts of two or less yards and hurled a scoring strike 30 yards to Moton.

Wyoming scored midway in the fourth period on a 44-yard pass from Chuck Shelton to Hub Lindsey. It followed an interception of a pass by Dick Speight in midfield.

Bama Claims Second Straight SEC Crown

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama knocked Auburn out of the Southeastern Conference championship and claimed the title for the second straight year Saturday with a 30-3 triumph ignited by the passing of Steve Sloan and daring defensive play.

Sloan tossed three touchdown passes for the Orange Bowl-bound Crimson Tide. Alabama intercepted seven Auburn passes and captured two Tiger fumbles.

The victory before 70,000 fans gave fifth-ranked Alabama a 6-1-1 league record.

Auburn, the Cinderella team of the conference which will play in the Liberty Bowl, finished second in the title chase with a 4-1 mark, but for the year had a 5-4-1 record, its worst since 1952.

The fumbles and pass interceptions prevented Auburn from challenging the might Tide, which swept to a 15-3 halftime lead.

Sloan hit on touchdown passes of 11 yards to Tommy Tolleson, 33 yards to Ray Perkins, and 29 yards to Don Shankles.

Alabama's first 15 points were set up by Auburn miscues, and the Tide's final touchdown came on the first play after the fifth interception of a pass tossed by Auburn quarterback Alex Bowden.

Auburn's only points came with four seconds to play in the first half when Don Lewis kicked a 44-yard field goal.

The other Alabama points were provided by a 26-yard field goal by David Ray and a two-yard touchdown run by Leslie Kelley.

Sloan finished with a passing mark of 13 completions in 18 tosses for 226 yards. He matched an Alabama record for passes thrown in a year by unleashing his 160th of the year, and also bettered the all-time season mark for total offense with a year's gain of 1,499 yards. The old mark of 1,457 was set by Harry Gilmer in 1945.

Tolleson's touchdown catch, which started the onslaught, was the 61st pass reception of his career and better an Alabama record held by Al Lary.

The triumph gave Alabama an 8-1-1 season record to take into the Orange Bowl battle with undefeated Nebraska New Year's night.

Russell Sparks Boston To 5th Victory In Row

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell and Larry Siegfried sparked the Boston Celtics to a 101-95 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Saturday night in a brusing National Basketball Association battle between the two division leaders.

Russell turned in a great all-around game as he scored 28 points and picked off 35 rebounds. Both were his top individual efforts of the season as Boston won its fifth straight.

Siegfried, filling in for the injured Sam Jones, tallied 16 points and got 12 of them in the first seven minutes of the decisive third period when the Celtics overcame a brief Los Angeles lead and moved ahead to stay.

The Celtics led at the half, 49-46, and boosted this advantage to 10 points, 79-69, entering the final quarter. Then Boston quickly increased its margin to 19 points, 96-77, and coasted home. Tom Sanders, who scored 18 points, was a major factor in this surge.

Jerry West and Rudy LaRusso scored 21 points apiece too pace the Lakers, who got only two points from Elgin Baylor in 15 minutes of action.

El Dorado Beats Bastrop, 60-50

EL DORADO, Ark., (Special) — El Dorado bettered the Rams of Bastrop here Saturday night by 10 points with a 60-50 victory behind the 19 point production of Ralph Bolding.

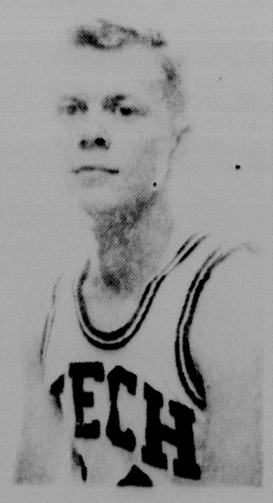
El Dorado also took a "B" team victory, 53-51 with Bill Bolding hitting 15 for the Wildcats and Don Cooper sinking 20 for the junior Rams.

Jim Pruett Out For Opener, Season At Louisiana Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's cage squad, boasting more height than ever before, makes its 1965 debut here Wednesday night against Little Rock University.

Coach Scotty Robertson will have five lettermen available for the opener. He got the news this week that Jim Pruett, sharpshooter from outside and a letterman, is out for the season. Pruett underwent knee surgery late in the week.



JIM PRUETT
. . . Surgery

There have been some bright spots with the rebounding generally better with 6 - 11 Richard Peek and 6 - 10 Bob Watson in post positions. Also, with Pruett sidelined, a burden of outside scoring will fall on Leon Barmore, Ruston junior guard who earlier was picked to captain the Canines this campaign.

While Robertson has not selected starters yet, it appears Peek, Watson, Barmore, Jon Pat Stephenson and Malcolm Smith may get the call. All are juniors except for Smith who was an outstanding defensive performer last season as a freshman.

Others bidding for starting roles are sophs Tom Gregory, 6 - 6 of St. Joseph; Terry Ewing, 6 - 5 of Jonesboro, and George Stone, 6 - 3 of Ruston; transfer Billy Ray Stokes of Yazoo City, Miss., and Dan McCromick, 6 - 5 junior from Many.

Frosh with a good chance of seeing some varsity duty include Robert Talley, 6 - 5 of Montgomery, Ala., and James Moore, 6 - 3 of Homer.

Tech varsity game will start at 8 p.m., with Harding College due in for a Thursday night tilt. The Tech freshmen will play Jacksonville Baptist Junior College in a preliminary Wednesday night at 6 o'clock and Tyler Junior College the following night.

Alford's Boot Gives Frogs 2nd Place Tie

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Bruce Alford's fourth-period field goal lifted Texas Christian to a 10-7 verdict over Southern Methodist Saturday and the Horned Frogs immediately accepted a Sun Bowl bid.

The triumph was Texas Christian's fourth straight and earned the Christians a share of second place in the Southwest Conference with a 5-2 record.

They wound up the campaign 6-4 and will meet Texas Western on New Year's Eve in El Paso.

The Frogs, stifled for minus rushing yardage in the first half, came to life in the final quarter for a tying touchdown and the critical 40-yard kick by Alford.

Quarterbacks Kent Nix and P. D. Shabay shared duty on a clear, crisp afternoon as Coach Abe Martin shuffled his chieftains in a frantic bid to get the Frogs moving.

With Kenny Post ripping off long yardage, the Frogs marched 87 yards in 10 plays for the tying touchdown 2:17 deep in the fourth period.

The Frogs reached the SMU two but a 15-yard penalty wiped out the play and placed the outcome on Alford's kicking ability.

He responded with the 40-yard boot into the wind and a crowd of 19,350 went wild. Only 4:40 remained.

The Mustang came storming back but John Richards stole a White pass at the TCU 15 and the Mustang march, which began back at the SMU 20, died.

SMU had taken the lead in the second period, punching 52 yards for a touchdown with Larry Jernigan smashing the final three steps.

St. John's Wins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — St. John's University's defense froze up Fairmont State's offense as much as the raw weather as the Minnesotans took a 28-7 victory Saturday in a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics semifinal football playoff at Metropolitan Stadium.

The triumph, 10th straight this season for the Johnnies, sent them into the NAIA champion bowl game at Augusta, Ga., Dec. 11 against Sul Ross of Texas or Linfield of Oregon.

St. John's struck for a 21-0 lead before Fairmont uncorked its only scoring thrust of the afternoon, and the West Virginians were never in contention after that.

Hogs Lead All-SWC Choices

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas, which won the championship, dominated the All-Southwest Conference football teams selected by the coaches and announced Saturday.

The high-riding Razorbacks placed five players on the offensive team and put a like number on the defensive squadron. Arkansas took three of the four tackle spots.

Donny Anderson, the great Texas Tech back, also drew unanimous support as did Frank Horak, the splendid safety man of Texas Christian.

Others came close. Tommy Nobis, Texas' mighty linebacker, got seven votes for the spot. He also drew three votes for offensive guard, two coaches having him play both ways and one picking him for offensive guard only.

The two quarterbacks who met in the big game—the Arkansas-Texas Tech clash—when the championship and Cotton Bowl host spot were decided, finished in a dead heat and wound up tied for one of the offensive backfield spots.

Crockett and Pete Lammons of Texas were the offensive ends. Lammons also got votes for defensive end.

Hines and Jim Vining of Rice made the tackles. Lynn Thornhill of Southern Methodist and Frank Bedrick of Texas the guards, Jack Howe of Texas center and Anderson, Brittenum, Wilson, Bobby Burnett of Arkansas and Harry Jones of Arkansas the backs.

On the defensive team Doug January of Southern Methodist paired with Bobby Roper of Arkansas at ends, Loyd Phillips of Arkansas and Jim Williams of Arkansas were picked at tackle, Nobis, John Lagrone of Southern Methodist and Diron Talbert of Texas, linebackers, and Horak, Jack Brasuell of Arkansas, Ronnie Reel of Southern Methodist and Tommy Trantham of Arkansas at defensive backs.

The team:

Offensive

Linebackers—Tommy Nobis, Texas, senior, 6-2, 230, San Antonio, Tex.; John Lagrone, Southern Methodist, junior, 5-10, 215, Borger City, Tex.; Diron Talbert, Texas, junior, 6-5, 221, Texas City, Tex.

Aroused Defense Provides For Bulldogs' 17-7 Conquest Of Arch Rival Engineers

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An aroused Georgia defense produced a fumble and an interception which were quickly converted to points and the Bulldogs scored a 17-7 football upset over Gator Bowl-bound Georgia Tech Saturday.

Tech will carry a 6-3-1 record into the Gator Bowl against Texas Tech. Georgia finished the season 6-4.

The Bulldogs set the tenor of the game when they chose to kick with a brisk wind on the opening kickoff.

On the first series of plays, tackle George Patton smacked King hard, causing him to fumble. Linebacker John Glass claimed the ball for Georgia on the Tech 22. Six plays later quarterback Kirby Moore skirted left end for seven yards and a touchdown. Bob Etter added the point for a 7-0 Georgia lead with only 3:41 gone in the game.

Etter added a 40-yard field goal with 9:43 left in the half to give Georgia a 10-0 lead. Safety Lynn Hughes set up the field goal when he grabbed a King pass at the Tech 4 and raced to the 23.

Georgia took the second half kickoff and marched 61 yards in nine plays, with quarterback Preston Ridlehuber hitting halfback Randy Wheeler with key passes of 19 and 14 yards. Ridlehuber carried the final six yards for the touchdowns.

King finally got Tech moving near the end of the third quarter, hitting end Gary Williams on passes of 16, 13, and 9 yards as the Yellow Jackets covered 75 yards in 12 plays for their lone touchdown.

King connected on several passes in the fourth quarter as Georgia's pass defense drew back to protect against long throws to the fleet Tech receivers.

Late in the game, King hit on passes of 13, 15, 19, and 16 yards to move to the Georgia 11. But the Bulldog defense stopped halfback Lenny Snow for a three-yard loss on fourth down to kill the drive.

The victory gave Georgia a 28-27-5 edge in the rivalry, which dates back to 1893.

Bears Win From Rice With Defee

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Baylor used the speed of Richard Defee to turn two fumbled punt recoveries into quick touchdowns Saturday as the Bears came from behind to defeat Rice 17-13 and clinch a tie for fourth place in the Southwest Conference.

Ronnie Cervenka, the Rice safety, fumbled a pair of punts in the second quarter and Baylor made recoveries at the Rice 22 and 11 yard lines. Defee promptly produced a pair of touchdowns by racing 17 and 11 yards around his right end without being touched by an Owl defender.

Rice, after taking a 6-0 first period lead with a 56-yard drive, cut the Baylor advantage to 14-13 early in the third period with an 80-yard surge but the Owls never again threatened seriously.

Baylor, after being halted by a fumble at the Rice 32, tacked on a 35-yard field goal by Bob Purvis with less than two minutes to play after a pass interception had given the Bears the ball at the Owl 40.

The victory gave Baylor a 5-5 season record and enabled the Bears to tie Southern Methodist and Texas at 3-4 in conference play.

The defeat left Rice in a 1-6 tie with Texas A&M in the conference cellar. The Owls' 2-8 season record tied a 1959 mark of 1-7-2 for the poorest seasons in the 26 years since Jess Neely became head coach in 1940.

Both Rice touchdowns came on identical passes of four and two yards from Robert Hailey, a reserve quarterback, to Glen Hine.

Prior to the fumble recoveries in the second period, Baylor had moved cross midfield twice only to see advances to the Rice 40 and 30 yard lines halted by 15-yard penalties.

A pass interception on the first play of the game enabled Rice to keep Baylor pretty well bottled up until Defee's speed overcame the early Owl lead.

The interception led to a 37-yard drive to the Baylor one. The Bear defense held but Rice came back with the 56-yard surge which David Ferguson directed until Hailey took over for the four-yard scoring pass to Hine.

Maroons Place Accent On Youth In Basketball

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — The accent is on youth at Mississippi State this basketball season.

Joe Dan Gold, at 23, is the youngest coach of a major college team in the nation. For his first season he'll field a team that has only one senior.

Gold, former captain of the Maroon cagers and an All-Southeastern Conference forward, was named head coach last March — when he was only 22. He succeeds veteran James H. (Babe) McCarthy, who guided Mississippi State to four conference crowns in 10 years.

Gold coached the Maroon freshman for the past two years and guided them to 39 victories in 48 starts.

He plans to build his 1965-66 varsity edition around five juniors, all of whom were starters at different times last season when State posted a 10-16 record.

They are Gary Washington, 6-3, the top player from last year's club; 6-4 John Sapon; 6-7 Charles Crews and 6-9 Herb Biggs.

Washington, who averaged 11.2 points per game, is the only returnee who shot in double figures last year. The top shooter from last year, Bill Chumbler, who had a 13.5 mark, got married in the summer and transferred to another college.

"I think we'll be a little improved over last year," says Gold. But he thinks his squad will be an exciting one to watch "and one that will improve as the season progresses."

In addition to the nucleus of five juniors, Gold will depend on the sole senior, 5-10 Paul Smith, to provide leadership. Smith, says Gold, "has been doing a fine job of running the club."

The young coach thinks sophomore forward Tom Payne, 6-5, is the most improved player on the team but calls 6-7 David Williams, and another soph, the most promising. Gold says Williams needs more polish, however.

Mitchell's Dash Sets Pace For Vols' Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Fullback Stan Mitchell dashed 62 yards on the third play of the game for a touchdown Saturday and Tennessee went to to whip Vanderbilt 21-3.

The victory gave ninth-ranked Tennessee a tie with Florida for third-place in the Southeastern Conference race. This is the highest the Vols have finished since 1956, when they had a 10-0 record and won the championship.

The triumph also set the stage for a pre-bowl game next Saturday at Memphis between Rose Bowl-bound UCLA, No. 4 in the nation, and Tennessee, a Bluebonnet Bowl choice.

All the scoring was packed into the first half, with Tennessee getting one touchdown in the first quarter and two in the second. Toby Wilt kicked a 25-yard field goal for Vanderbilt in the second period.

Tennessee drove 80 yards for its second score, with Warren passing 20 yards to end Austin Denny for the TD. Warren, who completed 10 of 17 passes for 133 yards, hit four in succession in the drive.

The Vols capitalized on a Vandy fumble for their third touchdown. Paul Naumoff grabbed Jim Whiteside's bobble on the Commodore 23. After Warren a 20-yard pass, Mitchell plunged hit wingback Hal Wantland with from the two for Tennessee's final score.

The Commodores, who finished with a 2-7-1 record, had two first half scoring opportunities, but were able to cash in on only one — Wilt's field goal.

Tennessee halted the other march when Harold Stancell intercepted Jerry Shuford's pass on the Vols' seven.

Tennessee, with the one game left on its regular season schedule, now has a record of six victories, one loss and two ties.

West Jefferson In Bowl Victory

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Undefeated West Jefferson of New Orleans defeated Biloxi 7-6 Saturday night in the 26th annual Shrimp Bowl on halfback Tony Cemo's defensive scrambling.

The game's two touchdowns were set up by fumble recoveries and Cemo made the crucial steal for West Jeff in the fourth quarter.

Biloxi, third-ranked team of Mississippi's Big Eight Conference, drove with the kickoff to the West Jeff 10, but Cemo intercepted a pass at the six-yard-line to preserve the victory.

The victory gave West Jeff a 10-0 record and Biloxi an 8-3 mark.

When the Houston Oilers go back in their huddle today don't be surprised if time is called and the water boy rushes out with 11 cups and a pot of coffee.

For like the flying wedge and the drop kick, the huddle is becoming obsolete—at least in professional football.

Taylor's contention that the huddle, as it now is used, is on the way out stems from the growing use of pro football's latest offensive technique, the so-called automatic, audible or check-off call.

All three terms are applied to the maneuver in which the quarterback comes to the line of scrimmage and then changes the play originally called in the huddle in order to combat the defensive alignment.

Taylor, who recalls the days when audibles were called by using colors as the key words—his favorites were lavender blue and chartreuse—put the simplified audible system together when he took over the club this season.

New York Coach Weeb Ewbank, whose Jets meet Boston in the only other game on today's American Football League program, agreed that the quarterback can't turn his back on the defense any more.

"I send in plays occasionally," Ewbank explained. "But I can't get mad if my quarterback doesn't use them. There are too many defenses today."

"You send in a play to face a certain formation and it changes as soon as your team finishes huddling. So the quarterback has to check off and call his own play anyway."

Ewbank's check-off caller is Joe Namath, who passed for four touchdowns against the Oilers last week and led the Jets to their fourth straight victory and into second place in the Eastern Division. The Jets will be out to even their record at 5-5-1 against the Patriots.

The Patriots tied Kansas City last week when veteran quarterback Babe Parillo engineered an 80-yard drive in the last quarter. Boston still is bogged down, however, because of the lack of a consistent running attack to complement Parilli's passing.

Texas Western Picks Off Five Passes For Win

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) —Sun Bowl-bound Texas Western College intercepted five passes and ran one of them back for a touchdown Saturday to defeat West Texas State University 38-21.

All five of the intercepted passes were thrown by West Texas quarterback Spencer Washington, who threw two 64-yard scoring passes in the second quarter.

Texas Western accepted the Sun Bowl bid earlier this week, and will play Texas Christian in the El Paso, Tex., classic on Dec. 31.

Saturday's game was primarily a passing battle between Washington and TWC's Billy Stevens. Stevens threw 56 passes, completing 29 of them for 355 yards and two touchdowns, and Washington lofted 35, completing 16 for 286 yards, two touchdowns and one conversion.

Texas Western scored the lone touchdown of the first quarter. Harrison Gamble picked off a Washington pass and ran it 49 yards to the end zone, and Joe Cook kicked his first of five extra points.

In the second half Washington came back with his two long-distance scoring strikes, one to Roy Armentrout and the other to Dave Szymakowski. Tom Fambrough kicked one conversion and Washington passed to Terry Funk for the second.

Fambrough also kicked a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter.

Mark Yarbrough ran six yards for a touchdown in the second quarter and Stevens tossed a 37-yard pass to Charley West to bring the halftime score to 21-18 in favor of the Miners.

The third quarter opened with another 22-yard field goal by Fambrough, but Texas Western took over the scoring from there and the Buffaloes were unable to get another point.

Cook kicked a 33-yard field goal and Stevens launched a five-yard pass to Chuck Hughes for third-quarter scores. Then Yarbrough ran for 19 yards and a touchdown in the final quarter to end the scoring.

Whitworth Holds 54-Hold Lead In Ladies' Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, with a record-equaling 216 for the first 54 holes, maintained her five-stroke advantage in the Women's Titleholders Golf Tournament Saturday despite a high wind which sent scores soaring.

Wanda Sanchez, who started the day tied for second, was all alone at 221 as she matched Miss Whitworth's 74. Carol Mann shot a 78 and fell from a tie for second to sixth with a 225 total.

Miss Smith, who has won the title for the past two years, gained third place with a 74 and a total of 222.

Big O Sparkles With 44 Points. Royals Get Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Robertson poured in 44 points and added 16 assists for his best performance of the season Saturday night, leading the Cincinnati Royals to a 132-129 National Basketball Association victory over the New York Knicks.

The victory was the Royals' 11th in their last 13 games.

Robertson whipped in 14 of 19 field goal tries and was perfect from the free throw line on 16 attempts. He sparked Cincinnati to an outstanding team shooting percentage from the field of 60 per cent.

New York pulled into a 110-107 lead on field goals by Dave Stallworth and Willis Reed in the fourth quarter, but the Royals eventually pulled even and went ahead 125-123 on Jerry Lucas' jump shot.

The Royals then pulled to their biggest lead of the night on a free throw by Wayne Embry, a field goal by Robertson and Adrian Smith's two free throws.

Smith finished the game with 31 points, his season high, while Reed topped the Knicks with his season high of 40. Dick Barnett added 35 for New York.

Central, 28-14

ABBEVILLE, La. (AP)—Second-ranked Central Catholic of Morgan City rallied Saturday night to defeat Mt. Carmel of Abbeville 28-14 and advance to the quarter-finals of the Class B football playoffs.

How to solve the college problem

Not enough room for the growing number of qualified boys and girls who want to go to college—and who ought to go—that's the problem.

The colleges lack the classrooms, facilities and teachers to educate all these potential leaders.

It's our problem, too. We need leaders to make wise use of our resources, manpower and human skills.

This affects our level of prosperity—our jobs, opportunities and living standards.

The problem is too big, too widespread to be solved by the colleges alone. They need our help.

Hunting Season Nears Its Peak

With Paul Martin

The traffic of hunters in forest, field and lake hits its peak Wednesday. That's when the duck hunters launch their 40-day season, joining the latest rush that put the deer hunting army in the woods Friday morning, just one day behind the quail fraternity that got its opening Thanksgiving Day.

The snipe hunters, if there are any around with so much bigger and varied game on the market, had their Louisiana opening yesterday.

If you have been stalling around about getting the new brush on your duck blind, you may be too late for Wednesday's opening. Wham Brake, Black Bayou Lake and Cheniere Lake will draw most of the fire in the Twin Cities area. The river lakes will have their share of hunters, even the "jump" shooters along some of the creeks and bayous.

Duck hunters, needing a federal duck stamp to go with their basic hunting license, have through January 9 to enjoy their hunting with a four-duck daily limit that can include only one mallard in an area that has more mallards than any other kind of waterfowl. Possession limit, after Wednesday, is eight. Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset.

Coot, that dark diving bird with the white bill that seems reluctant to fly, has the same shooting season as ducks. It's more popular in south Louisiana than in the north. Daily bag limit is ten, possession limit is 20.

In addition to the single mallard allowed duck hunters per day, the bag of four can include one pintail (there are a few wintering around here), two wood ducks (it used to be you couldn't shoot these at all) or two canvasbacks (rarely seen here).

Some duck hunters might find solace in the mallard cutback from the bonus offering of certain ducks, like the merganziers rarely seen in these parts. Check your "blue folder" closely again on the duck regulations, also those on other game.

Deer Hunter's Lament

The duck hunter's lament was loud around August, especially when they got the news about one mallard, but they've had time to adjust and will be complying with regulations while working for easement, if possible, in another year.

Not so the deer hunter. Some state officials, sworn to uphold the laws of Louisiana, took advantage of loopholes to challenge state law giving the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission authority in fixing rules covering the game management areas owned or leased by the state.

The GMA's are the poor man's hunting paradise where the rich man is welcome, too, even if he does own membership in a private hunting club that posts its boundaries against non-member hunters.

The deer hunter got the news by Thursday that opponents of controlled deer hunts on the GMAs had secured an injunction banning the taking of doe deer in some areas where wildlife biologists had deemed it necessary to achieve that balance necessary to good management.

J. D. Hair Jr., director of the LWLFC, served with the court restraining order filed in Orleans parish, said the suit scheduled to be heard Friday, Dec. 3, will determine if the seasons set by the commission in the future can be restrained in court or that the authority of the commission to set seasons on areas it manages can be terminated by police jury action.

State law already gives the LWLFC the legal right to rule the GMAs. There are those who challenge the reports of game biologists in what they say is necessary for game management.

Who's The 'Expert'

Our experience with courts of law has been that testimony of "expert" witnesses usually erased contrary testimony of the layman. Certainly the biologist is the "expert" in this field.

No sportsman wants to kill doe deer. A recent television report quoted the governor of our state as favoring the trapping of deer on the GMAs for transplanting to areas where the deer population is thin. The biologists would love this program if the funds are provided for the trapping operation.

Maybe the governor or the legislators opposing the any-deer hunts will find the means to make trapping feasible. We hear it's a pretty expensive operation, so expensive when it was undertaken a few years ago in some of the delta parishes and in the Red Dirt GMA that it was considered cheaper to purchase stocking animals elsewhere, some being brought in from Wisconsin.

We'll repeat. No sportsman wants to kill doe deer. But when the GMAs become overgrazed and winter starvation faces the herd, the biologists' plea to thin the herd seems practical. It's simply "barn yard" management that any farm boy could understand who sees his mother controlling the flock of hens, or his pop sending cows and pigs off to the market. His farm can support just so much stock.

The female of the species, as it should be, is due maximum security. But if it is a crime to kill a doe, as one official was quoted, then it is a crime to kill the hen quail, the doe rabbit, the female squirrel. There is no distinguishing the sex for waterfowl hunters.

One last thrust for what it's worth. Some laymen say there is plenty food in the GMAs to sustain the growing herds. This reporter has spent five Saturday's in Georgia-Pacific areas recently watching deer, turkey, range hogs, squirrel and black birds competing for the acorn crop. The browse, so essential to deer, looked pretty thin. We got to wondering how the deer will fare when the acorns are gone. Winter is not yet here. When they begin eating bark, they're on starvation diet. This is just another layman's observation, not that of a biologist.

The deer season, opening generally over the state Friday, includes only two zones outside the GMAs of interest in this section. Zone two closes its first half Dec. 12. Area seven closes next Sunday, Dec. 5.

Game management areas of this section closing the first half of split seasons on Tuesday are Jackson-Bienville, Chicago Mill, Georgia-Pacific, Union, East Carroll, Caldwell, Catahoula. GMA seasons are shorter than outside areas and permit still hunting only, no dogs allowed.

Hunters can now include rabbit and quail until Feb. 15; squirrell until Jan. 10; geese until Jan. 14; snipe until Jan. 15. Duck hunting opened the past week in Arkansas, but Louisiana holds off until next Wednesday to go through Jan. 9.

Pot Shots Here And There

Bow success also came to CHARLES E. TULLOS and J. T. SMITH of Swartz. Tullos took two spike bucks and Smith dropped one deer on hunts to Georgia Pacific GMA.

MATT ARD, who has made many friends of fishermen and duck hunters while operating Oliver's Boat Dock on Black Bayou Lake, tells us he will be leaving the job at the end of December.

Black Bayou fishing has been good for some the past week. The score: LEE HICKS, 42 bream; ROBERT CARTER, nine bass weighing 18 pounds; JOHNNY DANNY, 15 limit of bass, one weighing five pounds ten ounces; C. W. McPHERSON, 12 bass, one hitting four and a half pounds; W. A. CARR, nine bass, one five pounds and a quarter; ANGELO DANNA, 12 bass, the biggest three and a quarter pounds; R. DESCANT, 10 bass totalling 20 pounds; ROGER LARSEN and OSWALD ADAMS, a combined string of 20 bass, two at five pounds each; ROOSEVELT DANIELS mixed a string of 73 bream and speckled perch; WAYNE PARKER again double - dipped for 14 bass estimated at 35 pounds one day and again for eight bass weighed at 21½ pounds on government scales.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY COONCE, of near Jonesboro, made fishing forays to Saline and Cross bayous for good takes of white perch. CLYDE HARRIS of Henderson, Tex., had a party on Saline Bayou that made excellent catches of white perch.

Twelve - year old T. V. RAZER, Lake Providence, was all excited this week about a three and a half pound bass he caught with an artificial worm in Lake Providence. MRS. SAM FOUTZ, fishing at the River Port below Lake Providence, caught 16 white perch averaging two pounds each in two hours of fishing Tuesday afternoon. MRS. MOLLIE HILL and a sister of Bonita showed a nice string of white perch taken from Old River near Lake Providence.

"ANDY" ANDERS, immediate past president of the Ouachita Unit of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Association, told the members of his unit that the Floyd Martin Memorial

UCLA Bruins Picked To Defend National Crown

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The UCLA Bruins, defending national champions, were picked Saturday as the No. 1 team in the pre-season Associated Press college basketball poll for the new campaign opening Wednesday.

The charges of Coach Johnny Wooden, who will be trying for an unprecedented third straight NCAA title, beat out the Michigan Wolverines in the annual poll by an AP panel of 30 sportswriters and broadcasters.

A year ago Michigan edged UCLA for the No. 1 spot in the pre-season poll but lost to UCLA in the NCAA championship final last March.

The teams again dominated this year's poll with UCLA getting 22 of the 30 first place votes to Michigan's four. The Bruins collected a total of 287 points on the basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 through 10 places to Michigan's 248.

The Duke Blue Devils edged the St. Joseph Hawks of Philadelphia for third place with 154 points to 150. The Blue Devils and the Hawks each received two first place votes. Vanderbilt, the only other team to get more than 100 points, landed fifth place with 133.

Rounding out the pre-season Top Ten, in order, were Providence, Minnesota, Kansas, Bradley and Kansas State. Providence had 97 points, Minnesota 82, Kansas 80, Bradley 74 and Kansas State 46.

Eight of the pre-season Top Ten open the season Wednesday. Tennessee is at Michigan, Milwaukee-Wisconsin at Bradley, North Dakota at Minnesota, Wittenberg at Vanderbilg, Hofstra at St. Joseph's, Kansas State at Creighton, Arkansas at Kansas and Virginia Tech meeting Duke at Greensboro, N.C.

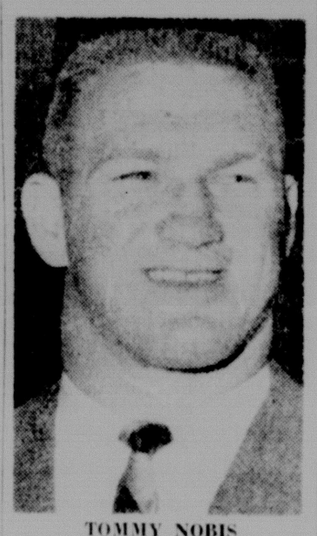
Other Saturday games, involving the Top Ten, are Villanova at Providence, Kansas at Texas Tech, Iowa State at Minnesota, Tulsa at Kansas State, Bowling Green at Michigan, Clemson at Duke and St. Joseph's vs. Fairfield at New Haven, Conn.

The Top Ten with last year's won-lost records and number of first place votes:

Team	Won	Lost	Total Pts.
1. UCLA (22)	28	2	287
2. Michigan (4)	24	4	248
3. Duke (2)	20	5	154
4. St Joseph's, Pa. (2)	26	3	150
5. Vanderbilt	24	4	133
6. Providence	24	2	97
7. Minnesota	19	5	82
8. Kansas	17	8	80
9. Bradley	18	9	74
10. Kansas State	12	13	46

Other teams receiving votes, listed in alphabetical order, were: Army, Boston College, Brigham Young, Creighton, Chicago Loyola, Cincinnati, Dayton, Davidson, Depaul, Houston, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisville, Maryland, Miami, Fla., North Carolina State, North Carolina, Notre Dame, NYU, Ohio State, Purdue, Penn State, San Francisco, St. John's, N.Y., Southern California, Southern Methodist, Tennessee, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Wichita, West Virginia.



TOMMY NOBIS
. . . A Big Steer

Tommy Nobis Undecided On Professionals

NEW YORK (AP) — All-America Tom Nobis of Texas, the No. 1 draft choice in the National Football League and a first round pick in the American League Saturday, said it may be up to two weeks before he makes a decision on which contract to accept.

Nobis, a 235-pound linebacker, was the first choice of Atlanta, which joins the NFL next season and led off that league's draft. He also was a first-round pick by Houston of the AFL in separate drafts Saturday.

"I really don't know what I'll do," Nobis said. "I haven't done business with either one of them. Oh, I've talked with representatives of each team, but we really haven't gotten down to business."

He said he expected to confer with officials of both teams in Atlanta and Houston Monday and Tuesday, "but I don't know where I'll go first—maybe Houston, maybe Atlanta."

Nobis, a 1964 All-America as a junior and an outstanding candidate for the Outlander Award as this year's outstanding collegiate lineman in the country, said he would take his time making up his mind.

"It all depends on the offers," he added.

"If they are pretty much similar, I'll probably take longer, a week or two weeks maybe."

He said that the selection by Houston, "a team in my home state, will not be a factor. It all depends on the offers."

Sportsmanship Trophy he won the past week, belonged to them as much as it did him. "Without your help I wouldn't have it," he said. "You can come by my house to look at it (the big trophy) any time." Insurance man JOHN ENSMINGER heads the wildlife unit for the next year, taking over his duties at the January meeting.

JIM BAILEY, Monroe, went to Big Horseshoe at Monterey for the limit of white perch, and Mr. Blackman, an Alexandria laundryman, fished the same lake for the limit of bass.

City Recreation Department Sets Entry Deadline

The Monroe Recreation Department has set a deadline of Wednesday, December 1 for entries in its winter Basketball Program.

Openings are still available in all leagues. Leagues that will be in operation this year are: Pee Wee for boys 12 and under; Midget for boys 14 and under; Junior for boys 18 and under; Church League for Church Members; Industrial for Civic Clubs and business concerns; and City League for independent teams.

Anyone desiring to enter a team should come by the Benoit Recreation Center, 1700 Oaklawn Drive, or telephone 325-3895.

Browns May Clinch Eastern Loop Tie Against Pittsburgh

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Pittsburgh Steelers don't change their recent style of play, the Cleveland Browns shouldn't have to resort to a last-minute touchdown pass or a last-quarter pass interception today as they try to clinch at least a tie for the title in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

The Browns, who have lost only two of 10 games, can gain their second straight conference crown if New York and St. Louis lose.

The last time the Browns and Steelers met, Pittsburgh led 19-17 until Frank Ryan hit Gary Collins with a 14-yard touchdown pass with only 44 seconds to play.

Then last week Cleveland stopped Dallas 24-17, but not before Vince Costello intercepted a Don Meredith pass in the end zone with about four minutes to play. The crucial catch came on a first-and-goal situation at the Browns' one-yard line.

"The way the play broke, it made me a free floater," Costello said, "and I was just standing around when I looked up and there was the ball. Someone had hit it into the air. I had to be the most surprised person in the world."

The Steelers were a pretty surprised team, too, a couple of weeks ago when they lost to Dallas after holding one-touchdown lead in the final period. The Cowboys won by intercepting five of the last nine passes the Steelers threw.

Then last week, with regular quarterback Bill Nelsen injured, young Tommy Wade started against Washington and completed only one pass in the first half. Veteran Ed Brown took over in the second half, but the Steelers couldn't do anything to avoid a 31-3 trouncing.

Nelsen is out again this week.

In other NFL games Green Bay is at Los Angeles, Chicago at New York, Philadelphia at St. Louis, San Francisco at Minnesota and Dallas at Washington. Baltimore and Detroit played to a 24-24 tie last Thursday and are idle until next Sunday.

Green Bay can move to within one-half game of Western Conference leader Baltimore by handing Los Angeles its 10th loss in 11 games. The Packers won the first meeting by only 6-3, but their offense finally started rolling again last week with a 38-point performance against Minnesota.

New York will try and stay in the eastern race, but Chicago has won six of its last seven games. The Bears' Gale Sayers needs only one touchdown to tie the NFL touchdown record for a rookie and is ready to spark the Bear offense once again.

St. Louis is in the same position as New York, but the Cardinals have an extra disadvantage in the probable start of quarterback Charley Johnson. Johnson is bothered by a shoulder injury and very well could be on the bench against the Eagles.

Minnesota's Frank Tarkenton and San Francisco's John Brodie should engage in an interesting aerial duel. They are tied for third among the league's passers with Brodie having thrown 19 touchdown tosses and Tarkenton 15.

Another interesting duel could come in the Washington-Dallas contest when the Redskins' Bobby Mitchell and the Cowboys' Bob Hayes start racing downfield to catch passes. Mitchell has grabbed 40 passes and scored four times while Hayes has 34 catches and eight touchdowns.

Carter Paves Way

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Quarterback Virgil Carter passed Brigham Young University to a 42-8 football victory over New Mexico Saturday, giving BYU its first Western Athletic Conference football championship in history.

Quantico Gets Upset Victory Past Memphis

QUANTICO, Va. (UPI)—The Quantico Marines exploded for 13 points in the final quarter and upset favored Memphis State University here Saturday 20-14 in the season final for both squads.

The victory gave Quantico a 6-4 record for the year and the Memphis State record went to 5-5, virtually drowning out any hopes for a bowl bid.

The Marines spotted the Tigers to a 7-0 lead the first time the Tigers got their hands on the ball. Behind the passing and running of quarterback Billy Fletcher, Memphis State moved for the score in 11 plays.

Fullback Tom Wallace capped the drive with a one-yard plunge and the extra point by Fletcher was good.

After a scoreless second quarter, the Marines charged and deadlocked the game with seven minutes gone in the third period on a flat pass from halfback Grannie Amos, a former Virginia Military Institute star, to end Hank Hatch.

Quarterback Mike Cotton flipped an eight yard touchdown pass to end Woody Gillinald on the second play of the fourth quarter to put the Marines out front to stay.

Nicklaus Holds 1-Stroke Cajun Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus shot a one-under-par 71 Saturday and remained in the lead of the $32,000 Cajun Classic by one stroke.

Hot on the heels of the Masters champ, who had a 54-hole score of 207, were seven pros bunched at 208. There were four more at 209 and five at 210.

Zarley and Dave Ragan, who had a 210 total, had the best rounds of the day — five under 67s on the par 72, 6,555-yard Oakbourne Country Club course.

Baxter, who won the Cajun Classic in 1963, had a 70. Hiskey had 71, Nieporte and Haas 70 each and Weaver 71.

The group at 209 included rookie John Schlee, Dudley Wysong, Harold Kneece, and Rockey Thompson. The 210 bunch included Ragan, rookie Al Kelley, Frank Beard, defending champion Miller Barber and Jack McGowan.

"I've still got the lead?" asked Nicklaus, who said his putting was off. "You've got to be kidding. I should be about 12 strokes behind."

Nicklaus, who has already won this year's money championship with $138,000, is seeking his sixth victory of the year. He has never won more than five in the past.

"I feel fortunate to still be in the lead," said the Ohio strongboy. "I hope I've got my bad rounds over with. I think it will take a 68 or better to win today."

Tour newcomer Ken Townes from San Jose, Calif., shot a hole-in-one on the 167-yard 14th hole with a four iron.

MRS. FRANK LAVERN TABLER

Carolyn Coates Weds Major Tabler In France

Vows uniting in marriage Miss Carolyn Coates and Major Frank Lavern Tabler were solemnized Saturday, November 20 at 4 p.m. in the chapel of Laon Air Base, Laon, France. Chaplain Robert Ray Downing officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Paeton Coates and the late Mr. Coates of Columbia. Major Tabler is the son of Mrs. William Engle of Beuna Park, California and the late Lee Tabler.

Candle trees alternated by large ferns and pedestal baskets of white chrysanthemums, carnations and greenery were placed at each side of the altar. Large lace ferns were also used on the altar, beneath a lighted cross.

An organ prelude of nuptial music was presented by Miss Nan Williamson, who played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned on sheath style with lace scallops forming the short hemline. The bodice was topped with a fitted jacket featuring elbow length sleeves. The bateau neckline was accented in back with satin covered buttons and matching fabric loops to the waistline. She wore long white gloves and carried a white Bible, a gift from her mother, and a bouquet of white carnations and lace fern with loops and streamers of azure blue satin ribbons. Her veil of French illusion drifted from a clustered pearl tiara.

Maid of honor and only attendant for the bride was Miss Janet Hartnek, who wore a street length model of azure blue silk with blue beaded motif encircling the neckline. Her headdress was a wreath of white carnations and she carried a single long stemmed white chrysanthemum. She wore shoes to match her dress.

Serving as best man for Major Tabler was Captain John R. McMurtry.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fireside Room at the Laon Air Force Base Officers' Club.

For their wedding trip the bride changed into a blue Coco-Chanel suit with handmade edging trim, a hat of matching blue and beige accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations from her bouquet. After a wedding trip to Paris, France, London, England and Dublin, Ireland the couple will be at home at Faubourg St. Firmin, La Fere, France.

The bride attended Belhaven College, Jackson, Miss., L.S.U., Baton Rouge and received her B.A. and M.A. at Northeast State College, Monroe. She was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. The groom received his BS degree in Political Science from Oklahoma University at Norman, Okla.

Rosalyn Stell Is Bride Of Hugh Holloway Clark

A morning ceremony at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving Day, November 25 in the pastor's study of the First Baptist Church, West Monroe united in marriage Miss Rosalyn Gertrude Stell and Hugh Holloway Clark. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Loyce Stell, 104 Gilbert, West Monroe, and Mr. Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hugh Clark, 2201 Fannie St., Monroe.

Dr. Clifton R. Tennison performed the double ring vows.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother - in - law, Herbert E. Johnson of Jones. For her wedding she wore a white wool suit with white satin trim and white lizard shoes, and hat of white fur. Her only adornment was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade design bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a large white cattleya orchid.

Miss Sara Lewis, West Monroe, served as maid of honor and Mrs. Robert Dhu Thompson, Monroe, was matron of honor. They wore double knit sheaths of royal blue with matching shoes and carried arm bouquets of American beauty roses. For a headpiece Miss Lewis wore a royal blue circlet of fur and Mrs. Thompson's headpiece was a circlet of royal blue velvet. Each wore a strand of cultured pearls, gift from the bride.

Mr. Clark attended his son as best man. Groomsman was William Rose, Monroe and usher was Butch Riley, West Monroe.

A silver epergne filled with white chrysanthemums and fern formed the central decor for the reception table, which was covered with a white heirloom lace cloth. At opposite end were the silver punch bowl and tiered wedding cake.

Alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. James Spivey and Mrs. Herbert Johnson, sisters of the bride, and serving the wedding cake were Mrs. Brenda Ingram, sister of the groom and Mrs. A. L. Lewis. Tea girls were Miss Judy Stell, sister of the bride and Miss Margie Adams.

After the reception the couple left for Los Angeles, California, where they will make make their home. The bride was graduated from West Monroe high school and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. A graduate of Mer Rouge high school, Mr. Clark received his B. S. degree in Geology from Northeast and presently is employed by Baroid Division of National Lead. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

White, Red Theme Used At LeBleu-Lewis Wedding

In a Thanksgiving day ceremony Thursday, November 25 in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Winnsboro, Miss Joy May Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Alphas Lewis of Chase became the bride of David Marc LeBleu, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Oswald LeBleu of Jennings.

The Rev. Blaise D'Antoni performed the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. Two large baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons behind the communion rail and two arrangements on the altar formed a setting for the exchange of vows. White pompons designated family pews.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Jim Murray of Winnsboro, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Miss Jennie Claire Carroll of Monroe.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over bridal satin, styled with a portrait neckline. The full lace overskirt, scalloped at the hemline, swept into a chapel train. She wore a fingertip lace mantilla and carried a cascade of white rosebuds encircling a white orchid.

Miss Beth Williamson, maid of honor, wore a floor length sleeveless gown of red velveteen, styled with fitted bodice and slim skirt. She wore matching shoes and formal length white gloves and carried a long stem white chrysanthemum, decorated with green velveteen leaves and red bow. Her headdress was a flat red velveteen bow.

Bridesmaids, dressed identically to the honor attendant, were Miss Sandra Dalton of Winnsboro; Mrs. Richard Tullos of Monroe;; and Mrs. Thurman Dickey Jr., of Winnsboro.

John Baker of San Antonio, Texas, served Mr. LeBleu as best man and groomsmen were Charles McDonald of Oakdale; Jimmy Cannon of Jennings and Thurman Dickey Jr., Winnsboro. Ushers were Dalton LeBlanc of Houma and Kenneth Hebert of Monroe.

Mrs. Lewis, mother of the bride, was wearing a petal pink ensemble of imported knit with small white velour hat, pink accessories and a cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. LeBleu chose a blue silk suit with walking coat and hat to match, alabaster reptile accessories and her corsage was also of cymbidium orchids.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception in St. Mary's Hall following the ceremony. Red carnations and white chrysanthemums formed the central decor for the bride's table from which red punch was served with the tiered wedding cake, cascaded with roses and lilies of the valley. A memory candle wreathed with pompons was displayed on the bride's book table, presided over by Mrs. Shelby Morse, Winnsboro, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. James M. Goslin of Shreveport, aunt of the bride, served the cake and presiding at the punch service was Mrs. Troy Portie of Sulphur, cousin of the groom. Tea girls were Misses Pat Moore, Sue Mays, Alice Gowan, Sharon Graves, all of Winnsboro; Mrs. Larry Stephens of Crowville and Miss Gayle Butler of Bernice.

Rice bags of red tulle, tied with white ribbon, were presented guests by Misses Mignon Morse of Winnsboro and Lisa Carpenter, Baton Rouge, cousins of the bride.

For a short trip to Dallas, Texas the bride changed into an oyster wool knit and royal blue suede ensemble with matching blue suede accessories, and a white gold diamond bar pin, gift of the groom. Her corsage was a white orchid. The couple will be at home in Delhi where Mr. LeBleu is employed as a pharmacist and plan a delayed wedding trip to Hawaii.

A graduate of Winnsboro high school the bride is presently a business education major at Northeast Louisiana State College. Mr. LeBleu graduated from Jennings high school and received his degree from Northeast Louisiana State College School of Pharmacy.

Elizabeth Key Delony Wed In Lake Providence Church

Solemnized Saturday, November 27 in Grace Episcopal Church at Lake Providence, was the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Elizabeth Key Delony and William Haynes Reed, Baton Rouge. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vail Montgomery Delony of Lake Providence and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson Reed of Pickneyville, Miss.

Officiating at the double ring cereminy at 11 a.m. were the Rev. Keith Riggs and the Rev. James F. Reed, brother of the bridegroom.

Arrangements of white stock, gladioli and chrysanthemums were used on the altar, on either side of which branched candelabra held lighted tapers.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a tailored silk dress of crystal blue featuring a cowl neckline and elbow length sleeves. Her nose veil was held in place by a cluster of matching blue velvet and satin leaves. She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and English ivy on a prayer book.

Mrs. Roger H. Silver Jr., of Monroe, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a suit of green silk with veiled headpiece of matching green leaves and carried a nosegay of white roses.

Mr. Reed attended his son as best man and serving as ushers were Wilson H. Williams of Baton Rouge and William Marten of Jackson, Miss.

Mrs. Delony chose for her daughter's wedding a gold wool dress with matching hat and a corsage of green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Reed's aqua silk suit was complemented by a corsage of pink orchids.

A wedding breakfast was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. When the couple departed for a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast the bride was wearing a beige suit with brown and gold accessories. Upon their return they will be at home in Baton Rouge. Both are graduates of LSU.

Petite Figures Look Best In Dresses Without Waistline

Q: My daughter is 12, 4 feet 10, 110 pounds, measuring 33-27-33. Should she wear waistless straight dresses, or those with a waistline? Incidentally, she put herself on a diet. Is she really too fat?

A: Any petite figure looks better in a dress without waistline, as the unbroken vertical silhouette will make her look slimmer and taller. The A-line is best for her. As to diet, no child of 12, whatever her height, should put herself on a diet. This is downright dangerous. Take her to her doctor and have him advise her on weight and diet.

Q: I live in a small town and find it very hard to buy good clothes in size 18½, so I end up making most of my clothes myself. I get several women's magazines but find very little in them for me. Can you help me?

A: I will send you the name of half-size clothing designers, but the difficulty is to find enough choice in the stores. Fashion people today are on such a youth kick you'd think no one was left who wore 18. In fact, I've heard some of them actually say this! So it's very discouraging to be wearers of size 18½. I'd be interested to hear from other half-size readers whether they have the same trouble or can offer help.

MRS. WALTER RONNIE KOSNIK

Lady Of Fatima Church Scene Of Wedding Vows

Miss Lucille Rita Cernigliaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Cernigliaro, 109 Smith Avenue, Monroe, became the bride of Walter Ronnie Kosnik, England Air Force Base, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Kosnik of Ithaca, Michigan, in a double ring ceremony Saturday, November 20 in Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church.

The Rev. George Martinez, pastor, performed the 10:30 a.m. nuptials before the altar which was adorned with white chrysanthemums in bronze vases. Flanking the altar were pedestal baskets of large white chrysanthemums.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage the bride was wearing a full length gown of white peau de soie, designed with wrist length sleeves and scoop neckline, encrusted with seed pearls and reembroidered lace. The lace motifs were repeated on the bouffant skirt and watteau train. Her elbow length veil of illusion was attached to a floral design headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a purple-throated white orchid and a removable center bouquet which she placed on the altar of the Blessed Mother.

Attending the bride were Miss Vita Rose Costanza, maid of honor; Mrs. Joseph D. Cernigliaro, matron of honor and Miss Kathy Kosnik of Ithaca, Mich., and Miss Tina Marie Bivens, Monroe, as bridesmaids. Their identical gowns were designed with empire bodices of wine velvet joined to slim skirts of pink crepe with waist bands of beaded wine velvet. Their headdresses were wine velvet roses with pink tulle veils and they wore shoes of matching pink. Each carried a bouquet of large orchid chrysanthemums with salal leaves and pink velvet tubing.

Flower girl was Miss Brenda Tarver, who was dressed identically to the other attendants and carried an orchid basket with matching flowers.

Joseph D. Cernigliaro, brother of the bride, served Mr. Kosnik as best man and groomsmen were Gary Kersken, Frank Smith and Jack DeMers. Ushers were Michael Cernigliaro and John Rodth with Victor Bivens acting as ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cernigliaro wore a three piece suit of powder blue pure silk with a white feather hat, blue shoes, white clutch bag and a white cymbidium orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a powder blue brocade dress with matching jacket, black patent accessories and a white silk hat and white orchid corsage.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held at the Progressive Men's Club, Monroe. Violet colored chrysanthemums and white stock formed the central decor for the lace-covered refreshment table and another lace covered table held the tiered wedding cake. A memory candle was displayed on the guest book table, presided over by Mrs. Jack Tornatore. Mrs. George Cernigliaro served the wedding cake and presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Bill Presley. Mrs. Sam Fontana presided at the buffet table, and floating hostesses were Miss Nancy Dispenza and Mrs. Veto Dispenza.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Florida the bride was wearing a white double knit suit with cranberry and white tapestry hat, cranberry accessories and a white orchid from her bouquet. They will be at home at 1519 Netherline in Pineville, until January 15 when they will establish a home in Ithaca, Michigan.

The bride is a graduate of St. Matthews high school and Louisiana Business College in Monroe. Mr. Kosnik is a graduate of Ithaca high school.

Johnette Osborn Becomes Bride Of Gordon Henry Jr.

Miss Johnette Osborn, daughter of Mrs. Mae Osborn, 1513 N. Third, West Monroe and the late J. W. Osborn, became the bride of Oliver Gordon Henry Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Henry Sr., 409 Register, West Monroe, in a double ring ceremony Wednesday, November 24 in Edgewood Baptist Church.

Rev. Ronald Sconyers assisted by Rev. D. E. Wainwright performed the ceremony at 4 p.m. An arched arrangement of candelabra, holding white tapers and banked with Emerald foliage formed a background setting for baskets of white chrysanthemums and gold pompons.

Appropriate music was provided by the organist, Mrs. Ronald Stephens as candles were lighted by Steve Taylor and Kenneth Ramsey, cousin of the groom. She also accompanied the soloist, Ronald Stephens.

The bride was escorted to the altar by Rev. O. P. Bazer of Shreveport, who gave her in marriage. Her gown of white peau de soie featured floor length sheath skirt with detachable circular train, bordered in Italian lace with three graduated applique circles of lace down the back. The fitted bodice was styled with long sleeves and an appliqued bib effect of the lace at the neckline. Her veil of white illusion fell shoulder length from a scalloped crown of crystals. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations, showered with ivy and streamers, atop a white Bible.

Gowned in gold velveteen were the bride's attendants, Miss Janice Hattaway, maid of honor; Mrs. R. T. Kuhn, cousin of the bride, matron of honor and Miss Sue Leporati, bridesmaid. Their dresses were styled with round necklines, long sleeves and A-line skirts. They wore headdresses of pale gold lace, topped with gold velveteen bows and carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums with ivy and gold ribbons.

Benton Moore served Mr. Henry as best man and groomsmen were Ronald Bennett and Danny Bennett. Ushers were James Osborn, brother of the bride and Daryl Henry, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Osborn chose for her daughter's wedding a Copen blue silk linen dress and jacket with matching hat, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations with blue ribbons. The groom's mother was wearing a pale pink Italian silk sheath with white gloves and other accessories in pink. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church reception room with Mrs. Roy Simmermaker as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ronald Bennett. A gold memory candle in the shape of a pine cone was displayed with the bride's bouquet on the guest book table, which was presided over by Miss Lillie Mae Shell. The refreshment table, covered in a white Irish linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white pompons in a silver compote, flanked by white tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Ronald Bennett served the cake and Miss Sara Boyd presided at the bowl of gold punch. Tea girls were Miss Linda Rigal and Miss Charlene Henry.

Rice bags of gold lace over yellow illusion, tied with yellow streamers were presented guests from a gold-covered table by Misses Sherman Ann Biggs and Ann Fortenberry.

After a wedding trip to points of interest in Arkansas and Louisiana the couple will be at home at 403 Gulpha Drive, West Monroe. For travel the bride donned an olive and Copen blue tweed suit with olive blouse and brown accessories. She wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Henry was graduated from West Monroe high school and is presently majoring in elementary education at Northeast Louisiana State College. Also a graduate of West Monroe high school Mr. Henry attended Northeast and is employed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Columbia.

Op Art Rage Hits Interior Designers

Optical or op art creates an optical illusion whether seen on a canvas in your local museum or on a dress fabric. Op art takes on many forms: op dots, black circles, vibrating lines or moire patterns. The designs are black on white with after - images, curves that affect the eye in undulating waves and squares inside. squares.

Big, bold and brash, op art has caught the eye of interior designers and also fabric designers. Striped wool carpet, laid wall to wall, fools the eye into thinking the room is larger than it is.

The New York Museum of Art and a French painter, Pierre Bonnard, can take credit for the beginning and the wide-spread acceptance of op art.

Double Ring Vows Unite Sally Farr, Burton Price

Covenant Presbyterian Church was scene of the ceremony Saturday, November 27 which united in marriage Miss Sally Ann Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Farr Jr., 435 Howard St., and Burton Louis Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover L. Price, 501 Moore Ave.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with a low arrangement of Fuji chrysanthemums and stock with a backdrop of green velvet. Flanking the altar were pedestal baskets holding massive arrangements of Fuji chrysanthemums, stock, jade and emerald fern.

Preceding the double ring ceremony performed at 2 p.m. by Rev. Wayne W. Gray, a concert of nuptial music was presented by Ronnie Brothers, organist and Robert K. Dean, soloist.

Mr. Farr gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of ivory Alencon lace featured a bodice, reembroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads, styled with scoop neckline and elbow sleeves. The silk faced skirt with panel front, swept into a chapel train in back. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a headpiece of tiny Alencon lace leaves, reembroidered with seed pearls. She wore short white gloves and carried a cascade of cymbidium orchids.

Miss Mary Louise Farr of Baton Rouge was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Janis Brandon and Janet Williams. Their floor length dresses of ice blue delustered satin were fashioned with full length sleeves and bell shaped skirts. They wore Dior bows of matching satin and carried nosegays of yellow roses.

Serving as best man was Jimmy Harold Whittington. Jerry Sandifer and Tommy Brister were groomsmen and acting as ushers were Johnny Reitzell, Monroe and Ricky Redd of Houston, Texas.

For the wedding and reception which followed in the church social room, Mrs. Farr wore an ensemble of blue reembroidered lace with matching accessories. Her corsage was of frenched yellow carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Price, chose a costume of beige lace and brocade with a small matching feather hat and a corsage of feathered carnations.

An arrangement of chrysanthemums, stephanotis and ivy encircled a five branch silver candelabra holding white tapers centering the table which was covered with a linen cutwork cloth. The silver punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. Hodge Speas and serving the wedding cake was Mrs. Claude O. Price, aunt of the groom.

Miss Ann Farr, aunt of the bride, had charge of the guest book at a table covered with a floor length white net cloth, and adorned with a single white taper in a silver holder.

Assisting with the serving courtesies were Misses Dianne Woodruff, Debbie Rosedale and Carolyn and Sherlyn Ortis.

For their wedding trip to Shreveport, the bride changed into a suit of boucle wool edged in beige lace with matching beige accessories. Her corsage was of cymbidium orchids. They will be at home at 5000 Richmond in Monroe, where Mr. Price, a graduate of Ouachita high school, is presently a junior in marketing at Northeast Louisiana State College. The bride was graduated from Neville high school and attended Northeast and BMI.

Delta Rho Delta Chapter Has Pledge Ceremony

The home of Mrs. Jean Boyce, 1107 N. 7th, was the setting for a pledge luncheon on Sunday and the monthly business meeting held Monday night of Sigma Chapter of Delta Rho Delta.

The pledge ceremony for Miss Edythe Ely was conducted by Mrs. Marie Dell Horuff, Archon, assisted by Mrs. Boyce and Mrs. Dorothy Elmendorf. A table behind which the archon and her assistants stood for the ceremony, held a single red rosebud, one white candle, tied with red ribbon and the pledge pin. The initiation was concluded with group singing of the sorority theme song.

Luncheon was served following the ceremony.

At the business meeting Monday night, a detailed account of the National convention held in Beaumont, Texas, was given by Mrs. Marie Dell Horuff, Archon. Mrs. Marguerite Malone, first vice - Archon and Mrs. Dorothy Elmendorf, newly appointed state officer of Sigma Chapter, who attended.

Plans were made for assisting the Red Cross in the making of cookies and wrapping of packages for the veterans' Christmas party to be held in Alexandria on December 5. The group also made plans for providing a basket of food for a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family and a party for the retarded children to be held on December 21.

Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll was welcomed back into the sorority as membership director. Mrs. Carroll is a charter member of Sigma chapter and has served as Archon and membership director in previous years.

Members in attendance at these functions were Mrs. Boyce, Mrs. Dorothy Elmendorf, Mrs. Marie Wilhite, Miss Jane Miller, Miss Martha Garrison, Miss Bernice McCrary, Miss Ann Mickel, Mrs. Marguerite Malone, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll and Mrs. Marie Dell Horuff.

Bride's Pride Is Silver Flatware

One of the bride's happiest occasions is entertaining new friends in that first "home of her own." And knowing that her table setting is just right can do much to give her self-confidence. That's one reason why sterling silver, the accepted standard of excellence and good taste, is the bride's first choice in flatware.

In Victorian - times, a complete setting of sterling flatware — for ONE person — might consist of as many as twenty - four pieces. Not only is this impractical today, but unnecessary as well. With today's multipurpose pieces, the six - piece setting handles almost all dining needs.

Joseph-Crew Wedding Read In Floral Setting

Fan shaped arrangements of white stock decorated the altars of St. Matthews Catholic Church for the wedding of Miss Billie Doris Crew and Dennis Lamar Joseph, Monroe, on Wednesday, November 24 at 2 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Douglas Crew Jr., 1526 Woodland, West Monroe and Mr. Joseph is the son of Dr. Philip S. Joseph and the late Mrs. Joseph of Alice, Texas.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore an Empire style gown of soft - napped lace over satin with semi - belled skirt terminating in a short train. The fitted bodice featured a rolled neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Her tulle veil extended beyond the gown's train from a bouffant pouf headdress attached to a satin - covered wedding ring, studded with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a pin belonging to her great grandmother, the late Mrs. C. T. Youngblood and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses and stephanotis atop a lace - covered missal.

Wearing floor length gowns of gold peau de soie with bodices of deep gold velvet were the bride's attendants, Miss Linda Tolbird, maid of honor; Mrs. Jack A. Howell, matron of honor and Miss Deanna Furlow and Mrs. William C. Dorris, bridesmaids. The Empire gowns featured scoop - necked bodices with long fitted sleeves and A-line skirts. Their head-dresses were circlets of gold peau de soie with matching tulle veils and they carried colonial bouquets of gold chrysanthemums.

Philip Joseph attended his brother as best man and groomsmen were Philip B. Carpenter, William C. Dorris, Bill D. Presley and serving as ushers were Mark A. Crew and Jack A. Howell.

The Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel was scene of a reception which followed the ceremony. A white floral arrangement graced the mantel at one end of the room where the receiving line was formed. The bride's table, covered with white taffeta, overlaid with net, was centrally adorned with an arrangement of white stock.

Mrs. William F. Dorris served the wedding cake and presiding at the punch bowl was Miss Judy Clark. Mrs. Marilyn Turner had charge of the guest book and others assisting with courtesies were Miss Janet Beard, Miss Katherine Etier and Mrs. Jenny Green. Rice bags were presented guests by Misses Debbie Crew and Mary Pat Young.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to Houston, San Antonio, and Alice, Texas the bride changed to a light brown three - piece knit suit with black accessories and the corsage of roses from her bouquet. Upon their return they will be at home at 316 Columbia in Monroe, where both are seniors at Northeast Louisiana State College. Mr. Joseph is a member of Kappa Alpha and Pi Sigma Epsilon fraternities.

Attending from out - of - town were the groom's father, Dr. Joseph, Alice, Texas, and his sister and brother, Mrs. Thomas Mongan and Philip Joseph, both of Houston, Texas.

MRS. ROBERT CATO JOHNSON

Sheri Woods, R. C. Johnson Exchange Vows In Crossett

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday, November 27 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Crossett, Miss Sheri Johnette Woods became the bride of Robert Cato Johnson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Woods of Crossett and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leland Johnson of Knoxville, Tenn.

Rev. B. G. Hickem performed the ceremony in a setting of greenery and myriad white tapers. Mrs. Felton Taylor was organist and Miss Pam Stone, soloist.

Entering the church on the arm of her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with an A-line skirt and Empire waist accented in front with a flat bow. A panel of Alencon lace extended from the Sabrina neckline down front of the skirt, its floral motif accented with seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to points at the wrists and a cathedral length lace-bordered train fell from the shoulders. Her ballerina length veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of lace, edged with crystals and pearls. She carried a white Bible on which rested a white orchid.

Mrs. Jack K. Bailey Jr., sister of the groom of Gainesville, Ga., served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Lewis Bedwell of Norman, Oklahoma; Mrs. Garth Dean Nix of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Joe Abbott of Hearne, Texas. Miss Wendy Woods, sister of the bride, was flower girl. They wore floor length dresses of emerald green chiffon designed with sheath skirt and Empire bodice. Dior bows of matching fabric held green nose veils and each carried a single long-stemmed pink rose. The flower girl carried a basket of petals.

Joseph Leland Johnson of Knoxville, Tenn., attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Baxter Cato, uncle of the groom, Dallas, Texas; Jack K. Bailey Jr., Gainesville, Ga., and Rowland Wilfong of Little Rock.

A reception followed in the church Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white pompons, feathered carnations and roses in a silver bowl. Mrs. Joseph Leland Johnson of Knoxville and Miss Marsha Richards, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Miss Darlene Ann Holt, Little Rock and Mrs. Harold Glenn Young, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake.

WASH FIRST

Friends who come to "meet" a new baby should not be insulted if asked to wash their hands with soap before fondling the infant.

REMOVE RUST

Rust stains sometimes give way to lemon juice. Just squeeze a little juice over the stain, let the garment dry completely and then wash in the normal manner.

Bennett-Snowden Nuptials Read In Autumn Setting

Bronze chrysanthemums in a pedestaled white urn and two white beauty baskets flanked by lighted white tapers in seven branched candelabra, entwined with foliage formed a setting in Brownville Methodist Church, Wednesday, November 24 for the wedding of Miss Doshia Snowden and Scotty Bennett.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Snowden, West Monroe and Mr. Bennett is the son of the late B. M. Bennett, Monroe.

A white satin cover draped the communion rail and white satin bows marked family pews. Rev. Troy Garrett performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. following appropriate wedding music by Mrs. Richard Soigner, organist, who also accompanied the vocalists, Miss Lille Mae Shell, and Sonny Franks.

Wearing a bell shaped floor length gown with attached train, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Appliques of lace, studded with rhinestones enhanced the bodice of the gown and outlined the train. Three petaled roses with white appliques formed the headpiece which held her illusion veil, also bordered with lace and rhinestone appliques. She carried a white orchid, encircled by white chrysanthemums.

Carrying out the autumn theme were the bridesmaids gowns and flowers in gold and bronze. Miss Glenda Roberts, maid of honor and Mrs. Cindy Freeman, matron of honor, wore bell-shaped gowns of gold peau de soie with matching veiled pillbox hats and carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums with gold and yellow streamers. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Gwen Snowden, Miss Charlotte Moffett and Miss Dorothy Stewart, were dressed in yellow peau de soie gowns with matching veiled pillbox hats and also carried bronze chrysanthemum bouquets with gold and yellow streamers.

Serving as best man was Charles Nugent and groomsmen were Harold Snowden, James Portman, Bobby Nugent and Jerry Bennett. Ushers were Dewayne Lenard and Stanley Smith and acting as ring bearer was Eddie Nugent.

For the wedding and reception which followed at Olin-kraft Cafeteria, Mrs. Snowden, mother of the bride, was wearing a gold velvet suit with matching pillbox hat and accessories and a cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. R. R. Russell, aunt of the groom, with whom he made his home, wore a green jersey dress with accessories to match and an orchid corsage.

Twin tables for the punch service and bride's cake were covered with floor length nylon net cloths over taffeta. Centerpieces were of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums in footed crystal bowls edged with crystal prisms. Twin crystal candelabra holding white tapers flanked the arrangements. A small er table also draped in net over taffeta and adorned with a memory candle, held the bride's guest book.

Mrs. Rita Moore served the wedding cake and Mrs. Mary Reppond presided at the punch bowl. Miss Martha Norrell had charge of the guest book and rice bag girls were Misses Nancy Barnes and Faye Wainwright.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to West Texas the bride was wearing an olive green and white suit with olive accessories. They will be at home in Monroe upon their return. The bride was graduated from West Monroe high school, attended Northeast and is presently employed in Monroe. A graduate of Neville high school, Mr. Bennett also attended Northeast and is presently employed in West Monroe.

Ostrich Trims Evening Gowns

Saris, St. Laurent shifts, slim velvets and crepes show the season's trend to quiet evening gowns. Newest look is ostrich feather trim, used on hems, around necklines, even as stoles.

Fabrics are softer, often on bias cut to make them look that way and in general are designed for prettiness, not splash.

Minted Silver Will Glitter For Holidays

This year's holiday glitter will be minted silver. After several seasons of gold dominance, designers like the softer look of silver, whether in brocade, silver nylon or lame.

Silver is showing up in tops for pants, in silver knit wide-legged pajamas, in silver art nouveau print dresses, often halter-necked. The halter is the new successor to the still - popular one-shoulder look.

A favorite holiday cocktail dress is the shirtwaist, done in gleaming silver lame or brocade, with the buttons in colored stones or rhinestones. More daring is the skimmer in silver nylon banded with gunmetal at neck and hem.

MISS MARTHA ANN BROWDER

Martha Browder Engaged To Wed Robert Blair

December 30 is the date chosen for their wedding by Miss Martha Ann Browder and Robert Ernest Blair whose engagement is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Browder, 1305 N. Sixth, West Monroe. The future groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blair, 508 Vernon St., West Monroe.

Vows will be exchanged at 6:30 p.m. in Brownville Methodist Church with Rev. Isaac A. Patton officiating.

Attendants chosen by the couple include Miss Sherman Ann Biggs, maid of honor and Butch Gates, best man. Cindy Bailey, niece of the bride-elect, will serve as flower girl and William Earl Cobb, nephew of the future groom, will be ring bearer.

Miss Browder was graduated from West Monroe high school and is presently enrolled at Ouachita Vocational School. Mr. Blair also attended West Monroe high school and is now employed in West Monroe where the couple will reside.

MATTRESS BELT

People bothered with mattresses that slip on the bed might consider an easily installed mattress belt that does away with the problem. Belts are available for either full size or twin beds.

Chief Tusquahoma DAR Welcomes New Member

The Scripture theme for the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty," was the topic chosen by the Rev. H. L. Sampson, pastor of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church of West Monroe, when he appeared as guest speaker for Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, DAR, Saturday, November 20 in the home of Mrs. Travis A. Brown on Pargoud Blvd.

Mrs. Ed W. Stinson, Jr., program chairman, introduced Rev. Sampson who in his inspirational address referred to three quotations "Look unto the rock whence ye are hewn," "If the foundations be destroyed what can the righteous do?" and "It is well to look back and appreciate the privilege to be free to worship God."

Mrs. Joseph B. Landreaux, regent presiding, welcomed Mrs. Joseph D. Kvaternik into the chapter as a new member. Mrs. Kvaternik, recognized as a Junior member, was presented with the DAR white hand book, chapter year book and a pamphlet "What the Daughters Do."

After the ritual, the vice-regent, Miss Katie McGee, read the president general's message from the National Magazine.

Mrs. J. L. Norris, national defense chairman, gave excerpts from articles in the National Defender, publication of the National Defense Committee, NSDAR, entitled "Senators Launch Full Probe Of Sea, Air Lift Capabilities," by Cecil Holland.

The chapter voted to send an extra $10 to the Americana Room which is located at National headquarters, and is recognized as an honor roll requirement.

Mrs. Donald Cannon, American Indians chairman, announced that two boxes of clothing had been sent to the Louisiana Indians at Elton. She also collected discarded jewelry to be sent to Bacone Indian College.

The treasurer, Mrs. D. C. Golson, presented the annual budget which was accepted by the chapter.

A letter of appreciation was read from Kate Duncan Smith, DAR School, for the Christmas box sent there recently.

Mrs. J. A. Rainbolt announced that 17 large flags had been received by members, who are urged to fly the American flag on all holidays.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held on Saturday, December 11, at the Highland Park Country Club.

Prior to the program a board meeting was held, at which time the officers accepted the appointment of Mrs. J. Metris Bell as historian, with a committee to assist. The board also accepted names for membership, after which they were voted on by the entire group. The board also set January as a tentative date for dedication of the Trenton Marker.

Carrying out the Thanksgiving theme, the hostesses, Mrs. Travis A. Brown, Miss Katie McGee, Mrs. Ruth Hundley, Mrs. Mattie M. Stewart, Mrs. Jennette Mahaffey, Mrs. Fred Brownlee and Mrs. A. L. Griffing served a dessert course to Mrs. Joseph B. Landreaux, Miss Lenee Lacey, Mrs. Rudolph Farrar, Mrs. R. E. Harrell, Mrs. Gary Hayes, Mrs. Ed W. Stinson, Jr., Mrs. H. C. Ervin, Mrs. Faye Heard, Mrs. H. C. Mize, Mrs. Donald Cannon, Mrs. Joseph D. Kvaternik, Mrs. J. O. Miller, Mrs. W. B. McGee, Mrs. H. M. McGuire, Mrs. J. C. Stewart, Mrs. J. Metris Bell, Mrs. C. Solon King, Miss Mary Louise Ellis, Mrs. Jesse L. Norris, Mrs. D. C. Golson, Mrs. W. L. Corley, Mrs. J. A. Rainbolt.

Upbeat Shoe Colors Teamed To Hosiery

One shoe manufacturer has taken upbeat shoe colors and had a hosiery manufacturer dye stockings in contrasting and complimentary colors. With a grey suede shoe, for example wear a deep peach stocking. A cardinal red shoe takes a pumpkin; a Prussian blue shoe, a burgundy stocking; an acid green shoe, a chartreuse stocking.

Naturally, the clothes you wear should either reflect the color of the shoe or stocking. This is the Total Look interpreted with color at its most individual and interesting.

USE OF MIXER

If you use your electric mixer when adding the dry ingredients (such as flour and leavening) to a cake batter, use low speed. Overbeating the batter is likely to cause tunnels in the finished cake.

MISS MARILYN RAE PAYLOR

Marilyn Paylor, Gary Bullock Plan December Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey Paylor Jr., of Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marilyn Rae to Gary Eugene Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bullock of West Monroe.

The wedding will take place on December 31 at 8 p.m. in the Jackson Street Church of Christ with Meredith Johnson officiating.

Miss Carolyn Paylor, twin sister of the bride - elect, will be maid of honor and chosen as bridesmaids are Miss Melba Lee and Mrs. Frank Smeltzer. Johnny Williams has been named by Mr. Bullock to serve as best man. Jerry Loe and Guy Elliott Jr., cousins of the future groom, will be groomsmen and acting as ushers will be Edmond Middleton and Gerald Paylor, brother of the bride-elect.

Candlelighters will be Miss Debbie Flemming, cousin of the future groom and Johnny Paylor, brother of the bride-to-be.

Miss Paylor is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Segers of Newellton and Mrs. J. H. Paylor Sr., and the late Mr. Paylor of Monroe. Grandparents of the prospective groom are Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bailey of Monroe and Mrs. Lura Petty and the late I. F. Petty, Glendale, Calif.

The bride - elect is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school. Mr. Bullock was graduated from Calhoun high school, attended Texas A & M College and is presently attending Northeast Louisiana State College.

Holiday Gloves Are Gaily Decorated

The decorated glove is part of the accessory picture for holiday evenings, where gowns are usually slim and sparing of trim. Ostrich feather headdresses and satin pumps with cut stone buckles are used with them, plus decorated gloves, to give the baroque effect which is influencing evening costumes.

When evening dresses have sleeves, the glove length should be the shortie, and it should be a decorated glove of the kind described. Generally, white ones are worn, except with black dresses, when the black short glove is correct.

A June wedding is planned.

OOC Zip Cape Newest Fashion In Rainwear

NEW YORK — Perfect rain protection for the wettest weather combined with the most original rainwear fashion news in years . . . that is the story of the exciting new raincape designed by Anne Klein for Dolphin Rainwear. The look of this new design is completely unlike any foul weather fashion yet devised, for it features an arresting straight line from its perky, peaked hood to its fashion - right hemline, and has ingenious zippers that can be opened from the inside or outside to keep hands and packages dry even in a downpour.

The fascinating new cape is called the OOC Zip Cape. Dolphin is making the award-winning Miss Klein's special, patent pending design available in a variety of vinyl and textile fabrics, in models for women, teenagers, children, and for men too. The popular patent vinyl wet look is featured in all the capes for the distaff side, with bold, attractive colors of red, yellow, white, blue, and black being offered in the various size ranges. Girls' capes are also interpreted in gay and appealing cottons, including a smart red and blue polka dot print lined with stripes in the same colors.

The "dual control" zippered closings appear at the front and the two roomy arm holes, and make it convenient to reach out in wet weather.

Ruston Quota Club Sets Homes Tour For December 12

Ruston's Open Door Tour, sponsored annually by the Quota Club of Ruston has been set for Sunday, December 12 from 2 until 5 p.m.

Homes to be featured on the fifth annual tour are those of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Howard on Southland Farm Road; Dr. and Mrs. La Moyne C. Bleich on Sherwood Drive; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Burkhalter, 112 East Carolina; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Kilpatrick, 1201 D'Arbonne and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kavanaugh, 1606 Elizabeth.

Mrs. Elaine Taylor, tour chairman, announced that seven guides will be at each home to point out architectural and decor highlights. The homes to be toured range in design from the antique to contemporary modern.

The Open Door Tour is the only fund - raising project sponsored by the Ruston Quota Club to provide finances for the club's civic projects, which include providing assistance to a high school student, conducting hearing tests in the schools and purchasing hearing aids when necessary; participation in the annual honors banquet for outstanding students and assisting at the Ruston Guidance Center.

Mrs. Taylor said that tickets are available from any Quota member or at the homes on the day of the tour. Five door prizes will be awarded this year.

WASH IT

NEW YORK (UPI) — To wash a raincoat, either suspend it on a hanger and sponge it with soap or detergent suds, or immerse it in suds and rinse water. Be sure to wash the hood both inside and outside to remove hair oils, and pay special attention to soil that collects along collar, hemlines, and sleeve edges.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES EDMOND ELMORE

Vows Unite Couple In West Monroe

A candlelight ceremony in Cypress Street Church of God united in marriage Miss Nancy Larue Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hansford Russell, 221 Circle Drive, West Monroe, and Charles Edmond Elmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Leroy Elmore of Downsville.

Rev. T. E. Miller performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. on Friday, November 19 before the altar which was banked with tall fan shaped baskets of white gladioli and fern against an arched background of white tapers in six ivy-entwined candelabra.

Appropriate music was rendered by George Miller, pianist, and Mrs. O. A. Worsham Jr., aunt of the bride, who sang.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of rose patterned white lace, over taffeta in afternoon length. The fitted bodice featured a scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves. A white satin bow accented the waist of the bell shaped skirt and her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from three white satin roses. She carried a bouquet of white feathered chrysanthemums and lily of the valley atop a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a silver cross necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Phyllis Clark, maid of honor, wore a street length dress of aqua satin, styled with long tapered sleeves and slim skirt, topped with a detachable overskirt. Her small white veil was attached to three aqua satin roses and she carried a nosegay comprised of one large white crysanthemum surrounded by tiny aqua flowers and white lace.

Jimmy Dale Elmore attended his brother as best man and ushers were Carl Van Elmore, also his brother; O. A. Worsham Jr., uncle of the bride; Johnny Russell, brother of the bride and Jerry Worsham, her cousin. Carl Van Elmore and Johnny Russell also served as candlelighters.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a pink wool suit with pink velvet veiled pillbox hat, pink gloves and brown shoes and bag. Her corsage was of small pink chrysanthemums. The groom's mother chose a pink suit with white blouse and hat and black accessories, with a corsage of pink chrysanthemums.

A reception followed in the church fellowship hall where the bride's table was covered with a white appliqued cloth, centered with a floral arrangement of pink and white chrysanthemums, flanked by white tapers in double crystal candleholders. Strawberry punch was served from a crystal bowl at one end of the table with the tiered wedding cake, encircled with pink rosebuds and silver bells, served opposite. The bride's book table, covered with a pink cloth was ornamented with candles at either end, based with three white roses.

After a short wedding trip to Shreveport the couple is at home at 218 Bell Lane, West Monroe.

Costume Jewelry Fakes It To Give Authentic Look

The increasing emphasis on femininity in fall clothes has given costume jewelry greater importance than ever, reports the Jewelry Industry Council. Brightly and elegantly, costume jewelry accents the new soft and feminine fashions.

The "real look" in costume jewelry continues to dominate with richer and bulkier effects. Shades of gold are featured in the new creations, many with exciting and interesting finishes. Topaz, sapphire and jade colored stones give added glamour.

Tailored gold colored jewelry imparts the "casual look." Many of these creations have a light brushing of pretty colored stones to blend or contrast with a favorite ensemble. Gaining in popularity is silver jewelry.

Heirloom reproductions are still enjoying tremendous vogue and many new and unusual effects are available. A notable trend is a fascinating Indian or Oriental influence with exotic and flashing colored stones in huge chunky bracelets and necklaces.

Beautiful pins, both small and large, continue front and center in style interest. A new idea is to wear a grouping of small coordinated pins or a very large one. Either choice is dashing and adds a dramatic effect.

Bracelets have taken on new importance with the chunky look of multi - colored charms. Some charms are actually gold - colored stones. Bangle bracelets are more varied and bigger than ever.

Earrings are longer and more dramatic with more color and unusual shapes. The pierced earring continues to soar in popularity as more and more women now enjoy the security and comfort of these pinned-on beauties.

For those women who are still hesitant about piercing their ears, and who want the pierced earring look, a new type of earring making its appearance is called the clipless earring.

OPEN MONDAY through SATURDAY til 9 P.M. TILL CHRISTMAS

by Marillyn Taylor

While counting their blessings for Thanksgiving, Monroyans must surely remember the glorious weather. As a fitting climax to a beautiful autumn, this weekend has been mild and bright, permitting family parties to overflow onto the terraces and into the yards.

Beginning the holiday, DOT and KENT BREARD entertained at a Thanksgiving Eve buffet Wednesday evening. Fall fruits, flowers, and foliage contributed to the harvest theme of the decor. Arriving guests noted a cornucopia spilling fruits and leaves on the entrance porch. Inside in the hall, pink debutante camellias were used in a footed silver container placed on a side table beneath a mirror.

Late blooming butterfly lilies filled a Chinese jardiniere in the library. On the mantel in the living room were deep red camellias, most effectively used with rusty - red fall leaves. White chrysanthemums in a silver bowl decorated the porch, which opened onto the patio, where the focal point was the lighted fountain.

A silver epergne filled with pink roses and wine red chrysanthemums centered the dining room table. At the base of the container were fresh fruit, fall leaves, and tiny turkey figurines. The menu included cavier with cheese, smoked turkey, pickled tongue, ham, and a chafing dish of hot broccoli with mushrooms. On the buffet, where sweets were served with coffee, were a pair of five-branched candelabra tied with pink camellias.

'Twas a real old time "gathering for Thanksgiving" at the home of CHE CHE and BURCHALL LILES, with around forty guests ranging in age from two months to eighty years. Family and friends came in from all points of the compass for this annual affair. From Shreveport came Che Che's mother, MRS. E. C. HINKLE; the CARL WILKINSONS; and the CHARLES DILLMANS with their son MATT. The W. J. TREMAINES drove over from Jackson, Mississippi, with their children, SUE and BILL. Here from Gretna were the ELDRED HARPERS and daughters LAURA and SUSAN. JOHN BURTON came from New Orleans; MRS. ROBERT CANN from Baton Rouge.

Memphis visitors included SALLY and FRANK COLVETTE and their daughter, CATHERINE. These were houseguests of her parents, WANDA and HENRY HINKLE. Also from Memphis came the BOB GREENS and their children, JEFFREY, LAURA, and VIRGINIA; and the JEFF GREENS.

A theme of blues and greens was used in decorating the long table for sixteen and four small round tables. Che Che covered the main table with a pale green cloth, accented with an olive velvet runner. A silver epergne overflowing with green grapes, blue flowers, and foliage centered the table. Blue and green cloths were used on alternating smaller tables, each centered with a bowl of green grapes. The menu, which included all the traditional Thanksgiving dishes, was highlighted by a roast whole suckling pig.

Other cousins in town for Thanksgiving weekend were JO ANN MAHAFFEY of Shreveport, guest of her sister and brother - in - law, JANET and CRAIG MORGAN . . . and GEORGE McGEE of New Orleans, visiting his mother, MRS. J. D. McGEE . . . and LT. JOE ALLEN BROWNLEE, here with his parents, the FRED BROWNLEES. Gladys and Fred visited their son last week at his station at Craig Air Force Base, Selma, Alabama.

PATTY PIERSON was here from Alexandria the early part of the week, visiting her grandmother, ANNA SLAGLE, on South Grand street. On Tuesday, Patty invited several friends of the high school set for luncheon at the Paragon.

Also from Alexandria are COL. HARVEY KELLER and his wife, MARY LEE, who arrived on Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with CLIO and DICK BRIGHT and DOT MEREDITH in their home on Emerson street.

A number of our college students are home for Thanksgiving this weekend. KAY ADAMS is here from Louisiana Tech in Ruston. We were delighted to hear that Kay has been selected as one of the ten best-dressed co-eds on the campus. These ten are to be observed for several months before one is chosen to represent Tech in Glamour magazine's national competition. Kay pledged Kappa Delta at Tech.

And speaking of Kappa Deltas, those at the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette have chosen Monroe's AMOS WARNER as the chapter's Beau of the Year. Amos was also named "Little Abner" at Sadie Hawkins Day sponsored by his fraternity, Kappa Sigma.

LUCILLE TURPIN is due home tomorrow after a five weeks trip to Washington, New York, and Virginia. Lucille is president general, National Society, Colonial Dames XVII century, and has been paying her official visit to several societies in that part of the country. Last Sunday she attended the dedication of a marker at Berkeley Plantation on the James river near Williamsburg, Virginia. The marker, which was the gift of the Colonial Dames XVII century, designates the site of the first Thanksgiving observed in America, in 1619. It was presented by VIRGINIA (Mrs. Marion) CROSS, president of the Virginia Society.

Governor - elect Mills E. Godwin, Jr., of Virginia was principal speaker at Sunday's ceremonies. Members of the U. S. Coast Guard stationed at Yorktown participated in a re-enactment of the landing of the Virginia settlers and their celebration in 1619.

Following the ceremonies, a dinner was served at Berkeley on the terraced gardens leading down to the water. The menu included a number of Virginia specialties: Berkeley hot spiced cider; Virginia Smithfield Ham; plantation turkey with chestnut and oyster dressing; Old Dominion glazed sweet potatoes and apples. Sally Lunn was prepared after President Tyler's recipe, used at his home, Sherwood Forrest, a neighboring plantation. Berkeley plantation itself was represented by the recipe for fig pudding, a family favorite of the presidents Harrison.

In Port Gibson, Mississippi, this weekend are MARY ETTA and TRAVIS BROWN. They attended a wedding there last night, and visited with several families who were friends during the Browns' years in Venezuela. Mary Etta and Travis plan to go on to New Orleans today, and fly on to Caracas Tuesday. On their way home, in about two weeks, they plan a stopover at Maracaibo.

A month in the Bahamas is the happy prospect for ZOE WILLETT, who left Monroe Tuesday. She is to fly from New Orleans to Freeport, Grand Bahamas, today. Zoe plans to return on Christmas Eve, bringing her two grand - daughters, DIANA WHITE and PAMELA WHITE, for the holidays. The girls are students at the Academy of the Assumption in Miami.

In Baton Rouge this weekend are MARY FLOURNOY and her mother, MRS. E. N. FAULK. They have been guests of Mary's daughter and son in law, LAURA and DONALD SIMMONS and their children; are due home today.

TEEDEE and JOE DIXON and their children spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Franklin, with her parents, the THEO KRAMERS. On Wednesday evening, Teedee and Joe drove to New Orleans, where they attended the debutante ball.

Members of Monroe Garden Club are hurrying with their Christmas handwork, preparing for the Christmas Showcase program planned for Monday, December 13, at Bayou DeSiard country club. All are asked to bring decorations or handmade gifts for display only. Items to be shown may be brought to the club between nine a.m. and one p.m., with the show opening at 2 p.m. This is an open meeting, when members may bring guests for a small fee. MARY MARIONNEAUX is chairman, with JOYCE DEAN, co - chairman.

"Hello, Dolly!" in miniature is to be presented next week to benefit the scholarship fund of Chapter AE, PEO. Three ladies from Alexandria perform the show, playing various musical instruments, singing the songs, reading the scenes. Those taking part will be MARY KELLY, JOANN AYRES, and LINDA PEROT.

Mary is well known in Monroe. Her daughter, NANCY OLIPHINT, lived here for a number of years. The "matinee musical" is a program which the three have presented very successfully in Alexandria. It is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., Friday afternoon, December 10, in Biedenharn auditorium, Northeast Louisiana State college. Tickets are available from any member of Chapter AE, PEO.

One of the highlights of the season for members of Louisiana Tech Concert association is set for tomorrow night with the Royal Marines Tattoo to be seen at Memorial gymnasium, on the Tech campus. A feature of the Edinburgh Festival, the program is headlined by the pipes, drums and dancers of the Scots Guards; Royal Scots Greys; two military bands of the Royal Marines; and the British Columbia Highland Lassies. Preceding the performance in the gym, the Royal Marines Motorcycle Display team will present a show at Tech stadium, beginning at 7 p.m.

Over the river and through the wood,
To Grandfather's house we go;
The horse knows the way
To carry the sleigh
Through the white and drifted snow.
Over the river and through the wood,
Trot fast, my dapple gray!
Spring over the ground,
Like a hunting hound,
For this is Thanksgiving Day.
Over the river and through the wood;
Now Grandmother's cap I spy!

Brush and Palette

by Jan Bank

I have the greatest respect for children (I have two! they outnumber me at home). Children of a young age are veracious people. They have not yet learned to differenciate between honesty and tact. They do not meet the daily challenge looking for a hidden meaning or devious plot. They accept what is placed before them with enthusiasm. They find no sophistication in being blase and comparative. When a child is bored it is no doubt genuine. When an adult is bored it is probably because as some sage said, "only bores can be bored."

After Museum director Steve Hodges gave a talk concerning the work of the three fine Mississippi artists, Halcyone Barnes, Bess Dawson, and Ruth Holmes, now on exhibit, the students started sifting through the gallery.

I was fortunate to be on hand, and I tried to stand unnoticed, beside "Freeway" by Ruth Holmes, with my "comment catching ear" turned up full volume. The painting, a dynamic abstract is the kind that generally brings a full spectrum of remarks — from awe at the price to all kinds of rausous sounds — that I've found from experience, denote like or dislike.

To my consternation, no silly statements, in fact the talk had an almost quiet quality. But it takes more than a well disciplined bunch of little kids to outwit me, so I beat them up the steps to the foyer of the upstairs gallery, where another painting by Ruth Holmes, couldn't miss. I stuffed all of me into the nearest closet so my presence wouldn't detract from their childish repartee. The painting, "Destination Moon", is a large composition, featuring a seated mechanical man, painted in great detail on a vibrant background, with a piece of something metallic of interesting design, to one side of the work. This was bound to bring comment from adult and child alike.

But, alas, my reward for almost smothering in the broom cubicle, was limited to finding out the interesting metallic was a cylanderbar cover.

The group of about thirty, ranging in age from six to 17, were not unimpressed with their artistic surroundings, in fact to the contrary, they were more interested and receptive rather than amazed.

After leaving my listening post I engaged in conversation with the youngsters' adult companions and found the answer. The group consisted of art students.

Mr. and Mrs. Larce Holder, who teach the youths, explained that aside from technical instruction, the children are taught to appreciate all the various forms and medias art entails.

The boys and girls discussed the paintings with me, enjoying very much the translucent quality of the collages by Halcycone Barnes. They were attracted by the colors and the conveyance of landscape in the paintings by Bess Dawson and were drawn to a delightful work "Japanese Sandman" by Ruth Holmes.

The appreciation of art has given to these children a pleasure no money can buy, a keep development of observation that cannot be tied with a pretty bow and presented as a gift.

Such opportunities are not only available to art students but to the parents who take their children and the adults who set the example by attending the shows at the Masur Museum throughout the year. The museum is open daily except Monday between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. for your enjoyment.

As a sequel, you might be interested to know that though the visiting group may have pursued the paintings with advantage, their major interest in the architecture of the museum was a small out-of-the-way elevator in the upstairs and an intercom system several called an "old fashioned" telephone.

Five Designs For Holidays

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

One of the Fifth District's prominent Federated garden clubs, the Garden Gate Garden Club of Winnsboro, presented the Fifth District Garden Center Program last Wednesday. Mrs. J. E. Maxwell, club president, with three other members, presented five outstanding Christmas designs that would be suitable throughout the home during the holiday season.

Mrs. Maxwell created a door design using hardware cloth for basic background cut to a triangle tree shape. Fresh green magnolia leaves were arranged on this frame for a background for colorful artificial fruits that centered the design. All materials were sewed on with needle and thread.

This could be hung from the door easily from a nail or hook placed in the door. Also, this could be used on a den wall or over a large fireplace. Mrs. Maxwell explained that she had used this frame before, simply replacing the foliage from one season to the other. At one time she let the magnolia leaves dry, then sprayed them with gold paint. The fruit was attached to this and the "tree" was hung against a red foil covered front door. This was so effective that she won second place this year on home decorating.

YULE LOG

Mrs. F. B. Etheridge made the Yule Log as her decorations for her home. The log section was found along the roadside. If you were less fortunate you could easily cut one in the woods. A section was cut from the central part of the log for the holder. In this case it was a large block of green styrafoam. Two round holes were drilled on each side of this for candles. Into the styrafoam she placed three tiered red candles with a filler of fresh holly and red satin balls picked into the styrafoam. Two shorter red candles were placed into the holes finishing the design. A large red velvet bow created the focal interest in the center of the holder. For the program the entire log was placed on a red velvet base. This design had a warm, friendly effect that would be lovely over the large rock, or brick fireplace.

Mrs. Aron May presented two designs. The first was a lovely design created with eucalyptus for the Hogarth line in a very ornate container made of a bottle covered with chipped glass in colors of blue and crystal. White spray-type mums filled in this line. Leather fern and tropical foliage accented the flowers at the central section. The lower line of the design was accented with a bunch of glamourized green grapes placed on the large base at the foot of the container. Each grape was covered with green sequins. These were made by Mrs. May who spent quite a lot of time making other types of fruits for her next design using the same method of pinning the sequins on with straight pins.

PLYWOOD TREE

This fruit is lovely and worth all the time and patience that goes into its making. For her second design Mrs. May cut a tree from plywood first making her pattern from paper. This was painted green then decorated with chips of blue and green glass glued onto the tree with household glue. Gold metallic ric-rac braid was glued on the outer edges of the tree as a finishing. At the base of the tree she placed a candle holder made from a glass bottle with the neck burned off to form a smooth edge. The colored glass chips and ric-rac were glued onto this for decoration. Around the candle was placed fruits, some glamorized with the sequins in colors of red, gold, and blue (grapes). This was very effective for the kitchen entrance of Mrs. May's home.

SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Mrs. Sonny Stephens created a lovely entrance decoration that she titled "The Spirit of Christmas." Using an old bed post that she sprayed gold for a container she placed clipped pine for the graceful line into a large block of green styrafoam anchored on top the post. A row of white poinsettias in graded sizes filled in the line of pine. A large cluster of gold Christmas balls hung from the central section, which added the glitter to the design. The focal interest was brought into the design by the placement of a lovely white ceramic Madonna bust. This was placed just above the cluster of gold balls. This was one of a pair of designs that will greet the guests in the entrance hall of the Stephen's home during the holidays.

Many enjoyed this program because I have been told about it from so many who came by the center for a close look. Many sketched the designs for a lasting description so they could use the same idea in their own homes. It was a wonderful program by a wonderful and talented garden club. To them we all say "Thanks."

So many have asked about the recipe for the pepper jelly. If you have the peppers in your yard be sure to gather some before the frost gets them. If you are interested in a real delicacy here is the recipe.

6½ cups sugar
1½ cups apple cider vinegar

Boil all together for one minute then cool 10 minutes. Now add one bottle of certo and boil hard for one minute. Pour into small jars and cover with melted wax. It is wonderful for cold turkey or other meats.

Wednesday, the program will be presented by the Farmerville Garden Club. Mrs. Melvin Everett is president of this Federated club.

WITHOUT A MAP

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — You can add this to the hazards of cross-country running: Getting lost.

Pete Scott of the University of Nebraska was leading the pack in a four-team meet over the Pioneers Park course in Lincoln recently when he made a wrong turn. Even worse, several teammates followed him. By the time Scott got back on course, he was out of contention and finished fifth.

Coach Frank Sevigne was philosophical about the mixup.

"This isn't the worst thing that ever happened to me in cross country," he said.

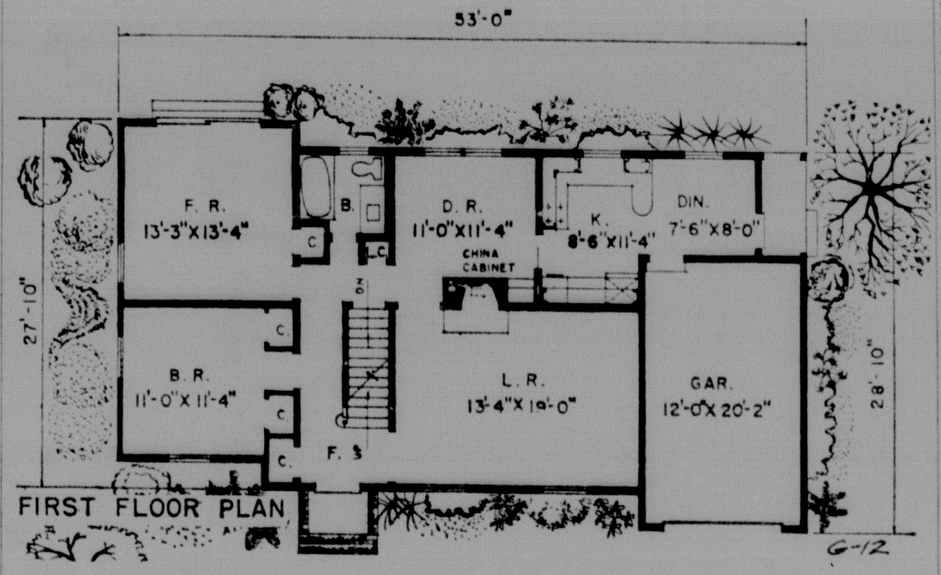
RETAINING ALL the features that have given traditional Cape Cods their charm and appeal down through the years, including the dormers, horizontal clapboard siding and shuttered windows, this house has a decided look of welcome.



FLOOR PLANS: First floor provides comfortable room arrangement for small family; second floor can be left unfinished until family grows to fit it.

Easy Expansion Permitted In Modest Cape Code House

By ANDY LANG

Compactness is an essential characteristic of a modest home that can serve for a couple or meet the demands of a growing family. Without this, a house is either too big for a husband and wife or too small for a family which may get larger as times goes on.

A good example of a residence with compactness which permits whatever degree of expansion is necessary is the Cape Cod designed by architect William G. Chirgotis for House of the Week. Essentially, it is a one or two - bedroom dwelling enclosing less than 1400 square feet of living area on the first floor, with over - all dimensions of 53' by 28' 10". An excellent size for, let us say, a middle-aged or elderly couple whose children have grown and are married. Their needs are met with a floor plan that includes a living room, dining room, kitchen, dinette, bathroom, garage, a bedroom and another room that can be used for informal entertaining or as a guest bedroom.

This same one-floor setup is also ideal for a young couple with one or two small children, since the extra room just mentioned then can become a nursery. For the family whose immediate or future needs require additional space, the upstairs area can be made into two bedrooms and a bath, as shown in the plans of the architect. This adds 590 square feet of habitable area to the house, turning it from a one-bedroom to a four - bedroom home without any increase in the size of the plot. Each family can make its own decision as to whether this upstairs area should be finished at the time of construction or at a later date.

Whatever utilization is made of the plans, the owners can be assured of a house with unpretentious but solid design producing comfortable living in an economical frame. Its foyer, with an open stairway that leads to the second floor, is the circulation center. From it, guests can move to the principle entertainment areas as the occasion demands — directly into the living room or the dining room or the family room without crossing any other room. Whether the family room is used as such, or for any other purpose, it provides an entry to the rear garden or patio through sliding glass doors.

The living room has a brick-faced fireplace, the back of which creates a floor - to - ceiling brick wall in the adjacent dining room and a place for a built - in china cabinet. The kitchen - dinette is large enough to accommodate the needs of any family. There is an entry to the outside, as well as a connection between the garage and the service area thus permitting easy movement of packages from the car to the house.

Upstairs, each bedroom has adequate wall space, cross-ventilation and over-sized closets. If there is no immediate need for this area, but it appears likely there will be in the future, it might be advisable to have the basic framework for the two rooms installed when the house is constructed. Then, later, the man of the house will have a comparatively easy time finishing off the rooms.

The exterior of this house has all the picturesque appeal of the well - done Cape Cod, including two roof dormers, horizontal clapboard siding and shuttered windows.

A full study of this architect - designed House of the Week may be obtained by writing THE HOUSE OF THE WEEK, c-o the Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La., and enclosing 50 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing. Please specify House Plan G-12.

Shrubs, Tree Planting Time

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Many gardeners have the mistaken idea that shrubs and trees should not be planted until early spring. This idea comes from information orginating in colder zones of the country where spring planting is recommended because soils are frozen and proper soil management cannot be carried out.

However, you, Mr. and Mrs. Ouachita Parish, should take advantage of the late fall and early winter season for planting trees and shrubs. Plants set out early can become established during the winter months.

Soil temperature is high enough during much of the winter in our section to allow for root growth. Plants that become well established with a good root system will require less care during the winter months.

SUGGESTIONS

If you, Mr. or Mrs. Gardner, are planting or transplanting trees or shrubs, the following suggestions will be most helpful:

Separate the top soil from the subsoil when digging holes for plants. The top soil should be placed back around the root system. The hole must be large enough so that the roots may be spread out naturally without being cramped. Plant the shrub or tree at the same depth it grew in the nursery or other area before being dug. If poor soils exist, import some good soil to be used around the roots. Press the earth down firmly, embedding all parts of roots and working the soil in under the crown. This eliminates air pockets.

Water thoroughly after transplanting. Trim broken or bruised branches. For large trees, prune back about one-third of the plant top to compensate for root loss at transplanting. Mulch all newly set plants. Trees in exposed places should be staked for proper anchorage. Place three stakes evenly around the tree. Run wire around the tree trunk, and tie it to the stakes. Be sure the wire is wrapped with burlap or threaded through a section of garden hose to prevent bark injury.

Wait to fertilize after the plant has become established. Water plants during period of dry weather, especially for the first summer.

If you, Mrs. Ouachita Parish, want to see Christmas decorations, come to the Agriculture Auditorium Friday, December 3, at 9:30 a.m. There will be at least fifty decorations prepared by members of the Home Demonstration Clubs of the parish. Also, beginning at 9:30 a.m., Mrs. Donna Moore, associate home demonstration agent, and your home demonstration agent will give a demonstration on "Foods For The Holiday Season."

Mrs. Home Demonstration Club member, remember the nursery will be open if you want to leave the children, but of course, they are always welcome at the meeting.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are in order for all members of the Thrifty Homemakers Club for having the greatest per cent of members present at the Special Interest meeting last week on "Recipes For Laundering." The Club was awarded $20 in cash by a manufacturer of washers and dryers. Mrs. Floyd Kent is president of the club. There were 178 Home Demonstration Club women present for the meeting. Other clubs having a high percentage of members present were Claiborne, Mrs. Jasper Jones president; Okaloosa, Mrs. Ronnie George, president; Sterlington, Mrs. D. W. Layburn.

PAINTING

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, have decided to paint the interior walls of a room, then here are some points to remember. . . Paint the ceiling first. Begin painting at the corner of the wall and finish the entire wall before proceeding to the next wall. Where the same paint is used on all walls and woodwork, do the woodwork along with each wall. If paper is to be used, paint the woodwork first. Cover window glass with aluminum foil, secured with masking tape. Paint the window sash first, then the frame and the sill last. Paint door frames first, then the top, back and front edges of the door itself. If painting baseboards, use a cardboard or plastic guard held flush against the wall and floor for protection.

A THOUGHT

There is no such thing as something for nothing. Anything you get for nothing will be worth just about that and very likely considerably less.

Southern Gardener

Sasanquas Gain Favor

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

For literally years and years, southern gardeners were so captured by the big flowers of the camellia japonica varieities that they refused to pay any attention to the fall-blooming sasanquas. Camellia sasanqua was discovered by Dr. Kaempfer at the same time he discovered C. japonica in Japan in 1690.

We have the late E. A. McIlhenny and Mr. K. Sawada in the lower south to thank for importing the sasanquas. They grew them for a long time before people would ever pay any attention to them. "Nothing succeeds like success", however, and, once people caught on to the dazzling beauty of the handful of original varieties, they began to plant them everywhere. Just recently, we have begun to hold camellia shows in the autumn, with sasanquas as the main feature and the few fall-blooming japonicas playing second fiddle.

UNSURPASSED

At first, people would not pay much attention to the sasanquas because of their small flowers as compared to the larger japonicas. It was soon discovered, however, that the sasanquas bloomed way ahead of the japonica season. Just as the leaves fall from the trees in November, the sasanquas come into their own. As flowering shrubs, they are unsurpassed by anything for we have no spectacular fall blooming shrubs like the sasanquas.

In a column last fall, we described how the roses got sick in Audubon Park in New Orleans and were replaced with sasanquas to everyone's delight. This was, for this columnist, a great triumph because I had worked with The Garden Club of America on a project to test out the cold hardiness of sasanquas as far north as Philadelphia and Long Island. It had looked, at one point, as if the northern states took more interest in sasanquas than the southern.

DIFFERENCES

In the upper south, the sasanquas do not begin to bloom quite as soon as they do in the deep south. This is good, because our later flowering period gives us sasanquas right along until after Christmas during the fine, sunshiny days of early January. As camellias get older and become large bushes, the protection offered by the heavy foliage allows the buds up underneath the leaves to escape cold damage. The flowers that open underneath the foliage manage to show their faces and last for several days between cold snaps before they are damaged.

The habit of shedding their petals easily is both good and bad in sasanquas. If they did not shed them quickly, sasanquas would become unsightly with dead flowers. In the house as cut flowers, however, most of the older sasanquas are unsatisfactory. More and more varieties are crowding into the sasanqua lists, these days, and some of these do not shed badly.

There are many more species of camellias besides the japonicas and the sasanquas. As they become available, we suspect that the camellia-loving public will not be as slow about accepting them as they were about receiving the sasanquas.

OUTSIDE IN

Gay, decorative window treatments, such as unusual shades, curtains or drapes, can certainly do a lot for a room. But before you choose, give a thought to how the window will look from the outside. That, after all, is everyone's first impression of the window.

There's A Church Home For You in the Twin Cities . . .

Anyone desiring to know the location of a church of any denomination in the Twin Cities and the time of its Sunday services may call The Morning World at 323-2070, FA 3-3660, FA 3-0501 and ask for the church service directory. We'll be glad to supply you the information.

A BIBLE SCHOLAR has described the Bible as the Rock of Ages, because it is a guide to better living, and points the way to Eternal Life through following God's teachings. By developing the habit of daily Bible reading, Christians can draw greater strength and inspiration for facing the problems of this complex age, but as one churchman said, "The Scriptures should be studied with an 'open heart' as well as an open mind."

From The Bible

Christ Teaches Of Forgiveness

The importance of forgiveness was taught by Jesus during his ministry on earth. Some of his teachings on this matter are reported in the 18th chapter of Matthew, verses 15 through 35:

Moreover, if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.

But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.

And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican.

Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

AGREEMENT

Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of My Father which is in heaven.

For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.

Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times?

Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times: but, Until seventy times seven.

Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would take account of his servants.

And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him, which owed him ten thousand talents.

But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold and his wife, and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made.

The servant therefore fell down, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.

But the same servant went out and found one of his fellowservants, which owed him an hundred pence: and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

ASKED PATIENCE

And his fellowservant fell down at his feet, and besought him, saying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

And he would not: but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

So when his fellowservants saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came and told unto their lord all that was done.

Then his lord, after that he called him, said unto him, O thou wicked servant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou desiredst me:

Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellowservant, even as I had pity on thee?

And his Lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he should pay all that was due unto him.

So likewise shall My heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses.

Rev. Haug To Preside At Meeting

The Rev. Ned L. Stout is host pastor for the meeting at the First Methodist Church, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The conference theme is "Our Church's Mission." Bishop Aubrey G. Walton will preach the conference sermon in the closing service at 11:45.

W. D. Cotton of Rayville, member of the General Commission on Promotion and Cultivation, will make the keynote address at the opening session. New preachers will be licensed and these reports will be made:

Robertson, St. Andrew's Sterlington, worship.

Many Churches Avoid War Issue

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

American church denominations, usually inclined to speak out on moral issues before the nation, today are generally noncommittal about the war in Viet Nam.

Many individual clergymen and special groups have voiced firm opinions about the matter, sometimes critical of U.S. policy, and religious periodicals have carried considerable pro-and-con discussion.

But the major denominations, other than pacifist bodies, have largely avoided taking official and definite stands on American military involvement, either disapproving or clearly supporting it.

"There is no real consensus among American Christians on how to bring about peace with justice in Viet Nam," the president of the National Council of Churches, Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, has said.

SPECIAL PANEL

The council, including most of the larger Protestant and Orthodox church bodies in the country, has assigned a special panel of leading churchmen to assess the situation, and also recommend ways to relieve suffering in Viet Nam.

But just how specific its findings may be about the complex, harsh and expanding conflict remains uncertain. A report is to be made to the council's policymaking general board meeting Dec. 2 and 3 in Madison, Wis.

The task of peacemaking has been gradually "withdrawn from the churches," says a Roman Catholic theologian, the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, writing in Worldview about the growing domination of technology.

However, amid the contentions that only specialists with inside information are competent to judge the problem, it also is argued that counsellors in the moral dimension also should contribute their insights.

Otherwise, the effect is conformity "to anything the prevailing power structure does," Dr. William Henry Harris, philosophy professor at Southern Illinois University, writes in Christian Century.

Yet at present, he says there is a "feeling that a clear judgment is somehow unreasonable or in bad taste."

VIEWPOINT

He adds: "Making unquestioning support for a government policy the touchstone for patriotism debauches the democratic process."

The Catholic magazine, America, also cites the "present dilemma of dissent."

It says that in the present atmosphere of pacifist protests by fiery self-immolation and draft-card burnings, "responsible debate and dissent so necessary for democratic life are often muffled and distorted in the din."

Prior to the start of the National Council's study, two interdenominational journals, Christian Century and Christianity and Crisis, last summer objected that interchurch agencies have shied away from the Viet Nam issue.

"We believe that the churches' witness should not be withheld in debates of national policy," a joint editorial said.

Nevertheless, some agencies, individual clergy groups and smaller denominations have voiced clear-cut views about the Viet Nam war. A pacifist denomination, the Church of the Brethren, declared officially that U.S. military intervention "tends to escalate us in to world war."

Lists of clergy petition signers criticizing U.S. policy also have appeared, including about 3,000 Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic supporters of the "Clergyman's Emergency Committee for Viet Nam."

The Methodist Board of Social Concerns also has voiced misgivings about the U.S. role, but not the denomination as a whole through its representative convention.

URGED 'BEGINNING'

The sixth World Order Study Conference in St. Louis last month, bringing together 600 clergy and lay scholars in international affairs, urged the United States to seek an "immediate beginning" of negotiations to limit its bombings to strictly military targets in the fighting area, and seek a United Nations conference to explore the "long-term" issues.

The conference, although organized by a branch of the National Council — its International Affairs Commission — did not represent the council on a policymaking basis, nor speak for it.

However, some of the positions it advocated may be put before the policymaking general board meeting next month.

The board previously has urged U.S. efforts to negotiate a cease-fire, and reappraisal of "the policy of emphasizing our determination to resist Communist aggression by bombing North Viet Nam."

What the outcome of such a reappraisal should be, the board left somewhat open, although implying in a qualified way, that the approach may need to be changed.

Some smaller denominations have indicated support for the present course of military action, but to most larger church bodies, the trouble apparently has seemed too tough to talk about conclusively.

Survey Indicates Growing Challenge To City Churches

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

There are serious implications for all city churches in a study recently completed in the nation's capital by the Greater Washington Council of Churches.

It shows that people who live in apartments are not likely to join churches. In the Washington area, more than 60 per cent of the residents of single family homes are affiliated with churches. But less than 5 per cent of the apartment dwellers are church members.

This finding is ominous because there is a marked trend toward apartment living. Fifty per cent of the increase in adult population in the Washington area over the past five years has moved into apartments.

HARD TO FACE

If Washington is representative of American cities—and in this matter it probably is—churches have hardly begun to come to grips with the problem of reaching apartment dwellers.

Of the 1,500 churches in the metropolitan area covered by the survey, only 50 now are making a continuous and aggressive effort to minister to apartment residents.

The study was made under the supervision of the Rev. Charles A. Ellett, a trained researcher and a specialist in religious sociology. His conclusion: "Churches are losing personal contact with a large and growing segment of the city's population."

It won't do much good, in the Rev. Mr. Ellett's opinion, to tackle the problem on an every-denomination - for - itself basis. Apartment dwellers place a high value on their privacy and tend to react with pronounced hostility to doorbell ringers who solicit their attendance at a particular church.

What might work better, he thinks, is an ecumenical approach.

PROCEDURE

Each individual or family who moved into an apartment house would receive a single call from a person representing all of the churches and synagogues in the neighborhood. The caller would extend a welcome and leave a brochure giving the addresses, service hours and other information about nearby houses of worship. If the occupant indicated interest in any particular denomination, the caller would report this to the appropriate church for a follow-up contact.

A second suggestion from the Rev. Mr. Ellett is that urban churches revamp their programs to put more emphasis on concerts, films, literary discussions or social activities that might appeal to single adults or couples without children. At present, he points out, most of the extra-curricular activities of churches are slanted toward the family.

He also recommends that churches give "far higher priority" to the use of mass media—newspapers, radio and television—as a means of communicating with the growing army of city dwellers who have no personal contact with any religious body.

EXPERIMENT

It so happens that one major protestant denomination, the United Church of Christ, is already in the midst of an imaginative experiment in the use of newspaper advertising in the Washington area.

Two column display ads are being run once a week in Washington newspapers—not on the church pages but in the general news sections, alongside commercial advertising.

They are clever, eye-catching ads which obviously have been prepared by professionals. They are aimed at people who don't go to church. Under the heading "never on Sunday?" one recent ad undertook to answer people who say they "have nothing against religion but don't like the institutional church." It concluded:

"We realize there is a great deal more to church and religion than the Sunday morning worship service. Still, we feel it is a good place to start. You are welcome in our churches on Sunday or any other day."

LIST PROVIDED

At the bottom of the ad was a list of 19 United Church of Christ congregations in the Washington area, with their addresses and telephone numbers.

Another ad had a big headline proclaiming that "We give our sermons in 40 languages." The small print explained that United Church missionaries are at work in that many countries. Then, the ad went on to say:

"In Washington we speak English. Everyday English that makes sense about . . . what we believe in."

"What's on your mind? Come in and talk it over. We're ready to talk with you in straight-from-the-shoulder language."

Whether the advertising campaign will boost church attendance remains to be seen. But a recent survey among passersby on a downtown street corner clearly indicates that the ads are getting through. Two thirds of the people questioned replied immediately that they had seen them.

REV. ARNOLD PRATER

Evangelistic Effort Slated By Methodists

A "Three Days for Christ" evangelistic effort will be held at the First Methodist Church of Monroe starting Friday, December 3, and continuing through Sunday, December 5. Guest preacher will be the Rev. Arnold Prater, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Marshall, Mo. The Rev. George Dent, gospel singer from Park Place Methodist Church, Houston, Tex. will lead the congregational singing.

Services on Friday, December 3, and Saturday, December 4, will be held at 7 p.m. On Sunday, December 5, there will be two identical morning services at 8:30 and 10:50, and the evening service will be held at 5:30.

SERIES CONTINUED

The first in the three-day revival series was started three years ago at the church which is located on the corner of Wood and Jackson in downtown Monroe. Officials said that because of the outstanding results, the annual event was continued.

Rev. Prater, the evangelist, was born in Evanston, Ill., and received his formal education at George Washington University, Washington, D. C., and Kirksville State Teachers College. During World War Two he served as a gunner and radio operator on a B-17 with the 8th Air Force in England.

CALL TO MINISTRY

Because of a vital religious experience while in military service, he said, he answered the call to the ministry in 1948. Rev. Prater is author of several books and magazine articles. He has been the inspirational speaker for such outstanding groups as the South Central Jurisdictional Conference on Discipleship at Lake Murray, Okla.; the Texas Conference Laymen's Retreat at Palestine, Tex. and the Southeastern Jurisdictional Minister's Retreat at Gatlinburg, Tenn. He is married, and has two children.

Rev. Dent is a native of Henderson, Tex., and was a successful businessman before entering the field of gospel singing. A record of gospel hymns made by him titled "Then Sings My Soul," has been widely circulated. He has served as song leader for revivals throughout the southwest, and has worked with Rev. Prater on several occasions.

Church Group Given Citation For Structure

Warner Auditorium, 7,500-seat dome - type convention center in Anderson, Ind. of the Church of God, largest structure of its kind, has won the Citation for Engineering Ingenuity from the Indiana Society of Architects, AIA, and its 1965 Triennial Awards Jury.

The building, constructed in 1961, was designed by Johnson, Richhart and Associates, Anderson architectural firm, which also was cited by the Hoosier society. The auditorium, 268 feet in diameter and 68 feet high, had its 3,000,000 pound thin-shell concrete dome created on the ground and hoisted into place through use of a lift - slab system employing 35-hydraulic jacks.

3 Area Laymen Revival Speakers

Two Monroe laymen and one from Ruston will be speakers at a Laymen's Revival starting today at Lakeview Methodist Church at Minden and continuing through Thursday.

Hale Shadow of Ruston will speak at 7 p.m. today, Joe Solomon of Monroe will speak at the same time Monday, and Pete Medak of Monroe, Tuesday evening. Medak is district lay leader of the Monroe Methodist District.

Theological Discussions Are Resumed

LONDON (AP) — Full-scale theological discussions between the Anglican Communion and the Orthodox Church, which were dropped in 1922, will now be resumed with approval of the leaders of both churches.

The special envoys from the Ecumenical Patriarch — the Metropolitans Meliton of Heliopolis, Chrysostomos of Myra and Athenagoras of Thyateia — have been in London to convey to the Archbishop of Canterbury (Dr. Michael Ramsey) the decision of the Third Pan-Orthodox Conference, held in Rhodes last November, to resume the joint doctrinal discussions.

The Archbishop, in reply, said that all the Metropolitans of the Anglican Communion throughout the world were agreed on the resumption of theological discussions.

"Plans are being made," he told the Orthodox churchmen, "for the construction of a Pan-Anglican theological commission of learned theologians drawn from many parts of the world, who will be ready in due course to meet and engage in discussion with the commission appointed in the name of every part of the Holy Orthodox Church."

When talks were last held in 1922, the Ecumenical Patriarch (Patriarch of Constantinople) recognized that Anglican orders had the same validity as those of the Roman, Old Catholic and American Churches. This recognition was later affirmed by the Patriarchs of Jerusalem, Alexandria and Romania and by the Church of Cyprus.

Nation Asked To Mark '66 As 'Year Of Bible'

The American people have been urged to observe 1966 as "The Year of the Bible" as part of the 150th Anniversary of the American Bible Society — missionary agency for more than 65 denominations and their 60 million communicants for printing, translating, distributing and encouraging the use of the Bible in this and 130 other countries.

With the observance already endorsed by the United States Senate and governors of 25 states, a series of national events spanning the year have been scheduled. They will draw worldwide participation from most of the countries in which the American Bible Society operates.

In addition, many regional and local "birthday" commemorative meetings are being scheduled throughout the United States during the year by church denominations at their annual conventions, conferences and synods.

The American Bible Society itself will celebrate the year by dedicating and occupying its new 12-story building, the tallest Bible House in the world, near Lincoln Center and by increasing its distribution of Scriptures in the United States and abroad to a record 75 million copies for the year.

NEEDS MOSQUES

LONDON (AP) — Britain needs more mosques for its increasing numbers of Moslem immigrants. When the country's first mosque was built in suburban Woking in 1889, there were only 9,000 Moslems in Britain. Now there are an estimated 175,000. A planning subcommittee of the Central London Mosque Trust, composed of the Malaysian and Pakistani high commissioners and the Egyptian and Saud-Arabian ambassadors, is throwing open to international competition the design for a proposed new mosque in London's Regent's Park. The winning design will be chosen by April of next year.

ONE OLD CHURCH

LONDON (AP) — St. Ethelreda's church in Ely Place, a stone's throw from busy High Holborn and the diamond merchants' district of Hatton Garden, is London's only pre-reformation church in Roman Catholic hands. All the others were taken over by the Church of England.

METHODIST ELECTION

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Bishop Odd Hagen of Stockholm, head of the Methodist Church's Northern Europe Area, has been elected president-designate of the World Methodist Council, to take office in mid-1966.

9 MILLION LUTHERANS

NEW YORK (AP)—Membership in Lutheran churches in North America now exceeds 9 million, the National Lutheran Council reports.

Rev. Paul Kolb To Be Speaker For Homecoming

The annual homecoming banquet will be held today at West New Home Baptist Church, Good Road, Route 2, Rayville, it was announced by the Rev. Everett Geis, pastor.

The Rev. Paul Kolb, district missionary for Richland Parish will present the message at the 11 a.m. service and lunch will be served following the morning service. There will be hymn singing following lunch. The event is open to the public.

REV. FRED DOOLITTLE

Rev. Doolittle To Complete Service Here

The Rev. Fred Doolittle, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, North 5th at Breard, Monroe, for almost 10 years, will complete his service with the church at the close of the evening worship today.

He will assume new duties as pastor of Harbor Baptist Church, Houston, Texas, December 5.

RECEPTION

The wives of the deacons of Emmanuel Baptist Church will give a reception in honor of the pastor and his family at the close of the evening worship today in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

During Rev. Doolittle's time with the church here it has shown considerable increases in membership and property valuation. He has served as president of the Monroe Ministerial Alliance on several occasions and has filled many posts in the Ouachita Parish Baptist Association. He also has been active in student work at Northeast State College here.

Revival Series Scheduled At First Southern

A three-day revival series will open Friday, December 3, and continue through Sunday, December 5 at the First Southern Methodist Church, 400 Jackson St., Monroe. Services will be held nightly at 7:30 and at 11 on Sunday morning.

On each of the nights there will be a pre-service prayer meeting starting at 7 o'clock. The women of the church will be led by Mrs. E. R. Timmerman and the men by A. E. Price. The Rev. Tom Hale, pastor, will preach at the four services during the revival. Music will be provided by The King's Messengers.

As a preliminary to the revival series, prayer groups will meet at the following homes on the various days scheduled at 7 p.m.

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 409 Benton; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Braddock, 2102 Sara. Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Faulk Jr., 1404 Forsythe; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Naff, 531 Mississippi. Wednesday, Enaut Hall, 400 Jackson St. Thursday, Mrs. E. R. Timmerman, 3105 South Grand; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Grubbs, 503 Frederick.

MY ANSWER

By Billy Graham

I believe that if everyone would apply the 'law of love' this world would be a better place and most of our problems would be solved. What do you think?

J. L.

In a recent survey it was found that eight out of ten Americans agree with you — that most of our major problems could be solved if we could somehow apply the Golden Rule. But an interesting finding came out of the same survey — eight out of ten Americans questioned thought they were living by the law of love. You see, we think the trouble is with the other fellow.

I agree if we all exercised the 'law of Love' that many of our problems could be solved. But the difficulty is if God, who is Love, is not in our hearts, then we can hardly expect to manifest His love. Our natures need to be changed before the world can be changed. God's love needs to be allowed to flood our hearts, and then hatred, prejudice, and ill-will will be crowded out.

GUEST SPEAKER

Guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service today at Westminster Presbyterian Church, 200 Selman Drive, Monroe, will be the Rev. Bob Fitler of Vicksburg, Miss.

Hundreds March Through London

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of demonstrators marched through London on Saturday night in a torchlight protest against the war in Viet Nam.

The British march was in support of a mass demonstration in Washington seeking to persuade President Johnson to halt bombing of North Viet Nam and push harder for truce talks.

The London marchers, nuclear disarmament campaigners and other left-wing peace group followers, marched from the Royal Albert Hall across the center of the city. Many carried lighted torches and candles and banners bearing the slogans "Peace on Earth" and "Peace in Viet Nam."

CURTAIN CALL

After tonight's performance, "Everybody Loves Opal" takes a three-day recess until Thursday. It then resumes for three more evening performances at 8:15 concluding with a 2:30 matinee next Sunday. To make reservations for any of these, members may call the Strauss Playhouse box office at 323-1235 between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. today or next Wednesday through Saturday and between 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. for the final matinee.

The box office will close Monday and Tuesday except for mail orders which may be addressed to the Little Theatre, Lamy Lane, Monroe. A limited number of memberships are still available for those who have not yet joined or who wish to secure extra memberships in anticipation of "How To Succeed" next February.

CLASSIC CLOWN

On the surface "Everybody Loves Opal" is wildly farcical and may be thoroughly enjoyed on that level alone, yet it has undertones of social satire that make it rise above the merely funny. Opal is a classic clown figure, comic and touching, whose trust in human nature is pitted against an unholy threesome of amoral reprobates. This role gives Marillyn Taylor full scope for her talents and she throws herself completely into the part.

Marsha Mitchell, John Filhiol and Bill Blythe initially regard Opal as no more than a convenience to pursue their own criminal schemes. They start by using her hovel as a hidout from the law which leads them to a zany plot to insure her heavily and then do away with her. A good bit of the comedy revolves about the fact that the two men and the girl are "Losers" even more than Opal and their bungling attempts to dispatch her all boomerang.

Our audiences are delighted by the gradual transition of each of the threesome from a state of menace and contempt toward Opal into one of protection and admiration. Even the apparently meaningless refrain "dum de dum dum, driftwood" falls into place as a clue to the reformation of the once hard-boiled characters.

GOOD EXAMPLE

The insurance doctor, played by Jack Easterling, offers a good example of playwright John Patrick's craftsmanship. In a nicely underplayed scene, the doctor suddenly finds himself answering Opal's questions about his health instead of vice versa and responds to her ministrations for his stiff neck. In the role of the policeman, Curtis Rape also contributes to the unraveling of the ridiculous affair.

Sunday is usually a good day to get last minute seats for a Strauss Playhouse production, so we suggest a spur - of - the - moment decision to call the box office after 2 p.m. to see about making a reservation for "Opal" if you want an entertaining couple of hours.

Try-outs for the Christmas show for children, "Niccolo and Nicollette," drew an array of talented young men and women whose readings demonstrated that we will have a play to appeal to a broad age range. The "Winnie-The-Pooh" crowd will enjoy it immensely, but so will those who got more out of "Greensleeves' Magic" and "The Sandalwood Box." Director Murray Burfford expects to have the cast selected and in rehearsal very shortly.

STUNNING IMPACT

The college production of "The Crucible" was certainly an outstanding event of this or any other theatre season. Ably directed by George Brian and presented by an excellent cast, it came across the footlights with stunning impact on the overflow crowds that packed Biedenharn auditorium for all three performances.

Vice president Frances McHenry and Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn were deprived of one Broadway show by the electrical blackout in New York, but saw "On A Clear Day You Can See Forever," "The Royal Hunt Of The Sun," "The Odd Couple," "Half A Sixpence," "Fiddler On The Roof," "Generation," and "The Right Honorable Gentleman." They also talked with Slade Brown, Ivan Uttal and Pat Clark.

New additions to wardrobe have been gratefully received from Joy Marshall and Gladney Peyton. We also want to thank Star Hardware for the stove and Southern Hardware for the yellow slicker and hat.

A new Little Theatre in Crossett started its career last week with a three-night run of "Mister Roberts." Frances McHenry and Judy and Bob Evans were on hand for the opening performance by the Crossett Players. President of the new group is Bill McConkey, who also played Ensign Pulver.

Progress Alliance Is OAS Feat

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Major accomplishment of the Inter-American Conference of Foreign Ministers will be to bring the alliance for progress closer to the people of Latin America, a ranking U.S. official said Saturday.

"The alliance for progress, as seen now in Latin America, has very little appeal," the official said of the four-year-old development program.

"But what has been undertaken and done here will give the people a greater feeling of mutual cooperation, of identity with the alliance as well as with the Organization of American States," said the source.

The key recommendations ready to emerge from the conference are an extension of the Alliance for Progress beyond its anticipated 1971 cutoff date and incorporation of the alliance more closely under the administration of the 20-nation Organization of American States (OAS).

The economic and cultural council of the OAS will be strengthened accordingly to handle its new responsibility. It will administer the program along with the alliences regular guiding committee, known as CIAP.

The draft recommendations of the conference also call for more self-help and mutual cooperation on the part of the Latin American nations in achieving the alliance's economic and social goals.

Officials pointed out that the United States is not relinquishing any of its say in how the alliance is to be directed.

The United States had said before the conference that it was willing to consider some preferential trade treatment of basic Latin American products, which also is recommended in the various working drafts of proposals.

All decisions taken by the conference here will be merely in the form of recommendations when they are given final approval by the formal conference delegations Tuesday.

These recommendations will be then submitted to a special committee and prepared for submission to another inter-American conference to be called next July in either Buenos Aires or Lima.

The July conference will have the power of final enactment of the recommendations as amendments to the 17-year-old OAS charter or as hemispheric acts.

Lights Go Out Again After 10 Hours In Cold

IRON RIVER, Wis. (AP) — The lights went on again at 9 a.m. Saturday after this northern Wisconsin village had gone without electric power for 10 hours in subfreezing temperatures.

"For a while we were a little New York," said Mrs. Dale McClarnon, whose husband operates a grocery store. "The wind was blowing and there was snow all over the place."

Charged In Bombing

SALEM, Ind. (UPI) —Police arrested two teen-age boys on arson charges Saturday in the "Molotov cocktail" bombings of a John Birch Society executive's home and a country church.

Police Chief Donn Gould said a 17-year-old boy and an 18-year-old were held in jail on bonds totaling $3,000 each in connection with the bombing of the Blue River Baptist Church and the home of C.R. Heinrich Firday. He declined to identify them.

86 TREE studded acres, with 6 acre stocked lake, 8 miles from city limits West Monroe, Arkansas Road. Beautiful rolling hills with bubbling spring. It's high and dry, you can drive your car over the grassy hills and down the picturesque slopes. These trees are just gorgeous, and at this time a riot of color! It has a huge crop of 3 and 6 ft. pine trees now growing in the clear undergrowth. Owner will sell all or part. Small down payment, balance financed any way you prefer. It's reasonable and desirable. Call us for appointment to see. (A-5-706-WM)

by MILTON CANIFF

WHAT'S THE BIG FLAP?

IT WAS GONE!

ISN'T THAT AN EXPENSIVE INSTRUMENT TO LEAVE IN A LOCKER OVER A WEEK END?

SHE WENT STRAIGHT TO THE BUS TO TRAVEL TO MAUMEE U. AFTER HER LAST CLASS ON FRIDAY...

SO SHE LEFT IT HERE... TOO BAD!

TOUGH ON TIPPIE! THOSE PORTABLE MACHINES COST PLENTY!

WOW- JINGLE, WE SHOULDN'T HAVE GABBED SO LONG OVER COFFEE! SEE YOU AT LUNCH!

WHAT'S THIS?

IT'S TIPPIE'S PORTABLE COMPUTER

AND IN MRS. HONDO'S LOCKER!

AND THE LEGAL-SHEAGLE JUST HAPPENS TO DROP BY AT THIS VERY MOMENT!

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:
When I need a trellis for one of my plants, I cut a small branch from a bush or tree and strip off the leaves.

I then set the branch in the dish or planter and arrange the vine.

This makes an excellent trellis which is almost invisible and blends in with the plant.

Helcia

* * *

To make the trellis even more attractive, why not

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I turn suggestions from your column into unique gifts when I want something that's really different.

First, I clip the hint and paste it inside a humorous greeting card. Then I giftwrap whatever the hint requires . . . such as nylon net, a bag of marbles for those flapping nylon hose, a recipe for finger paint with all the makings, etc.

Once you get started, you will be surprised how many ways you can find to come up with surprise gifts that will delight your friends.

Just be sure you send the clipping along with the gift!

Eula McCoy

DEAR HELOISE:
To keep the inside of my handbag clean, I place all my cosmetics in a small, clear plastic bag. Other small articles, which might soil the lining of a purse, are in a separate bag. One can see through these bags.

Makes changing purses a cinch, too.

Ethel L.

IT'S ON THE CUFF

DEAR HELOISE:
After finding it difficult to buy knitted cuffs to repair jacket sleeves, I came to the conclusion that the cuffs from men's cotton work gloves would do the trick.

Just remove the cuffs from the gloves and sew them on the jacket. They work just fine and are less than fifty cents a pair; the ribbing is extra heavy and comes in dark colors!

Anetta Peak

DEAR HELOISE:
When you're arranging cut flowers and want to straighten and strengthen broken, crooked or weak stems, just slip each stem into a drinking straw. Green cellophane straws are pretty and blend with the arrangement.

Carol Garbutt

[redacted]

DEAR HELOISE:
I have found when the "scratch strip" breaks or wears through on your kitchen match box that you can glue an emery board or a strip of sandpaper on the box, and it will again be easy to light the matches.

M. E. K.

DEAR HELOISE:
After cooking with aluminum foil . . . be SURE to wet the hot foil with water before disposing of it. It might be so hot that it will set a wastebasket on fire . . . especially if it is put in a plastic wastebasket or if paper is in the basket.

Best to make sure that all hot foil is cooled with water before throwing it away. . . .

Kenny Hancock

If you have a hint, problem or suggestion you'd like to share . . . write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. 11-28

DEAR HELOISE:
Attached to the inside of the cupboard door under my kitchen sink, I have a pegboard, cut to size, with the appropriate hooks for a small hammer, screwdriver, scissors, roll tape, twine, pliers and a small cup for thumbtacks and small screws.

I find this board most valuable because I always know where the things are and they take up no drawer space.

There is also room for other items I may find necessary to keep handy in the kitchen.

Louise Gohr

DEAR HELOISE:
For draft-free circulation from an open window, I nailed four slats from an old Venetian blind to a couple of small boards and placed this rack across the window sill. I nailed them slanted so the draft would go up.

Marian Shafer

DEAR HELOISE:
I never have to scour the tile around my bathtub.

My secret? I installed an extra towel bar over my tub and keep an old towel on it.

Since my husband is the shower-taker in our family, it took a little doing to get him in the habit of drying the walls as well as himself, after every shower.

If you have trouble convincing the head of the house, ask him to scour the tile one time . . .

Ex-Scourer

DEAR HELOISE:
My children were given so many stuffed animals when they were babies. Replacing them on beds and dressers each day is time consuming.

I finally put a ribbon around the neck of each soft toy and hung them on hooks on the walls.

They were more decorative in the nursery than pictures and were easy to take down when a child wanted a teddy bear, etc., to cuddle.

Betty Dose

DEAR HELOISE:
I know that many people use an old toothbrush for cleaning around the water faucets and corners of the tub—and I do, too. But do you know where I keep the toothbrush in between cleaning jobs? Attached to the cleanser can by a rubber band!

This way it is always handy when I need it.
